Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and preserving the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world with all confidence. Every man of any character would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have the right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year; all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme published every ticket must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes varying from $5 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Savannah Republican, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to SWAN & CO., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18ly

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland and Consolidated Lotteries, of which E. FRANCK & CO are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner appointed by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day in the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets sent unless the money sent is received for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers:—Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,
SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as well as an open wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and is none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

Any amount of Heat required,

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of other coal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE KEPT ALIVE THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,

(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

No. 76 State st. oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none BUT THE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of Reference, Models of Works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUNDBURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of the business of Patent Solicitor He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, at Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method in Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and musical. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. The connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are cordially invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallet & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited on the part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instrument before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the Manufactory, will be filled with care, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

TWO WAYS TO SAVE MONEY.
A LIFE SKETCH.
BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

The following sketch of real life so plainly exhibits a lesson which might be profitably followed by many of our people, that we give it to the reader simply as it occurred, only concealing the real names of the parties concerned. And as the story bears its own moral, we will not tire you with any reflections.

John Poland and Anson Lyman bought farms adjoining each other. The land had formerly been owned by one man, who had carried on the whole, employing a heavy force in the work. When the two friends bought the land, it was as equally divided as possible; and after the line of separation had been run, those who had worked much on the land declared that they would not give the 'toss of a copper' for a choice between the two farms. The old buildings were almost useless, so new ones were erected, and at the same time both men commenced farming in earnest. They were poor, having paid their last pennies for the farms, and being obliged to run some in debt to get stock and tools.

In all respects they commenced evenly. They were both married, and while Poland had one son and two daughters, Lyman had one daughter and two sons.

'Look ye,' said Lyman, as the two sat together after their farming operations had commenced, 'I have set my mark to aim at, I'm determined, if I have my health, to lay up a thousand dollars, clear of everything in five years.'

'That is rather a short time for such a purpose,' returned Poland.

'Not a bit,' cried the other enthusiastically, 'I'm not going to wear my back-bone away for nothing. I'm going to lay up money.'

'So I hope to do,' said Poland, 'but money isn,t the first consideration.'

'What's the reason it isn't?' asked Lyman,'if you can have money, you can have everything. Money is the key that unlocks all doors—the card that admits you to all. O! give me a thousand dollars, and I will be content.'

'So I must have a thousand dollars,' remarked Poland; and then the conversation took another turn.

One day a man came along who had some splendid young cattle. They were of a pure English breed, or rather a cross between two of the best breeds every imported, and came very high. Poland saw him passing and hailed him. Our friend was anxious to grow a fine stock, and he knew that he must commence in the right way.

The owner of the stock said he was willing to sell, but he must have his price. He had a fine young pair, male and female, two years old, which he would sell for two hundred dollars. Poland offered his note on six months, together with a bill of sale of the cattle as security. The owner was satisfied, and the bargain was made. The animals were brought home, and Poland was not disappointed in his purchase.

'Phew,' broke from Lyman's lips, as he heard the price his neighbor had paid for the new stock.

'Two hundred dollars for a bull and heifer! Why—what on earth could you have been thinking of, Poland? Why—I wouldn't have given seventy-five dollars for 'em no how. My cows will give as much milk, and make as much butter and cheese. I tell you plainly you'll never see that thousand dollars if you launch out in that way.'

'But, my dear sir, I am determined to have the best stock I can get,' returned Poland earnestly; 'for those famers who have the most money have made it from stock. I assure you, it is one of the greatest failings our farmers have, that they are content with small, poor cattle, when, by a little trouble and expense, they could have much better.'

'My stock answers my purpose at any rate,' resumed Lyman. 'I can't afford to pay two hundred dollars for a pair of two-year olds, and one of them a heifer at that, when for fifty dollars I can buy one of the best cows in the country.'

'You have a right to your opinions.'

'Aye—and I'll have my thousand dollars too,' laughed Lyman, as he turned away.

It was only a week after this that the canvasser for an agricultural newspaper stopped at Lyman's house; but the host could not afford to take it.

'Hadn't you better?' ventured his wife.

'No. We take the Village Pickings, published right in our town, and that's enough. You know what I told you, Dolly—I must have that thousand dollars!'

'Then you won't take it?' said the agent.

'No, sir. Can't afford it. But there's my neighbor Poland—he'll take anything that anybody offers him.'

'I've called on him, sir, and he told me I'd better stop here. He said you were taking no agricultural paper.'

'And did he subscribe?'

'Yes—and paid me the money.'

'I tell ye, Dolly, Poland's thousand dollars will come out minus—now you mark my words.'

Dolly Lyman said nothing, for she was troubled at that moment by the thought that her husband was exercising a spirit of penuriousness which looked mean; but she did not say so.

'Hallo! what are ye doing?' cried Lyman, as he saw Poland commencing to run a fence across his field.

'I'm going to throw out just half of this field into pasturing,' returned Poland.

'What!' exclaimed Lyman, hardly able to believe what he had heard. 'Throw out half of your field? Why—that won't leave you with more than twenty acres to till.'

'I know it—and that's all I want. I am determined not to waste my time and energies in swinging a scythe over forty acres of land after five and twenty tons of hay, when I can get forty tons from twenty acres.'

'Crazy as a March hare,' muttered Lyman, as he turned away.

Ere long Lyman was met by another surprise. He was at the hotel in the village one day, and there learned that his neighbor Poland had engaged all their manure for four years; and that he was to pay for it in wood and butter and cheese, and such other articles of produce as might be wanted.

'Dolly, what do you suppose Poland has been and done now?'

'I don't know, I'm sure,' returned the wife, looking up.

'Well, I'll tell you. He's been and engaged all the manure made at the tavern stables for the next four years, and he's going to haul wood, and let his butter and cheese go to pay for it!'

On the same day he saw Poland and asked him what he meant. 'I mean to bring my farm up,' returned the latter.

'But I get manure enough for two acres of corn, every year, and that's enough,' said Lyman.

'For you it may be, but I wish to manure more. Our land was well run out when we took it, and in order to get it up to its fullest capacity we must be prodigal of rich dressing.'

'Well,' said Lyman, with a sort of pitying expression—'go ahead; but if you ever see your money let me know.'

'I'll give you a good account, never fear,' replied Poland, laughing. 'I must feed my land, if I would have it feed me. We haven't got land here like those rich alluvial bottoms in the West. My land needs nursing now.'

But Anson Lyman couldn't see the use of wasting money in that way. He thought the man who would first cut his tillage land down one-half, and then go off and buy such a quantity of manure, must be little better than foolish. He wasn't such a fool, at all events.

During the following winter, while Lyman was cutting and hauling wood to the village for two dollars and a half per cord, 'poor Poland was hauling his to that tavern to pay for manure which he had not got yet.

ONLY A TRIFLE.—The N. H. Gazette of the 19th says, "It is too early to predict the consequences of the trifling disagreement between the President and Senator Douglas, upon the question of submitting the Kansas Constitution to the people."—Well, says Uncle Toby, we should say there was a trifle of difference between Buchanan and Douglas, not to mention Walker or Stanton—but as to the consequences, we can wait and see. They will soon be along.

Speaking of Stanton's removal, the same Gazette says:—

The boldness and decision of this movement shows that Mr. Buchanan is master of his position, and that the course of action he has adopted in reference to the affairs of Kansas, after great deliberation, and in the light of his large experience, statesmanship and sound judgment, will be adhered to at all hazards. * * *

We believe that a careful consideration of these questions will lead to a general conviction in the minds of the Democracy, that the President is right in his whole treatment of the Kansas difficulty.

If he is right, then Douglas, Stanton, and Walker are wrong, which is the trifling difference above referred to.

FROM EUROPE.—We have news seven days later from Europe, by the steamship Canada arrived at Halifax, after a passage of twelve and a half days from Liverpool. The British Parliament was opened on the 3d instant by the Queen in person. Lord John Russell gave notice of intention to take up on the 10th, the subject of Jewish Disabilities. Lord Palmerston proposes to ask the House to make provision for General Havelock. The Chancellor of the Exchequer introduced a Bill to indemnify the Bank of England for the recent over issue. The launching of the Great Eastern steamship was slowly progressing. She had at last accounts five feet of water under her. Another accident had happened in connection with the launch, by which several persons were injured. A number of failures had occurred in London and on the continent. In Copenhagen, much alarm was felt in anticipation of a severe pressure.

Breadstuffs and Cotton dull, but no much change in price.

CONGRESS, Friday, Dec. 19.—The session of the Senate was mainly occupied with discussion on the Treasury Note bill of Mr Hunter. Mr. Douglas introduced a bill to authorise the people of Kansas to form a Constitution and State Government for themselves. In the House, the Treasury Bill was also debated upon, and Mr. Bank introduced a bill similar to that of Mr Douglas in the Senate.

Rev. Dr. Bushnell, of Hartford, Conn., has been officiating lately in the Chapel of Harvard College, in exchange of pulpits with Prof. Huntington. This movement is somewhat novel, and may tend to modify the position of both these clergymen in the estimation of each other's hearers and neighbors.—Exchange.

"THE PHILOSOPHY OF SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS."—No. 2.—Messrs. Editors:—The strength of Spiritualism lies in the erroneous assumptions of its antagonists. Prof. Felton and his friends, in decaying the spontaneity and truthfulness of the manifestations, deprive the masses of the only stand-point left them. Between scepticism and credulity, the unthinking crowd are not inclined to remain in abeyance. Hence the numerous additions to the ranks of the new philosophy.

It seems to us that in the pursuance of such a course, the Professor and his compeers have greatly erred. Mesmerism necessitated no belief in the intervention of spiritual influences. The wiseacres of many a college exposed the jugglery of some of the professed disciples of Mesmer, and branded all believers in the science of psychology, as charlatans. To him who has honestly examined them, the exhibitions called spiritual can never seem deceptions. "E pur si muove." The tables do move.

But, though no deception is practical, it does not naturally follow that a belief in the miraculous aid of spirits is essential for the enigma's solvent. We do not hear that the spirits of whom mention is made in the Bible, ever sent poor sublunary mortals to the insane hospitals. The raps of the strange angels at Lot's door did not, we imagine, throw the inhabitants into an abnormal state of excitement. "The philosophy of spiritual manifestations" will, in future time, meet with a far different explication than Mr. Fitz, quondam gleebook manufacturer, vouchsafed to give.

But granting that shadowy grandmothers rap loudly with their equally immaterialized snuff-boxes upon spiritual tables. What advantage results. The disadvantage is only too clear. Had Bunyan's Christian thought that by passing the river of death he would become the veriest fool, with ideas unconnected, with philosophical theories divided against themselves; writing at one time poetical nonsense, and at another prosy dullness; now chained to the table of some mundane medium, again exposing the mysteries of an unknown world through the mouth of a feminine lecturer,—he would, we venture to say, have repented of his journey.

And what is this new science that is offered so flauntingly, with all the jargon of novelty and the prestige of success? Philosophy after philosophy, Titanic fabrics of the noblest minds, have come and gone like the summer's rain; leaving what of virtue was in them, to fertilize the soil of man.—But this is from heaven, its words authority, its doctrines infallible.

Let us for a moment study it: Herschell offers the nebular hypothesis; the tables offer that of a fragmentary run. Owen ingeniously maintains that man is a scroll-work of advanced development; the shades inculcate a vegetable origin. Morton and Agassiz shook to its foundation the doctrine of unity in human origin; the spirits, through Mr. Fitz, tell us of ten different sources; and, oblivious of the Roman and Grecian genius,—offspring of the Indo-Germanic race,—declare that the Caucasian is by order of birth and in point of fact, master of all! Locke argued a sensuous philosophy; the spirits that the senses are the soul! In truth the spirits are both conservative and eclectic.

And what are the redeeming qualities of Spiritualism? Originality, at least, is not one of them. Swedenborg, long since, in words nobler and loftier, suggested the beautiful theory of ministering angels—of an intermediate world. The Shasters of the Brahmin and more recently the German mystics, have offered with persuasive eloquence the doctrine of an all pervading deity—a belief clearer if not more elevated than the obscure and perplexing philosophy of a spiritual and dual nature in material objects.

But the height of absurdity has not yet been reached; the spiritualist bows before idols he wots not of! This confession, wrung from the organs of the creed as the only remaining argument, evinces the depth to which man can be led by the infatuation of credulity. J. K.

Portsmouth, Dec. 18.

☞ The British government is shipping Irish girls to the Cape of Good Hope as a means of preventing its own colonists from relapsing into barbarism. A party of 350 has already sailed, and another company of 250 is soon to be forwarded—all described as healthy and good looking.—They go with the understanding that matrimony is to reward their expatriation.

THE UTAH ARMY.—St. Louis, Dec. 18. The Leavenworth Herald of the 10th inst., speaking of the express messenger from Utah, says that he passed Col. Johnston's command, near Fort Bridger, and that the baggage and provision trains were all safe. The troops were in good spirits. This was the only news that had transpired relative to the Utah expedition.

BURNT TO DEATH.—The Concord Congregational Journal, mentions the death of Miss Helen Kittredge, of Nelson, a young woman of beauty, accomplishments, and uncommon vigor. "She had, moreover, a fine musical taste, and a voice of corresponding excellence, so that her commanding position in the choir could not be vacated, without being immediately noticed. On Sabbath day, Oct. 4, she was in usual health, and occupied her usual place in the choir: and until Tuesday afternoon, (the 6th,) nothing occurred to interrupt her attention to the common duties of life; although the typhoid fever having been in the family, some symptoms were discovered in her, which gave rise to the apprehension that she might be taken down with that grave disease. Some one proposed as a remedy, what is familiarly termed a "rum sweat." This her anxious and affectionate mother attempted to administer. After being for a moment surrounded by the ascending hot air, she gave signs of suffering; she called to her brother who stood near for aid, upon whose arm her head fell in a manner indicating that her life was departing. She was placed upon the bed, and a gasp, and an exclamation of agony, from the almost frantic mother followed. Her idolized child—her beautiful Helen,—was dead! Alcohol had been used, and too much of it; the nervous system of the sufferer, seems to have been completely overpowered, and her whole body was dreadfully burned.

Thus the poor girl fell a victim to a supposed remedy, at once silly, expensive, and dangerous. Any other sweat, from water, clothing, or fire heat, would be as efficacious, besides being safe and costing nothing."

Dear Chronicle:—We cut the following from the New York Dispatch, and for the benefit of the ladies and those that are crying up such "hard times," please insert in the Chronicle and let have justice.

SOME OF YOUR LADY FRIENDS.

The Fashions for December are out, and everybody is wearing them. The ladies never before looked more gay and happy, in spite of the croakings and tremblings of certain stock inflators. If we do not altogether admire the style of the present fashion, if we persist in thinking the bonnets too infinitesimally small and the skirts too expansive by two-thirds, still we admire the ladies' pluck and grit in holding their own opinion and sticking to it in spite of the opposition of panic makers. They therefore dress and shop with unabated ardor, and thus laugh to scorn those who so insultingly declare that the sole cause of the great commercial crisis lies in a few yards of silk more or less; as though the almost general insolvency of a great nation, involving stupendous international commercial difficulties, suspensions of Banks, breakage of railroads, &c., could have been brought about by an extra spread of crinoline and the pretty gew-gaws with which our belles adorn themselves.

The idea is ludicrous certainly, and worthy the stupendous brains that conceived it. The shops by a master stroke of policy have contrived to do a big business, despite the monied depression. They have been more crowded than ever through it all, for no lady could resist the beautiful dresses and rich furs, and "loves of bonnets," and real French embroideries, &c., when they have been offered at such ruinous "sacrifices." No lack of money has been experienced in the pursuit of such tremendous bargains, from which we might be led to suppose the great panic was gotten up solely by certain speculators for certain individual profits, who instead of genially warming their fingers by the blaze they had kindled, found to their surprise the flames burst beyond their own control, and beheld their own household gods the first to suffer in the conflagration.

And then, to save their own credit, they fell to work abusing the ladies and their dress. The ladies, we are happy to see, have acted consistently through it all, and have shone on amid darkness and clouds; and under full press of crinoline, have fairly weathered the storm, conclusively proving that whatever has caused the crash it was not the ladies' hoops.

THE BURNING OF IRNANISTAN.—Iranistan, the residence of Barnum at Bridgeport, which was burnt on Thursday night, originally cost upwards of $100,000, upon which there was usually insurance to the amount of $60,000. It was now only partially insured to secure holders of mortgages upon the property. The entire furniture cost $19,000, and has usually been insured for $10,000. It was removed to New York two years ago, and about one-third of it has been returned to Iranistan within a month. It was insured for only $1000. Mr. Barnum was in possession of the premises at the time of the fire. The fire broke out just before midnight, and is believed to have been set. The whole building was burned up.

☞ The meeting of the Democracy of New York, got up by Mayor Wood, for the purpose of endorsing President Buchanan's endorsement of the Lecompton constitution, seems to have been a miserable failure. The New York Times says it was "small in numbers, exceedly feeble in oratory, weak in enthusiasm, and strong only in its brass band."

MR. DOUGLAS'S KANSAS BILL.—Washington, Dec. 18.—The bill introduced into the Senate to-day by Mr. Douglas provides for a board of five persons, to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, to make an enumeration of the inhabitants of Kansas and a fair apportionment of members to the Convention. It also provides for an election, to be held on a day designated by the board, not less than 90 or more than 120 days from the passage of the act. Also provides that the board shall be intrusted with the appointment of judges and places of voting, which is to be confined to every free white male citizen of the United States over 20 years, who may be a bona fide inhabitant of the Territory on the 21st of December, and who shall have resided three months prior to the said election in the county in which he offers to vote. Also provides that the Convention shall assemble not less than 30 or more than 60 days after the election of delegates. Also provides that the Constitution shall be submitted to the legal voters for their free acceptance or rejection, and unless adopted by the majority of all the legal votes cast, shall be null and void. The bill secures the personal and political rights of the people, including those of speech and the press.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into patents and Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given show that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in the capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUNDBURKE,
Late Commissione of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

☞ The gang of hands employed on the new Custom House here, have a "strike" as often as once a week. After doing work work "for Mr. Merrill," the ostensible contractor, to the amount of about $1300, for which they received little or no pay; upon resuming work "for Mr. Brooks," a bondsman, under the direction of Mr. Strong, they were promised their pay every Saturday night. Having begun in the middle of a week, they did not complain so strongly as they otherwise probably would, that they were put off till another Saturday night, for their pay; and on the second Saturday night, the 12th, they were quieted by being each paid a portion of what was due. But tired of that sort of business, and seeing nothing satisfactory ahead, at noon on Saturday last, the 19th, nearly all hands quit work—and we should hope that neither they nor others would perform more labor on the works, till their pay is really guarantsed. It is mean enough for Uncle Sam to build by contract;—any how; and if he will do that, he ought to do it "on the square."

It is stated, however, that the other bondsman from Washington is to be here by Tuesday, and will straighten out all the kinks—which we hope is true.

☞ Many panes of glass have been shattered in State street, by the shocks of blasting rocks in the Custom House Drain. Mr. J. H. Thacher presented a bill to Mr. Strong, for windows broken in his store; but Mr. S, declined paying it, as the damage occurred while Mr. Merrill had the control of the work. The Board of Aldermen also declined paying the bill. A statement was made to the Board, however, on Thursday evening, from Mr. Strong—that he had engaged a glazier to go through State street, and mend all the glass broken by the blasting.

"ALL PROMENADE!"—The Portsmouth Cornet Band, several weeks ago, announced a series of six Promenade Concerts, one to be given each week—being gotten up by some of their friends, to aid in procuring a new Uniform for "our Band." Well, five of these Concerts have passed off well—the two last, especially, being well attended, the weather having been favorable. The sixth and last of the series, is to be given to-night; and old Jefferson Hall will be full, no doubt.

☞ It will be seen by his advertisement, that Mr. Hahn is selling out his goods at very low rates, to close off his stock by New Year. He is then to move across the street to the fine store recently vacated by Albert Laighton. Mr. Hahn is a gentleman,—one of the most American-like foreigners we ever met—and has the reputation of being a fair trader. It is enough to wish him the success a man deserves, who is worthy to take the place of so "glorious a good fellow" as him whom he is to succeed.

☞ A correspondent of the Amesbury Villager says "The store of J. & P. M. Langton, at Kittery, Me., was entered on Saturday night last, through a window in the front of the building, and robbed of goods to the amount of $50. One of the burglars must have cut himself, as blood was found on the glass and about the store. Sheriff Neally of South Berwick, arrested a man supposed to be one of the robbers."

Also, that "A few days previous a man named Thompson drew $200 from one of the Portsmouth banks, and started for his home in Eliot, Me. At an angle of the road he was met by two men, who seized his horse by the head and demanded his money. Thompson promptly drew a revolver, when the villains fled."

S. D. & H. W. Smith,
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
No. 511 Washington St., Boston,
The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.
By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.
THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.
THE ORGAN MELODEON
Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.
Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings
511 Washington Street,
We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.
Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at wholesale prices.
As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following
Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,
who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:
Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.,
MELODEONS RENTED.
Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instrument before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.
Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a remedy for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: MASKED INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by its application, as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely to be adhered to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.
PRIME COST, $1, 50 per drachm—PRICE $2 per drachm.
A few boxes of this popular and extraordinary medicine for sale by J. H. THACHER,

Cold Winter is Coming on.
AND with it will return the usual concomitants, Coughs, Colds, Dyspepsia, Scorbutic Eruptions, Sick Headache, Rheumatism, Tetter, Ring Worm, &c., which the genial warmth of summer and free perspiration has, for a time relieved, but which the return of rigid, cheerless winter, will bring back, unless resisted by some medicament.
MYER'S EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE, is peculiarly applicable, and if freely used will not fail to protect the constitution against the sudden and extreme changes of our variable climate. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and invigorates the whole system, thus fortifying against the insidious attacks of autumnal frosts and debilitating heats. See Circulars.
For sale by George E. Lawrence, Epping, N. H., at wholesale and retail, and dealers in Medicine generally, where pamphlets, &c., may be had gratis. nov26 3w tsurl

LOTTERIES.

THE Lottery of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the order they come to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $20; halves, $10; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to puzzle the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $30,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing published for all purchasers.

☞A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. Tyson & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. The drawings are every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The price of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

THE GREAT BEAUTIFIER

So long unsuccessfully sought,
FOUND AT LAST.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY GRAY HAIR to its original color; covers luxuriantly the bald head; removes all dandruff, itching, and all scrofula, scald head and all eruptions;—makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy, and will preserve it to any imaginable age; removes, as if by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache See circular and the following.

Dover, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $2 size; yours very resp'ly,

DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

Pane, Missouri, Sept. 20, 1856. Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a few bottles completely removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

George W. Higginbotham,
Sarah A. Higginbotham.

Gardiner, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully.

GEORGIA LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Anderson & Son, are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed by the State, to superintend the drawings and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they were present at the drawings. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn at Savannah, Ga., about the 15th of every month, and another is drawn at Macon, Ga., every Saturday throughout the year. If no particular class is named, orders are filled by the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The price of tickets vary from $1 to $10. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as unlike the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be obtained from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to relenish without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed, without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are past and gone, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BEIT KNOWN THEREFORE, that whether male or female, or women, that Dr. Cheeseman's FEMALE PILLS are alone the certain pancee for the the troubles incident to female disorganization; they alone correct all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the married female, they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mercury, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. Inasmuch, as it is known, that scarcely but the said PILLS of Dr. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when disappointment has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered as all wants, notices of articles lost, &c.,—to be charged extra.

THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW ABROAD. L'Opinione, a leading Piedmontese journal published at Turin, under date of Nov. 19, speaks of our favorite Boston quarterly as "one of the most important publications issued in the United States," and expresses great satisfaction at the interest manifested, and the knowledge of facts as well as the utterance of sympathy, in regard to the subalpine kingdom, in the last number of the Review. "We are now convinced," the editor of the Opinione goes on to remark, "that the American contribution towards the cannon to fortify Allessandria, was not a limited and special indication of sympathy in Sardinian reforms, but an expression of the high opinion entertained by the citizens of a great and free country, of the part Piedmont is sustaining in European politics, and of the destiny for which our state is reserved." A translation is then given, in this and the succeeding number, of the greater portion of the article on "Sardinia," which appeared in the North American Review for October last.

RAILROAD PASSES TO EDITORS.—Judge Jewett, at a late Railroad Convention—when on the question of "cutting off free passes to editors"—said that "this was rather a small matter for the Convention to spend much time upon. The real evils under which the railway system of the country was staggering, lay deeper than the reach of any question of free passes to editors. But he would say that the railroads of the country could not repay, if they were disposed, the debt due to the newspaper press for its powerful aid when the idea of a railway had to be explained and popularized—the public benefits shown, and people induced to come forward and associate for the purpose of accomplishing the great works that now need no advocate.—For his part, he was glad to have editors of the State pass over and examine his line. He regretted to say that he did not remember to have met one of the local editors on the line of road for months.—He could not forget the amount of unpaid labor performed in the infancy of railway building, by the only men who could reach the popular heart in the most effective manner."

HOW TO LAUNCH THE GREAT EASTERN.—Lloyd's London News suggests the following manner by which the Great Eastern may be launched:—

The Leviathan is in a great fix. Like a naughty child, it can't be got out of its cradle. The difficulty is how to extricate it. The suggestion has been made to us by a facetious friend, that Mr. Spurgeon should be engaged to preach to it, as he has had greater practice than anybody of the present day in "moving great masses."

☞ Mr. Douglass says that the Kansas controversy should be terminated. He asks, "But how are we do it?"—and answers—

It must be done upon the principles of eternal justice and truth, or it will not stay closed. Congress must terminate it upon the principles of self-government, or they will not have a republican form of government. No system of patching-up and trickery will settle this question. Instead of having peace, it would be only the beginning of new controversy, and it would be necessary to increase the army, and use the military power, if the majority were to be subjected to the oppression of the minority.

PERSONAL.—Ex-Governor Slade of Ohio, now of Illinois, has been indicted by the Grand Jury of his county for manslaughter, in shooting dead, last summer, one of a party of ruffians who indulged in a charivari before his residence on the occasion of his son's marriage.

Three things to be despised:—A brawler in a workshop, a fool in fine clothes, and a slanderer everywhere.

A man without desire and without want is without invention and without reason.

TWO WAYS TO SAVE MONEY.

A LIFE SKETCH.

BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Concluded from yesterday.

It was on the first day of April that Poland came to see his neighbor. He wanted to borrow a hundred dollars for six months or for a year if he could.

'What are ye going to do with it?' asked Lyman.

'I want to make some improvements in my barn cellar, and also to enlarge the building by putting on a tie-up, thus throwing the cattle out of my main barn.'

'I declare, Poland, it's too bad,' said Lyman, pityingly. Here I've laid up over two hundred dollars clear cash, and you are worse off than nothing—in debt. By the jingo, John, I don't want to see you fooling away your money so. Your barn is large enough—as large as mine is, with double your land to empty into it. If I lend you an hundred dollars, what assurance have I that I shall ever see it? I'd rather let it go where I know it is safe. I shouldn't want to sue you, and I might not get it without. Your farm is as good as mine, and you have no more need of borrowing than I have—or, you shouldn't have.'

John Poland didn't say anything about the two animals he had bought a year and a half before, and the calf they had yielded him, for which he had been offered within the week, four hundred dollars. He owned that amount of stock over and above the stock owned by Lyman. He turns the subject of conversation as quickly as possible, for he wanted to hear no more reasons from his friend for not lending him the money.

That afternoon he went over to see the man of whom he bought this new stock, who lent the money he needed, readily.

'What a fool,' said Lyman, as he saw the carpenters at work rearing away the whole side of his barn, preparatory to adding an apartment capable of accommodating forty-five head of cattle. However, Poland worked on, and tried in vain to get his neighbor to listen to some advice.

'Don't talk to me,' said Lyman, at the end of the second year. 'I've got four hundred dollars at interest. How much have you got?'

'A thousand or so,' returned the other.

'Eh? What do you mean?'

'Why, all the money I laid out on this place is on interest.'

'Oho—ah, ha, ha, ha.—and now how much interest have you realized?'

'So far I've let it run at compound interest—put the interest right in with the principal, and there it lies.'

'Yes, and there it will lie. I don't believe you can raise fifty dollars now in cash.'

'You are right, Lyman—I could not raise it without selling something which I do not wish at present to part with.'

'I thought so. But take your own way.'

'Ere long Anson Lyman was astonished to find that his neighbor had subscribed for a third paper, besides buying a lot of books, for his children.

'What's the use?' he said, as he sat in his neighbor's front room, and saw a large pile of books on the shelf. 'I want my children to learn to work—not to be spending their time over books. They get schooling enough when our school is open.'

'So I mean that my children shall learn to work,' returned Poland, 'but that shall not prevent them from becoming well educated. I had rather leave them with good health, good characters, and well educated, than with thousands of dollars each minus the education.'

'Oho, that's the way you mean to lay up a thousand dollars; to have it in books, and papers, and new tie-ups, and such like.'

'We shall see when the time is up.'

'We shall,' returned Lyman, as he turned towards home.

Mr. Lyman had not fully realized how much corn Poland had received from the land he had manured so heavily and so carefully, and on the second year he had only noticed that his neighbor had 'extraordinary good luck' with his wheat, getting about ninety bushels from three acres. But he had occasion to open his eyes on the third year.

One evening just as sundown, he went over into Poland's field, where the grain had been the year before—the first the present owner had plowed up and dressed.

'Been poling some hay on here,' said Lyman, as he saw the huge bundles of hay nearly as thick as they could stand.

'No—this was all cut from these three acres' returned Poland.

Lyman counted the bundles and then estimated their average weight, and upon reckoning up, he found that the land had yielded not far from four tons to the acre! He had just got in the two acres which he had first dressed upon the new farm, and he had obtained short of two tons per acre! He knew that Poland had got ten bushels more of wheat per acre than he had done, and also more corn. He began to think; but yet he would not let his money go for any such 'experiments' upon his place.

The five years came around, and Anson Lyman went on that day and sold fourteen bushels of corn in order to get fourteen dollars to put with nine hundred and eighty-six dollars which he had at home.

'Well, Poland, I've got the price!' said Lyman, entering the farmer's barn in the afternoon. It was early spring, just five years from the day on which they bought. 'I've got the thousand, now what have you got?'

'Well—I have not far from four hundred dollars in money.'

'Ah—I thought so.'

'But, Anson Lyman,' said Poland, almost sternly, 'are your eyes not opened yet?'

'Opened! What do you mean?'

'Well, I mean that my farm to-day, will sell for one thousand dollars more than yours will. Look at my hay-mow. There are nearly twenty tons of hay, you have not ten. And mind you, I have five head of cattle more than you have. Next season I shall cut more hay from twelve acres which I have regenerated, than you will cut from your whole forty acres; and you know my hay is worth far more a ton than yours. I told you I had five head more of cattle than you had. For those five creatures I can within six hours take seven hundred dollars each; but no such money can purchase them of me.—Ah, Lyman you have been saving money, but you have been taking it from your farm without returning anything for it.'

'Never mind—I've got my thousand dollars, and I've got my farm as good as it was the day I bought it.'

'Not quite, Lyman.'

'How so?'

'You've taken off two hundred cords of good wood.'

'Well—so you took off some.'

'Aye—but what I took from my wood lot I put back upon my fields. I did not take it from my farm.'

Mr. Lyman went away with new thoughts.

Time passed on, and at the end of another five years the eyes of Anson Lyman were wholly opened. Poland had now raised quite a stock of cattle from his first purchase, and commenced to sell to the best market. Two hundred dollars was the least any one of them brought when fatted; and one old bullock, twelve years old, brought three hundred and ten dollars. His twenty-acre field was like a garden, yielding, such as was mowed, an average of three tons to the acre. In short, his whole farm was under the best of training and improvement, and now yielded him back a heavy interest upon all that he had expended. During one fall he took over a thousand dollars for the stock and produce; and he was offered five thousand dollars for his place, while Lyman could not have found a purchaser for fifteen hundred.

'Dolly,' said Anson Lyman, sinking into a chair, 'I've been a fool!—a fool!—I say.'

'Why—Anson—what do you mean?'

'Mean? Look at Poland's farm.'

'I've looked at it from the first.'

'You have? And what have you seen?'

'Why, I saw that John Poland was making a comfortable home for himself and family, and increasing the value of his farm ten fold.'

'And why didn't you tell me so?'

'I did tell you so, husband, and you said I was a fool.'

'I remember. Well—never mind. 'Tisn't too late now.'

On the next morning Mr. Lyman went over to his neighbor's and frankly said:

'Mr. Poland, you must help me. I want to learn to be a farmer.'

'I will help you with pleasure, Anson; and you can begin far more easily than I did, for you have money.'

And Mr. Lyman commenced. The thousand dollars was nearly all expended in the work, but in the end he found himself the gainer, and his dollars came back to him with interest twice told. He had learned a lesson which many might follow with profit.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1857.

Gov. Wise of Virginia, in one of his three messages at the opening of the legislature, excuses himself for omitting the customary acknowledgment of the divine goodness, because the State ought not to interfere in religious matters. The Governor says:—"Politics and religion ought not, in any way, to be brought in contact. They pollute and destroy each other. Two of the worst evils of the times are political religion and religious politics. I am not constituted and appointed to handle God's holy things, and I will not dare hypocritically and cantingly to huckster them in the market of popularity among men.

Now, says Uncle Toby, how beautiful this sounds,—let us see if we can't make something sound like it. Two of the worst evils of Virginia are Wise Folly and Foolish Wisdom. O, Solomon! had you lived in our times, wouldn't you have seen something new?

SPECIE PAYMENTS.—The resumption of the payment of specie by the banks (says the Boston Transcript) has not as yet operated to diminish the amount of coin in their vaults; on the contrary, the sum total of specie held by our banking institutions has increased since they commenced the redemption of their bills. On the last day of suspension, the banks had $4,428,-100; now they have $4,670,400—an increase of $240,300. The circulation of the Boston banks is $5,883,618.

It is generally thought that the resumption will be advantageous to the business community, unless the large payments, that always occur in January, and the consequent sum of money to be raised, should cause a contraction of loans by the banks. Such a result is not seriously apprehended, however, and there can be no doubt that our banks will continue to afford all the aid to the merchants they can, consistent with their own safety.

☞ The Washington Star has the following: "The last roorback that has fallen under our notice is one written to the Philadelphia Bulletin from Washington, claiming Senator Johnson, of Tennessee, among the opponents of the acceptance of the Kansas State Constitution. There are but three Senators, in all, heretofore acting with the Democracy, who waver in the least in their allegiance to the policy of the Democratic party on the question of admitting Kansas into the Union with the Lecompton Constitution." The three Senators alluded to are, we presume, Douglas, Stuart and Broderick.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20. (Herald's correspondence.) It is known here that some of the members of the Cabinet do not agree with the President in his determination to stop Walker in his course, and that one of them has written a letter to a friend in the South, in which he intimates that he may be under the necessity of coming out with a letter defining his position on this question, or perhaps even of resigning his seat in the Cabinet. The friends of Walker have carefully canvassed the subject, and say that two members of the Cabinet, and twenty-two of the Southern Senators, are opposed to any interference against him.

This has reference to fillibuster Walker, and if true, shows why the officials at New Orleans and elsewhere, were so blind.

CONGRESS.—In the United States Senate on Saturday, Dec. 19, the bill authorizing the issue of Treasury notes, to the amount of twenty millions of dollars, was passed, after long discussion, with an amendment, limiting its operation until January 1st, 1859, and prohibiting notes of less denomination than $100. Mr. Crittenden offered a series of resolutions in favor of an increase in the rates of duty established by the tariff of last March. In the House, the Treasury Note Bill was the subject of debate, but no action was taken.

☞ Mr. Spurgeon, it seems, has a rival. The Rev. J. M. Bellero, of London, is now attracting large crowds, not only when he lectures at Exeter Hall, but when he preaches, Sunday after Sunday, at St. Phillips, Regent street. A fine figure, large black whiskers, "beautiful" hand, good voice and smart style, have made him extremely popular with the ladies. He has recently came, however, as an insolvent debtor before the county judge, at Canterbury.

DESPERATE RETRENCHMENT.—It is stated by letter-writers from the French capital, that the ladies of the imperial court have been instructed to set an example of economy in dress, or at least that it has been intimated to them that no offence will be given if they should appear twice in the same dresses. This is commencing at the commencement, and the influence of this movement will radiate to the outskirts of Christendom.

CHAISES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A writer in the Exeter News-Letter says, it is believed that the first Chaises were made in Portsmouth by a man of the name of Teasdale, about the year 1770.

In the year 1772, Wm. Patten having served an apprenticeship at Chaise making with Francis Greenleaf at Newburyport,—removed to Kingston and commenced the business in that town. At that time but one carriage on springs was in the town,—it was a kind of chair without any covering; this was owned by Maj. Ebenezer Stevens, one of the notables of the place.

The usual mode of conveyance was then on horseback, and if a young man wished to take his lady love to a party or an excursion, she was seated on a pillion behind him on horseback, which was sometimes called "double jaded." Females] oftentimes performed long journeys on horseback. The mother of the late Hon. Ichabod Bartlett, twice rode on horseback from Salisbury to Kingston, her native town, a distance of fifty miles, with a young child in her arms, of which she was occasionly relieved by her husband, who accompanied her on another horse. The journey was performed in one day.

As but few pleasure carriages were wanted at that time, Mr. P. devoted much of his time to other occupations. About the first four-wheeled carriage of pleasure ever built in the place, was made expressly for the Hon. Matthew Thornton to ride to Philadelphia to attend the Continental Congress. It was said to be a splendid affair for the times. At the same time the Hon. Josiah Bartlett rode to Philadelphia on horseback. The writer has been often interested and amused by the account given of that journey by a person who lived to an advanced age, and who accompanied Dr. Bartlett in the capacity of waiter. He remarked that when they arrived at Philadelphia, members of Congress clubbed together, bought their hay, and hired one man to take care of their horses. At that time the country was poor, and economy was the order of the day.

In passing through Deerfield about ten years ago, the writer saw an old man of 90 years of age seated in his doorway, Col. Thomas Robinson. He remarked that when a young man he went to Kingston, 15 miles, and hired a chaise of Wm. Patten to carry his wife and first child to Concord; and when he arrived at Pembroke, the inhabitants crowded around him, filled with wonder and astonishment, to view the first chaise that had ever been seen in that place. Seventy-five years ago there was not that division of labor in carriage making as at present. Mr. P. used to perform the entire work, except ironing.

A SINGULAR CASE.—The New York press publish some extraordinary developments respecting an alleged murder in Connecticut, the particulars of which were received by telegraph from New Haven. Last winter a boy named Charles E. Sage, about 19 years of age, was missing from his home in Cromwell, near Middletown, Conn. A short time afterwards a headless body was found in the Connecticut river. From several marks upon the clothing encompassing the body, it was believed to be that of the missing lad. Some few months elapsed, when a sailor named Benson came to Cromwell, and charged Patrick Nugent with the murder, and said he saw the deed done, and assisted Patrick in hiding the corpse under a hay-mow. Nugent, when accused of the murder, denied it, but trembled from head to foot. The sailor described the supposed victim so accurately that no doubt was entertained of his identity. Nugent was arrested and a bill found against him by the grand jury. Matters rested thus, until a few weeks since, an anonymous communication was received from the interior of Pennsylvania, by a relative of Sage, which he showed to his father, a Mr. Williams. This was followed by another missive purporting to come from Wm. Russell. Mr. Williams answered the letter and addressed the postmaster, requesting him to watch the person who called for the communication. The postmaster did so, and the result was that Mr. W. went to Pennsylvania, and found Russell, whom he discovered to be his nephew, Charles E. Sage, the identical missing boy. Nugent will be immediately liberated. No one can assign any reason for the perjury of the sailor, who swore that he saw the murder committed, and there is no information to lead to the identity of the body that was found and buried as that of the boy Sage. The annals of crime do not afford a more extraordinary case than this.

☞ The examination of Tuckerman, the mail robber, at New Haven, has been postponed eight or nine times, and will probably be put off till the U. S. Court assembles there, on the last of January.

SPENCER'S UNITED STATES.—We have received Nos. 39 and 40, of this splendid illustrated History—which comes fully up to the high promise of the publishers at the commencement. These last numbers received, contain a fine portrait of President Van Buren; and a spirited illustration of Gen. Putnam's bold escape from his British pursuers at Horse Neck—where he must have perilled his horse's neck as well as his own. The History is herein brought down to 1813—and the author announces that he shall be obliged to issue at least 12 more parts, to complete his work—if more no charge will be made for them. Johnson, Fuy & Co., publishers, 27 Beekman St., New York.

HOMICIDE.—At a dance in a house of ill-fame in London, C. W., on Friday night, the 18th inst., a party of rowdies forced their way into the house, when a butcher named Harding fired several times into the crowd with a revolver, shooting Hugh Wilson, son of John Wilson, mem ber of the Provincial Parliament for that city, and also six other men and a woman.—Wilson has since died of his wounds. The others are supposed to be not dangerously wounded. Harding has not yet been arrested.

☞ The cotton mill in Brunswick, Me., was sold at auction on Tuesday, and the company purchasing intend to set the mill running on or about the first of January. This, says the Telegraph, will be good news to the operatives and to the citizens generally—for when the mill is running and disbursing funds, a sensible effect is produced on the business of the community.

INUNDATION.—The Mobile Register reports the inundation of the Black Warrior River, fifty-five feet (!!) above low water mark. Between 4000 and 5000 bales of cotton had been lost, a large number of cattle were carried away, and much other damaged occasioned.

THE WISCONSIN ELECTION.—The result of the recent State election in Wisconsin is at last determined. The remotest county has been heard from, and the footings of majorities are as follows: For Randall, (Republican) 9261; for Cross, (Democrat) 9106. Randall's majority, 155.

BORROWING.—From a capital article on "Borrowers," in the Gloucester Telegraph, we extract this paragraph:

Many persons have a chronic disposition to borrow; it is fixed and incurable. This class flourishes extensively in the business world. Panics and pressures aggravate the disease. They borrow of Peter to pay Paul, and of somebody else to pay Peter.—It is easier to borrow the immediate sum which they require, than it is to dun a customer; and so, from day to day, the evil increases, and the habit grows. The chronic borrower is an unwelcome visitor anywhere.

☞ The ladies of Berlin, (Kon.) seized the publisher of a free love paper, the Social Revolutionist, as he was carrying his edition, in mail bags, to the post-office; and made a bonfire of the papers. They would have sheared off his long beard and hair, but he left in a hurry.

☞ A correspondent of the New York Spirit of the Times, says, "Gen. M. B. Lamar, of Texas, is transferred from his late appointment to the Argentine Republic, to Costa Rica, for the settlement of our disagreements there. Mrs. L. who accompanied him, is a daughter of the late distinguished John N. Maffitt."

☞ In the Supreme Court at Salem, on Saturday, in the case of the James Mill vs. Boston & Maine railroad, the verdict was for the plaintiff. This case was where goods belonging to the mill were destroyed by fire while in transit on the cars, and damages were awarded at $1600.

☞ The Memphis Enquirer says the wife of Dr. Wheatly jumped overboard from the steamer Rainbow, with $25,000 in gold secured on her person, but never rose to the surface.

It would be strange if she had, with a mill stone round her neck.

CHAIN GANG.—The cities of San Francisco and Sacramento both have chain gangs who are employed in taking care of the streets and similar out-door recreation. This is a very salutary arrangement for first class rascals.

CIRCULATING THE DOCUMENTS.—Mr. Douglas has ordered 20,000 copies of his late speech upon Kansas, and the Republicans 100,000, for gratuitous circulation over the country.

☞ The Boston Journal says, "the report gathers strength that Asa P. Cate, the Democratic candidate for Governor of New Hampshire, takes the Douglas side of the controversy in the Democratic ranks."

THERE ARE OCCASIONS
When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

There was another strike at the New Custom House, on Monday morning, or rather, Saturday night. One or two of the laborers attached the tools belonging to, (or rather in charge of) Mr. Strong; so nobody can work till the matter is settled. Mr. S. himself, with a few other Yankees, took off their coats, and applied themselves "once more to the breach," Monday morning; but the most of the gang have not resumed work since Saturday noon. "It may be all right," and one of the bondsmen may come from Washington to-day, or soon, and bring money,—as is promised; but public confidence in the ability and integrity of those concerned in the contract is "growing no stronger," every day, and on account of every such kick-up as we have chronicled a dozen of.

It will be seen that Mrs. M. S. Townsend, is to lecture at the Temple, this (Tuesday) evening, under 'Spirit influence' so termed. Her subject is not announced; but she is a pleasant speaker, and whether it be a doctrinal discourse or not, it will be worth hearing. The lady has been in this city several weeks; and has found much favor with her hearers, — whether they agreed with her logic and philosophy, or not. Her text on Sunday evening, at Academy Hall, was "Judge not," &c., upon which she framed a discurse which would do no discredit to any pulpit, and the sentiment of which, if carried out, in practice, would tend to good and not evil.

We learn that Rev. T. W. Higginson, is expected to lecture in this city, on Spiritualism, early in January.

We notice by the News-Letter, that the Exeter people are losing their hens, &c. Well, since the Indians have changed their quarters from here to there, we haven't heard of so much pilfering in our suburbs.

But all the thieves are not Indians—doubtless white theives pilfer, and charge to their copper-colored brethren, or allow it to be charged to them.

If you are going to "make a present" to (say rather buy one for) your wife or husband, mother or daughter, son, brother, friend, lady-love or lady-lover,—consult the advertising columns of the Chronicle first. There is a long list of articles "fit to be made" presents of. Mr. Shores, especially, has a very large and rich stock of beautiful goods, selected with his usual good taste; and Mr. Foster also makes a fine display.

The ordination of Baptism by immersion, was administered at Noble's Island, Sunday noon, by Rev. Mr. Hall, Methodist, to three converts; and by Rev. Mr. Holmes, Christian, to three. Two other applicants were also admitted to the Methodist church, by sprinkling at the altar.

Among the railroad stocks that are advancing, we notice that the Eastern went up $3 a share, last week, and now sells at $45.

The Boston & Maine Railroad have declared a semi-annual Dividend of 3 per cent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20*th*. — Accidental Death.—The dead body of Gen. Newland, formerly a prominent politician in Carolina, and of late, Superintendent Engineer of the Harbor Improvements at Sheboygan, Wis., was found floating in the canal this morning. Cause, accidental.

Fillibuster Meeting.—At a meeting in Mobile on the 14th inst., Gov. Winston presided, and addresses were made by Percy Walker and others, and resolutions were adopted favorable to the Walker cause in Nicaragua.

MINESOTA ELECTION.—Prarie du Chien, Dec. 19th.—St. Paul's dates of the 15th have been received. The canvass of the election had not been completed, but it was thought that the Democratic candidate for Governor would be declared elected. No election of U. S. Senator had taken place.

The death of Mr. Samuel Osborne, of Wells, Me., from the effect of morphine, was mentioned a day or two since in our paper. It appears that his death was wholly accidental, though recorded as a case of suicide. He was suffering from neuralgia, and sent to Kennebunk for the morphine to alleviate his pains. The remedy was sent by mail without any directions for its use from the apothecary; and being ignorant of its power, Osborne took an overdose, which induced the sleep which 'knows no waking.'—Portland Adv.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Weeden H. Berry, a deputy sheriff was stopped on the highway, between Pawcatuck and White Rock, Wednesday evening, by several men, who robbed him of his pocket book, which contained but one dollar and a number of official papers. It is suggested that the latter were the object of the assault.—Providence Journal.

4 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

SANDY HOOK, Dec. 21.—The Collins steamship Adriatic, from Liverpool, arrived off this point about daylight.

The Manchester market was very dull. Dreadstuffs very dull, with a declining tendency.

The money market was unchanged. The Bank of France had reduced its rate of discount one per cent.

INDIA.—The news from India is a week later. Gen. Havelock was hemmed in at Lucknow, and Sir Colin Campbell was marching to his relief.

The City of Glasgow Bank shows a large surplus, and will resume business.

Depression continued at Hamburg, but it had been resolved to establish a State Discount Bank, with a capital of 15000000 marks, immediately. There were numerous additional failures, but the turning point, it was thought, had been reached.

Both Houses of Parliament had voted unanimously a pension of one thousand pounds to a year to General Havelock.

The Bank of England indemnity bill had passed to a third reading in the House of Commons.

The Leviathan is making progress daily to deep water.

The Spanish American difficulties are assuming a more pacific aspect.

BERKSHIRE COUNTY.—We learn from the Pittsfield Eagle that two fugitive slaves passed through that town last week on their way to Canada. One of them was body servant of a Tennessee M. C. The other was a field hand.

An editor in speaking of incorrect expressions says, "you do not lift up; to lift up should be lift; you cannot lift a thing down." Skiblue thinks an armful of crinoline, dimity and dimples might be lifted down from the top of a stage coach, and it wouldn't be bad—grammar.—Glos. Telegraph.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have the legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A schedule will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme we publish below, ten numbers draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes range from $50 to $6,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ The numbers of the numbers are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Savannah Georgian, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to SWAN & CO., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m151y

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. Tyson & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawings. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland Lotteries, as they are authorized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the next drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Tenary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100 200. All orders for tickets in Maryland Lotteries receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to save time we have concluded to order a dozen for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every one who has used it is loud in its praises, and or your new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and six dozen of the large size, by express.

DANIEL LATHROP & CO.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, which we had seen so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon made its appearance, and we can say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do heartily recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

GEORGE W. HOUGHTONMAN,
SILAS A. HOUGHTONMAN.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it has done me more good than any one dollar's worth of anything I ever used for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,

O. J. WOOD & CO., 312 Broadway, N. Y., (in great N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment) and 114 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,
SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of air, at once mild, pure and agreeable, and is none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save 30 to 50 per cent in fuel expense.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Massachusetts Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without hurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct banks of keys may be played at the same time by one of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house 100 feet long from 1500 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of a full volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced workmen. Instruments, in short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons,	Hallett Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co.,	Wm. F. Emerson,
Brown & Allen,	A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes,	Woodward & Brown,
	Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as payment on part of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the act of 1837.)

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, has obtained Patents in all parts of the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, Models, Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or inventions, and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing the greatest amount of securing patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered by any other agency elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would say that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents, which, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, or the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business in the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and correctness. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most able Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring those who want they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in such form as to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

"There are some sights in the world—a city sacked and burnt—a battle-field after a great slaughter—a London in the midst of a plague—a ship burning at sea—a family pining in starvation—a jug of molasses wrecked upon the pavement—but the saddest sight to us of all is an old bachelor, stolidly walking towards his end, his great duties undone, his shirt buttons off, his stockings out at the toes, and nobody to leave his money to. Were we such a man, the mild reproving eye of widow or maiden lady would drive us mad. But there is still hope. Uglier and older men than any of our friends have married young and beautiful wives, who trained them admirably and spent their money elegantly."

JEW AND CHRISTIAN.—In a recent letter to an invalid, (not intended for the public eye) Dr. Coggswell says: "The malignant hostility of the profession, poured upon me through Medical Journals, and a few newspapers edited by medical men, has no parallel since the deadly opposition of the bigoted Jews to the introduction of Christianity. They branded its meek and humble author as a base impostor, and denounced his new doctrine as damnable heresy, but the heresy triumphed, notwithstanding.

So the hatred of these modern bigots towards me, for presuming to question their infallibility touching the doubtful practice of blistering and bleeding, and for daring to think, and speak, and act for myself. Their attacks, though maliciously intended, result in good. Among the orders daily received for my Medical Salt, I find many from invalids who confess that the bitter hostility of physicians to its use, has induced them to purchase it. 'Where there is so much smoke,' writes one, 'there must be some fire.'"—Transcript.

Dr. Coggswell's Salt has relieved one or two obstinate cases in this place, one of determination of blood to the brain, the other of Spasmodic Asthma of long standing. The Dr. need not fear for the ultimate success of his valuable Medicine.—Newark (N. J.) Times.

J. H. Thacher sells this wonderful Salt.

LIQUOR PROSECUTIONS.—The liquor cases continue to be tried at the Court of Common Pleas in Hampden County. On Wednesday, Julius Halstein, of Agawam, was convicted of being a common seller of liquors. On Thursday, Milo Phelps of Westfield, Henry Sackett and Seth Sackett of the same place, were also found guilty by the jury, of being common sellers of liquors. Peter Foster of Agawam, for contempt of Court in neglecting to appear as witness in a liquor case, was fined.—Frederic Lamberton of Westfield was on trial for being a common seller,—and was probably brought in guilty.—Boston Journal.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by rectifying the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a needle dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.
PRIME COST, $1.50 per drachm—PRICE $2 per drachm.
A few boxes of this popular and extraordinary medicine for sale by J. H. THACHER.
1y13 Cor. of Pleasant and State Sts.

Cold Winter is Coming on.
AND with it will return the usual concomitants, Coughs, Colds, Dyspepsia, Scorbutic Eruptions, Sick Headache, Rheumatism, Tetter, Ring Worm, &c., which the genial warmth of summer and free perspiration that for a time relieved, but which the return of rigid, cheerless winter, will bring back, unless resisted by some medicamentum.
MYER'S EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE, is peculiarly applicable, and if freely used will not fail to protect the constitution against the sudden and extreme changes of our variable climate. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and invigorates the whole system, thus fortifying against the inclement attacks of unusual frosts and debilitating heats. See Circulars.
For sale by George E. Lawrence, Epping, N. H., at wholesale and retail, and dealers in Medicine generally, where pamphlets, &c., may be had gratis. nov6d&wtsprl

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1857.

INFANT SALVATION.

There was, several years ago, a dispute between the Unitarian newspapers and those of the Orthodox Congregationalists, about "Infant Damnation." This dispute was not about the truth or falsity of the doctrine itself, but while the Unitarians, in the Register, charged that their opponents had preached the doctrine years before, the charge was generally denied by those opponents. Finally some old sermons were found, which contained the doctrine,—and the dispute, we thought, was buried with the doctrine. But the latter has risen to daylight again, as may be seen in the following items.

On Wednesday, Dec. 16, Mr. Alpheus S. Nickerson, a graduate of Andover Theological Seminary, was to be ordained as an Evangelist over the Congregational Church and Society in North Woburn Mass.

The Council assembled in the church at 10 o'clock A.M., for the purpose of organization, and examination of the candidate. After discussing the point of ordaining the candidate as an Evangelist about two hours, they at last decided to do so, although of the Council, Mr. Cady of West Cambridge, Mr. Marvin of Medford, Mr. Sewall of Burlington, and others, strongly objected. The examination of the candidate was then commenced. He read a brief of his belief and theological views, which were those held by the Professors at the Seminary at Andover, and by the Congregationalists generally of modern belief. The candidate's views were generally approved, excepting those upon infant salvation. Upon this point he expressed himself of the belief that infants were saved. He considered the infant accountable for his acts as soon as he should arrive to the age of a moral acting being, knowing good from bad. When this age was, he could not say. This and other points incidental to that of infant salvation divided the Council. They adjourned to a secret session in the school-house, and there spent the time till 4 o'clock in the afternoon, deliberating, without come to a decision. The sermon, by Professor Shedd, of Andover, and the other exercises, were dispensed with, and the audience in the church was dismissed at 4 o'clock P. M., many of them having been there from 10 o'clock in the morning. The Evangelical Council adjourned for eight weeks, to be called together by the committee for further action. The church and society at North Woburn sustain Mr. Nickerson's position, and he will remain with the people.

Just at this moment we are reading, for the second or third time, an essay, written by "J." in the Congregational Journal, in defence of "infant damnation," or rather, to speak more accurately, it is an attack upon the common belief of Universal Infant Salvation. We make a few extracts, all for which we have room. J. says:—

If I am not deceived, nearly all, at the present day, believe that infants dying in infancy are surely saved. And it is clear enough, by Scripture, that some, and, for aught we know, a large majority of infants, do go to heaven. But is there a single passage in the word of God which teaches or even necessarily implies that all infants are saved?

On the other hand, are we not obliged to infer from some of the fundamental doctrines of the gospel, as well as from numerous passages of the Scriptures, that some infants may be, and probably are, lost?

The doctrine he cites, is that of "Original Sin,"—and says:

Now were it not for the revealed purpose of God to save some of the human race, it would be most natural and proper to infer from this fundamental doctrine of original sin that all would be lost. On the same principle, if God has not revealed it as his purpose to save all infants dying in infancy, it is most natural and proper to infer that if any of the human race are lost, some infants may be.

Of his scripture arguments, here is a specimen:

Gen. 18: 32—Had there been but ten infants in Sodom, to whom Christ's righteousness had been imputed, the place would have been spared.

He then passes on.

I will notice two bad effects which will very naturally follow the belief, that all infants dying before they have committed actual sin, are saved.

The first of these effects is Infanticide. * *

The other bad effect of a belief in universal infant salvation, is one which it may have upon true Christians, to decline them to undervalue and neglect the rite of infant baptism.

* * * * *

If infant murder, or even the careless neglect of infant baptism, is a natural and legitimate effect of a belief in universal infant salvation, it surely cannot be a Scriptural doctrine.

Most people, but especially Infidels, Unitarians, Universalists, and Arminians of all denominations, are horror-struck at the belief of infant damnation. And if they do not rail at and ridicule the belief—knowing it to be much easier doing so than to prove it false by scripture—they may say that such a belief must involve the idea that God deals with mankind as mere machines or inanimate matter. But what harm is there in such an idea, if properly understood. Is it not in perfect harmony with the expression of the sacred writers, when they compare us to the clay, and God to the potter. (See Isaiah 64: 9—Jer. 18: 6—and Rom. 9: 21.)

Viewing the subject in this light, and especially when we take into consideration the fact that no person ever goes to hell merely for actual sins, but for original sin or a corrupt nature, and that infants, unless spiritually renewed before birth, have a nature as entirely corrupt as adults, we may see that if God casts away some infants, he does no more wrong than in casting away some adults.—And though endless woe is at best dreadful beyond our present conception, yet it will be far more tolerable for Infants than for "those vessels of wrath fitted for destruction, with which God endures with much long suffering."

I am aware that the doctrine of universal infant salvation, is well calculated to "lead captive silly women," especially if they have ever improperly rid themselves of the trouble or disgrace of some of their infant offspring. Such women will nearly, if not quite, weep for joy when they hear the doctrine preached. But is it equally well calculated to give any peculiar joy to those more honest and serious minded people who have dedicated their children to God by baptism, feeling that without so doing they could get hold of no strong hope, either of their own or their children's salvation?

These are fair samples of the article.—Toward the close, he says:

I hope I shall not be mistaken. I make no assertion of my own, that any infant will be lost. And I know of no Calvinist who has ever made such an assertion.

This little extract seems to take back, and almost to contradict the rest of the extracts, especially the first. But yet the author must believe, and does believe something about the matter. And as he fights against the now common belief that all infants are saved,—he necessarily believes that some of them may and will be lost.

The editor of the Journal says:

We have freely admitted "J.'s" communication above, though we cannot endorse all his views. We have not time this week to give the grounds of our dissent, but purpose to do it soon.

☞ P. S.—Two gentlemen, one a member of the Council at Woburn, Mass., and the other a spectator, have addressed notes to the Traveller, from which we copied the statement. Both these notes deny that "infant damnation" was mentioned there,—both show that infant salvation was discussed. One says:

I was a member of that council, and I should be very much surprised indeed to learn that any single member of the council doubted in the least the salvation of infants.

I am a pastor, and I assure you I do not know that I ever saw an Orthodox minister or church member who believed that infants were not saved.

The other says:

But on the question whether infants be saved or not, the candidate and council expressed no difference of opinion. Nor did any member of the council imply, even, much more say, that he thought an infant lost. * * * * * The only question raised, touching infants, was, whether they needed Christ in being saved, and if so how he aided them.

The reasons for non-ordination seem to have been two: 1, because the council did not wish to ordain an evangelist where there should be a pastor. 2, because the candidate did not appear to them to have well defined doctrinal views.

☞ Gen. Shields, formerly of Illinois, but killed in that State for voting for the Nebraska Bill, has come to life again. A few years ago, he left Illinois with an axe on his shoulder, and an ox goad in his hand, and wended his way to Minnesota, where he employed his time in cutting timber, and hauling rails. He has just been elected United States Senator from the State of Minnesota.

MR. SUMNER COMING HOME.—Senator Sumner, says the Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal, finds that attendance at debate affects him injuriously, and he will go North on Saturday, for a few weeks, at least.

☞ The Illinois papers notice the appearance at Cairo, of Ashbel P. Willard, Governor of Indiana, lugging upon his back a large turtle, declaring he would take it to Indianapolis in that way. They intimate the Governor was intoxicated.

☞ Sylvanus Howes, born in Dennis, Me., July 4, 1758, died in Frankfort, Me., March 12, 1857, in his 99th year; and his wife, Sarah Lincoln, born in Dennis, died at Frankfort, in October, 1857, in her 97th year. They were married June 3, 1779, and lived in marriage nearly seventy-eight years! He helped to fortify Dorchester Heights.

☞ The Kansas Herald of Freedom states that Jenkins, a pro-Slavery delegate in the late bogus Constitutional Convention, died of delirium tremens on Wednesday last, at Lecompton.

☞ A Concord correspondent of the Manchester Mirror says:—

Our people are taking a good deal of interest in Kansas matters, and most side with Senator Douglas, as between him and the President. Nearly all the friends of the administration go with Gov. Walker and Senator Douglas.

☞ A subscriber wrote to the editor of a small paper—"I don't want your little paper any longer." To which the editor replies, "I wouldn't make it any longer if you did."

"How short the days are," as the woman said, when she let the breakfast dishes stand until she had read a novel.

Tiest was a wise Pompey, who, in speaking of the happiness of married people, said, "Dat ar 'pends altogedder on how dey enjoy demselves."

CONGRESS.

On Monday, Dec. 21, in the Senate, Mr. Bigler of Pennsylvania, made a long speech in support of the President's policy in regard to Kansas, and in opposition to the views expressed by Mr. Douglas of Illinois. Mr. Douglas replied, strenuously insisting upon the strength of his position. He acknowledged his inconsistency, but said he had changed his opinion in correspondence with the President, in both cases that had had been referred to. He denied the right of Senators or any body on earth to expel him from the democratic party.

Mr. Douglas said:—

I stated that when I changed my opinion I changed in correspondence with the President in both cases. If that would lead me out of the party, it would lead me in very good company. [Laughter.] If the President and Democratic party stick to their platforms we can move along harmoniously. But I shall, at all events, maintain my position. I shall take all proper occasions to vindicate the great principle with which my public life is identified. I hope, in the discussion of this question, Senators will let me alone as regards my consistency; and as for my prospects, let time determine.

Mr. Stuart obtained the floor, and the subject was postponed.

The Senate passed the House resolution, proposing to pay arrearages of the pay of members at the commencement instead of the end of the session, and $250 per month each, during the session.

In the House, the Treasury Note bill was debated in committee of the whole. From the debate, it seems the old controversy between the supporters of the tariff and the advocates of free trade and direct taxation is likely to be revived.

The Committee rose, and the Senate's Treasury bill was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

A resolution was passed, limiting the debate on the subject to two hours to-morrow.

Mr. Warren asked, but did not obtain, leave to introduce a preamble, that—Whereas, it appeared from the proclamation of Brigham Young, late Governor of Utah, and from the President's Message, that said Territory is now in open rebellion against the government of the United States, therefore,

Resolved, That the Committee on Territories be instructed to consider and report on the facts, and inquire into the propriety of excluding from the floor of the House the Delegate from that Territory.

SENATOR DOUGLAS.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at Chicago, Ill., on Saturday night, at which resolutions were adopted, endorsing fully the course of Senator Douglas.

The Newark, N. J. Daily Journal says:

A large majority of the Democratic papers of New Jersey take a reasonable and judicious view of Kansas matters, holding fast to the principle of popular sovereignty, which has been so ably advocated by the President of the United States, Senator Douglas and Gov. Walker.

KANSAS.—Gen. J. H. Lane expresses the following opinion in regard to the course of events in Kansas:—

"The Legislature will probably expunge the election, convention, and militia laws, and submit both constitutions to a full and fair vote, and declare that constitution sanctioned by the majority the organic law for Kansas. If congress admits the Lecompton fraud, we will put the Topeka Government in motion, and fight it out."

SENATE COMMITTEES.—A report of Senator Hamlin's remarks analyzing the Senate Committees, explains the injustice of their construction in the numerical preponderance of Southern members. While the Senate consists of thirty-two members from the free and thirty from the slaveholding States, yet the free States have only forty-nine places on the committees, and the slave States sixty-seven. Besides, also, giving sixteen chairmanships to the latter and only six to the former, the framers have selected the second members of the committees in the same way, so that any changes of chairmen, by declination, resignation, or expiration of term, would keep the same sectional preponderance. Mr. Hamlin then examines the most important committees, such as those on Foreign Affairs, Military and Naval Affairs, and the Judiciary, and shows that each of them has a majority of Southern members. * On the Committee of Commerce there is not a single representative of the vast internal commerce of the lakes. The Committee on Patents, too, has the same sectional construction, when it is a well known fact that four-fifths, it not nine-tenths, of the valuable inventions come from the free States.

Senator Hamlin says he has no personal or partizan objection to this arrangement, but the sectional injustice of it demands and will receive the attention of the whole country.

☞ The author, Prof. Sanborn, has sent us one of the most useful little manuals for a school-teacher, which we have seen for a long time.—The full title of the book is:—Sanborn's School Mottoes, suggestive directions to Teachers, and Rules for Spelling. SICK-HEADACHE.
Mr. A. B. L. Myers: Dear Sir—I have, from childhood, suffered with periodical turns of the Sick-headache, increasing until the last year. I was usually laid by almost weekly, until I commenced the use of your Compound Extract of Rock Rose. One large bottle has completely cured me; I have had no occasion to use it for months.
Yours, &c., NANCY M. PARSHLY.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS
When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system, that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to the efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

New Church.—The Free Will Baptist Society of this city, now temporarily worshipping in the Old South Church, have purchased the eligible lot of land on the corner of Pearl and Hanover streets,—directly in front of the Portsmouth Steam Factory,—and will erect a Meeting House or Chapel there, forthwith. The location is excellent—being central, yet retired and pleasant. The estimated cost of the building and lot is something less than $3000; but like most such cases, the bills will doubtless foot up much larger. It is expected that the sister churches of the connexion, abroad, will contribute towards this object, as this church has often done in similar cases; and doubtless the Society will receive other aid. Operations have already been commenced on the building, and it is designed to have it finished in the course of the winter. Mr. Nathan Tarlton is master-workman; and several of those interested in the enterprise will contribute their labor for the object.

Rev. S. W. Perkins continues to supply the pulpit of this Society.

☞ The 3d Lecture of the Mercantile Library Course, was delivered on Monday evening, by Rev. A. L. Stone, of Boston. Subject, New England Character, as found in the New England Home, and developed by the influences there received. The lecture was mainly the description of such a home, and view of scenes connected with it. There was no close analysis of character, no classification of traits;—but a natural and easy sketch of country life, well written and well delivered, occupying the audience for a pleasant hour.

Rev. Mr. Bodwell of Framingham, Mass. is to deliver the next lecture, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 5.

Since the anniversary of the City Mission, the subscriber would gratefully acknowledge the receipt of the following sums for the relief of the poor in this city. Twenty-five dollars from Miss E. Q. Woodbury; Twenty-five dollars from the late Miss C. Elizabeth Jennes; and five dollars from a benevolent gentleman.

N. Medbury.

☞ The ladies of Portsmouth, aided by the Portsmouth Cornet Band, will hold a Fair at Jefferson Hall on the 30th and 31st of December, and Jan. 1st; one half the proceeds of which are to help in providing the Band with a uniform, and the other half to be given to the Ladies' Charitable Society, to aid the poor. A generous patronage of the public is solicited. The evening entertainment will be varied by singing and tableaux.

☞ An advertisement of J. E. Ham & Co.,—of gentlemen's clothing and furnishing goods selling off cheap, will be seen in another column. They are capital workmen, have a large and excellent stock of cloths, &c., and will fit a man out in the best style for a little money.

Rockingham Agricultural Society.—At a meeting of the Trustees of this Society, R. H. Parker was elected Treasurer for the ensuing year. This officer has always been chosen by the Trustees, and not by the Society at their annual meeting.

It appears from statements in two of the Portsmouth papers, that the committee of arrangements were liable for about $90 more than was collected by subscription for paying the expenses of the Fair held in that city in Oct. last. A petition was presented to the trustees by the Portsmouth committee for the reimbursement of this sum. We are informed that the Trustees, after some discussion, voted and paid said committee $45,05, and afterwards, at the annual meeting of the society, $30 additional was voted to be paid, which sum was allowed towards paying for the music furnished at the annual exhibition.

The statement in the Gazette, that "the Society would have been totally bankrupt" had it not been for the efforts of the committee, has been corrected by the Chronicle. The fact is, that at most of the annual Fairs, something has been saved, and added to the funds of the society, after paying all the expenses of the show. It is certain, however, that the Portsmouth committee are entitled to much credit for the interest they manifested and the efforts they made in behalf of the Society's late Fair.

The Chronicle does not mistake in supposing that the society commenced with a fund of $1500, raised by five-years' subscriptions, and that said fund has not been diminished.—Exeter News-Letter.

☞ In our notice of the Baptizing at Noble's Island on Sunday, we should have stated that Rev. Mr. Gouch, of the Advent connexion, also immersed several converts. Fourteen were baptized in all. As a chronicle of the public religious movements of the times, we aim at correctness and fullness in such matters.

☞ The "Lewiston Gem Polka," composed by V. D. Marston, just received from Charles C. Harvey, who is constantly in receipt of new vocal and instrumental music.

"When Greek meets Greek, then comes the tug of war." It is not of an Irish row we are now about to discourse—much less of the ancient Greeks; but of a little incident which came within our knowledge a few days since; and the result of which evinces in the little animals concerned, the possession of what by sporting men, is termed "game and pluck," to an unusual degree. One night last week, a slight growling and "spitting," as of cats quarreling, was heard in a hotel-yard in this city; and in the morning, the dead bodies of a full-grown Rat and a half-grown Kitten, lying side by side, explained the matter. There they lay, not a foot apart, with mortal hate yet depicted on their countenances; and the singular sight excited not a little notice from passers. The poor rat received no sympathy, though no doubt he acted only in self-defence.

Errors.—In the able article on Spiritualism, in Monday's Chronicle, for "fragmontary run," read "sun"; and for "man is a scroll-work," read "mollusk." The compositor's mistakes—which will happen in the best offices.

☞ The man who repudiates his clothing bill was in town last week, and attended Church all day Sunday. His stately step and lofty look would lead the unsuspecting to suppose he wore his own instead of another man's clothing. 1t*

☞ At Rochester, N. Y., on Sunday, the 20th, the body of Charles W. Little, a lawyer of that city, was found in Genesee River, below the Falls.

It was shockingly mangled, which, together with evidence on shore, of having been a conflict near the spot, point to the fact that Mr. L. was assassinated.

His wife, her brother Ira Stout, and several of her relatives have been arrested on suspicion of the crime.

On the ground was found a piece of Mrs. L.'s victorine and several other articles known to belong to her and her brother.

In addition, Mrs. L. and her brother have each a recently broken arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Little separated a year or two ago, but for the last two months have lived together again.

Surrendered.—The fugitive slave taken into custody near Harrisburg, Pa., has been surrendered to the claimant, Wm. M. Edelier of Baltimore county, Md. The slave's name is Jacob Dufen, he is about thirty years of age, and ran away some eighteen months ago. The hearing was before Judge Kane at Philadelphia, and was conducted in a very summary manner, by one of the meanest minons of tyranny.

Washington, Dec. 20. (Tribune correspondence.) General Cass addressed a letter to Gov. Walker last evening, in which he combats the positions which Walker takes in his recent letter, one by one, and accepts his resignation.

Augusta, Ga., Dec. 20.—The Legislature of South Carolina has indefinately postponed all its resolutions and reports in reference to Kansas.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled the following week, to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $600; the amount being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Sunday Dispatch. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. Tanner & Co. are the managers, are authorized by the State of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular place is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. Prices of tickets range from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $60,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Savannah News, New York Sunday Dispatch, and New York Atlas. Write your address plainly, and direct to

So long unsuccessfully sought,
FOUND AT LAST.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY GRAY HAIR to its original color; covers luxuriant the hair head; removes all dandruff, scaling, and all scrofula, scald head and all eruptions; makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy, and will preserve it to any imaginable age; removes, as if by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache See circular and the following.

Dover, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gentlemen: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity (three dozen) to meet the demand (it is sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or more new customers, and the approbation and patronage we receive from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $3 size; yours very respectfully,

DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say little hair of anyone's head is finer than mine, or as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

George W. Higginbotham,
Sarah A. Higginbotham.

Gardiner, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of 45 years, my hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully.

THE REASONS:

AN ADDRESS DELIVERED BY REV. L. WHITING,

At the N. H. State Temperance Convention.

At the request of a Committee of the New Hampshire State Temperance Society, the following ADDRESS was written and read at the State Temperance Convention in Manchester, Dec. 15th.

After reading, on motion of Rev. C. W. Wallace, it was Voted, That the written Answer given by Rev. Mr. Whiting, to the Question, "Why is not our Temperance Law better executed?"—be accepted, adopted, and published to the world as the sentiment of this Convention.

Voted, That newspapers favorable to the cause, be requested to copy.

The Committee asked for a reply to the question, "Why is not the law prohibiting the sale of alcoholic drinks in this State, better executed?"

Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen:—

Scores of sinking, struggling drunkards, thousands of wo-worn wives and mothers, of shamed, ragged and hungry children; all friends of good morals, temperance and public prosperity, send this sad question to this State Convention to-day.

Amid stricken families, from blighted homes, out of terrible wastes of choicest character and dearest hopes, comes the despairing enquiry. Murdered men, incendiary fires, robberies, private and public violence, crimes of all forms, press the question. Courts of justice, prisons, poor-houses, echo it in shame. Vile saloons, defiant tavern-bars, and lowest drinking dens, do the same in derisive taunts.

Can the question be answered? Is there any sagacity, wisdom, experience or knowledge, that can form a complete reply. No! there is no single mind that can so take in all the bearings of the question, and various elements of its answer, and so combine them as to leave nothing unsaid which belongs to it.

But some approach can be made. Some of the reasons can be set in order. With the question itself let us begin. What is a law? a Prohibitory Law, and what is its enforcement?

In a republic, certain established or constitutional forms or principles, fundamental to a republic, call for and get the will or choice of the people in a given population, on a thing to be done, or not to be done. The united expression of a State, the way they wish to do themselves and have others who come among them do about given thing, is put into one of those forms, and by that expression and embodyment, becomes what is termed a law, always having in it one of two forces of authority: either a positive commanding or requiring force, as to the thing or things that form reaches; or a forbidding, prohibiting, limiting of that thing or things. Into one of these forms, all Law finally resolves itself; either it requires or permits,—or it forbids and restrains. Any work of legislation not having one of these forces in it, stronger than any other force, falls at once to the rank of mere precept or advice. There is no legal power or authority in it, unless one of these two forms frame and act in it.

The will of a State, city or town, that a thing shall be done, or shall not be done, constitutionally expressed, is the Law there. Nothing else is law.

So, then, Secondly; the word "prohibitory" before Law, only declares as a title which one of the forces—its very existence implies—prevails in it. The Prohibitory Law of this State is simply the lawfully expressed will of the people on the business of selling deadly drinks—that it shall not be done.

We stop in the argument a moment to say, we suppose that scarce a law among the statutes of the State is more distinctly the will of the people than this. After years of consideration, a Legislature was specially chosen to frame and establish it.

Choosing them was the first utterance of the will and choice of the people, on that matter. Accepting and approving the Law they enacted, was a second or ratifying expression of that will.

What, then, hinders the prevalence and carrying out of this Law? If all the essentials of a Law and of a Prohibitory Law are in it, why is the havoc of drunkenness so terrible among us yet? If not from causes in itself, what are the causes out of itself? An army of reasons could be set in the array of reply, but no one would be an entire answer to the question.

There may be some one reason which enters into, and comprehends the vitality of all others. We think there is, and shall come to it after stating a few commonly accepted answers.

One man is sure that the blind, almost brutal passion of party politics, stops the action of this beneficent prohibition. Granted that partizan enmities do in cases override it. In other cases, party spirit helps it. So that is not an intrinsic or prevalent reason, for it points to a cause which works both ways in diverse times and places, though it must in shame be confessed, that partizan degradation may, over a whole State, gather to its standard those who use and befriend this terrible scourge of all human welfare.

Another broader reason we think to be, The power of the twin lusts of gain in the seller, and of appetite in the buyer. The owner says, "I love gain, even the remorseless grabs of it, a trader in this infernal business can make. True, it's a hard, dirty desperate business. You have to go in face of conscience, humanity, reason, and the law,—but,—, gain is my lust. I'm down on the level of this base, outlawed, abominable work. I'd rather do it, than to get my living by any honest, decent work. I know 'tis a mean, sneaking way to live,—this devouring your customers,—dangerous too just now, if people have a mind to make it so, but, if you'll pay me, I'll do it."

The drunkard (we mean anymanwho hangs upon a grog-shop, in a daily, or less constant frequency) replies, "I love the drunkard's drink, and though I know it's burning my body and soul to death, poisoning my blood and filling my bones with pains,—yet if you will keep and sell it, I must have it; I can't stand before my appetite. I like to get it a glass at a time, and get it in your den or palace, (as may be,) for the company of drunkards is needed to form the drunkard, and I couldn't keep it in my place of business, or at my house, and stay in them. So I'll conspire with you to stand against this law. I'll pay you the outrageous profits of the trade, swear any thing for you, perjure myself in any court of justice to screen you, in short, put my lust for drink with your lust for gain, and we, and all like us, will set ourselves against this Law."

So they frame a conspiracy of defiance and of resistance against the State which protects them and theirs, and must even feed and shelter them if their vices disable them, before killing them.

They are a positive organized conspiracy against the will of the State, and the good of all in it. Their meetings are not yearly, or quarterly, or weekly even,—nor at the call of committees or leaders; but daily, bi-daily, tri-daily, they meet in the grog-shop, saloon and bar-room. These places are the seats of defiant conspirators. They need no other organization than above shown—no chairman, scribe, committee, resolve or public acts. 'Tis a secret, base league, each conspirator is officer and member, ever in session, so long as the places of sale stay open, they unceasingly pervert and counterwork the law. Every dram mixed, sold and drank is a fresh assault upon the law, and all the sanctions and supports appertaining to it. This is indeed a formidable reason, among the reasons why the blessings of this law are kept from us.

But not all the hindrance comes in that form. On the other side—the want of physical courage in temperance and peaceable people impedes the law.

The rumseller and his fellow conspirators are desperate men. Their calling is that of outlaws and bandits, and of course their own defence they must take into their own hands. So, firebrands, slung-shot, knives, fire-arms, combustible and nauseous mixtures to be cast into private dwellings, to the peril of the lives of those within,—these and secret malicious depredations upon shrubbery, favorite animals, or other personal possessions, are the favorite weapons and chosen arguments of these conspirators. No crime, to the shedding of blood, do they stick at, if their ends require it.

Peaceable, law-observing people can not fight—at least not with such weapons, even in self-defence. The common sentiment of civilized society is above the use of these brutal forces, either in attack or defence. But the rum league begins with them. Now, to meet such combatants, few men are ready. Since wild beasts, Indians and foreign warriors have ceased from our land, our hands are unused to the bow or the spear. Our swords have gone for ploughshares and our spears for pruning-hooks. We shrink from personal violence—are afraid of the man of blood, and violent dealing. But scarce an active friend of temperance can be found, who has not felt it, from the foes of the law. From that "New Edition of Temperance Tales"—as Rev. B. E. Hale termed his short horse (a mean malicious cruelty, perpetrated in one of the western towns of this State,)—to the barn-burning in the eastern towns more recently, the rum weapon is physical violence. Temperance, virtuous people are untrained in violence. They do not freely dare to encounter it.

The other reason is,—The pressure of lawful business pursuits so engrosses good men, that they have no time or strength to pursue violations of the law. The urgency of nearly all prosperous business among us keeps men in a perpetual confinement to their calling. If a man will do any thing, he must do more than he really ought to do, or reasonably should do. Few margins for temporary leisure, or for attention to other things are left to business men among us. In this, violators of the law have an evident advantage. Their chief business is to carry on their contraband work.—On it their main attention is spent. Their talk, counsels, voting, conduct in the civil courts, and all their acts, secret and open, aim at this one end,—to counterwork the authority and will of the State they dwell in,—a species of base treachery indeed, which any honorable man abhors. The real business of society; its agriculture, manufactures, trade and education, is not in the hands of drunkards or of those joined with them against temperance. They have neither skill or character to do much but the lowest and least important parts—at least as a rule 'tis so. Drunkards cannot be trusted in any responsible service. They cannot trust themselves. Sober men plan and perform the real work of the world; but while they are building up all the interests of society, the rum-league, through all its range of exertion, from the brawl of the grog-shop to the debased newspaper which panders ["acts as agent for the lust of others."—Web.] is as busy in pulling down every good thing in society.

Other causes I had set down—one so comprehensive as to show a generic or common quality running through all causes.

Such a cause, as I deem it, will conclude the enumeration, viz: The want of applied moral principle. Not a want of such principle, as existing, but a want of it as applied to this so vital reform.

It is not enough thought of as God's cause. The morality,—the religion if you please,—is too much left out of it. The law of God is not kept in constant sight of men as against this sin. His solemn sanctions are not enough interposed, and his promised blessings on the temperate are not held forth. Who commands "thou shalt not kill?" and who is a more deadly slayer of men, and that by most terrible murder, than the vender of these prohibited drinks? and all who defend and uphold him, aid and abet the crime. "Touch not, taste not," as a command of God is left out of temperance pleas. "Wo unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth thy bottle to him and makest him drunken;"—were words which once were felt in all their applications. We need to bring them back to use. The wickedness, the positive sin of drunkenness is not felt. That the body is "a temple of God, and if any man defileth the temple of God, him shall God destroy"—that "nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards * * shall inheirit the kingdom of God"—we have too much forgotten.

These outlaws of God and man are to be pitied, not mocked,—to be plucked as "brands from the burning," and saved as "pulling them out of the fire." There is an immorality in the common style of recording scenes of drunkenness in the public prints. Into a jest, as some laughable news item, most of these dreadful records are fashioned. The poor blighted being, body and soul staggering down to an horrible perdition, is jeered at, on his awful way. The sentiment of pity seldom infuses these most sorrowful records of human ruin. This is wrong. It damages the moral sensibility of the community to have these wretched beings in their most wretched fate set forth as laughing-stocks. The sanctity of the human laws they defy, is weakened by forgetting the divine laws they also set at naught. The moral guilt is not felt and spoken against, and the whole work of redeeming men from this curse is hindered. A weeping prophet is more needed than a mocking and sport-making prophet, to carry on this work.

The Word of God must recover its place and influence in our arguments and appeals, if the work is to prosper in our hands. How few quotations from sacred scriptures are heard in either argument or appeal at the present day. The place religious convictions once had in the temperance work, is now given to political, organic and legislative means. These all are good as allies, but perilous as substitutes. A stern but tender moral earnestness should meet this iniquity. The prayers of ministers and people, and the entire sentiment of resistance to the evil, should feel it. Forsaking God, he forsakes us, in this, as in every other work of life, for "not by might nor by power" of men alone, but from the divine arm comes the real force of all human renovation.

Men and brethren: while we sit here, hundreds of men—young men—are sinking in drunkenness. Our sons, brothers or fathers they may be. They and their destroyers mock us by open defiance of a law which is the will of the people of this State, and which would save them from their terrible doom.

O, is it not a matter to be morally earnest about? Is not the evil big enough to stir our strongest convictions? "Yes."—I know you answer yes.—Then call forth those convictions. The cruel chains of party, of political thwarts will then become as tow in the flame; the conspiring lusts of appetite and gain will find their league and conspiracy, but as a spider's web before them. Then too, courage, that royal robe of manhood, will awe the violent and shedder of blood, and then the engrossing cares of business shall cease their pressure, or yield to the stronger pressure of resolute pity towards those dying in the most fearful of deaths.

Thus every cause that hinders, waits on this cause. Summon moral energy to the work, and all energies now applied will rise in power, and all hindrances dwindle as clouds before the sun. If God be on our side, who can withstand? "One man (then) can chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight."

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1857.

THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

The season of the Holidays has again arrived, and although there is much in the state of the financial affairs of our country, and of the world, to cast a shade of melancholy upon the usual festivity of this annual happy occasion, yet we are glad to think that already the darkest hour has passed, and the halo of a more prosperous coming day already gilds the futureward sky,—and if by reason of the suspension of action in some of the departments of industrial labor, there is a more than usual demand for our charities, let us be the more liberal in our donations to help the poor and needy.

The observance of holiday seasons, in which men are wont to leave plodding their every day path to acquisition, and lend their time and attention to social gatherings, and to the cultivation of generous and kindly sentiments, should by all means be encouraged. We Americans, as a people, are said to be far too hard-working, restless, nervous—too hasty to grow rich. We have fewer holidays than most nations, and give less time to the promotion of social pleasures, and to such invigorating exercises, as would promote more ruddy complexions, and more hardy constitutions. If we should as a people, oftener relax our efforts, and interrupt our business with days of recreative pleasure, it would tend to improve our acquaintance with, and strengthen our confidence in each other. Men learn to know their neighbors better the more frequently they meet outside of the precincts of business, and aside from politics. Our haste to get rich would be less hot when it is seen that happiness consists not so much in the abundance of riches, as in our homes and friends around us. We might even be spared the recurrence of panics and broadcast ruin, from an overweening desire on the part of every one to get wealth suddenly.

Let us then, as a people, welcome the coming Christmas day: commemorating, as it does, an event of infinitely more importance to us than are the interests of finance—the advent of the Saviour, with the proclamation of Peace and good will from Heaven to man; let business be laid aside and banished at least for that day, and when we behold the evergreen adornments of our sanctuaries, let each cast his palm, and unite in the shout of Hosanna in the highest. This day has been more and more generally observed as a holiday in New England for many years. It is now legally recognized in many of the States, and should be so in our own. Other than Episcopal churches are beginning to observe the day with public services. Our earliest Christmas days are associated with the handsome church on Strawberry Bank, with its profusions of evergreens redolent of the sweet woods, and with the Rector who will on this Christmas, as he has done for the past half century upon each return of the day, proclaim the good news of Salvation to men. And if there be a man so closely united to the things pertaining to this world's gain, that he cannot give these things his contemplation on such a day, it may be said of him, he is joined to his idols; let him alone. B.

FILLIBUSTER WALKER.—There has been a report that Commander Chatard, of the sloop-of-war Saratoga, was to be withdrawn, for allowing a detachment of the army of Gen. Walker to land at San Juan, Nicaragua. As there appears to be considerable mystery in regard to the tenor of the instructions, under which Commander Chatard acted, the public will generally withhold their condemnation for his seeming neglect of duty until he has had an opportunity of defending himself. A letter from Walker's Camp, asserts that Com. Chatard had no instructions from Government to warrant him in acts of hostility; and complains of his conduct in threatening Gen. Walker for any acts of violence.

☞ Senator Broderick of California, who is noted for the plainness and energy of his SAXON English, a day or two since, ventured the opinion that the chivalry had better learn to respect the equality of gentlemen, before wasting any more breath about the equality of the States.

☞ At Ashuelot, N. H., on the 12th inst., a little son of Silas Priest, about six years of age, attempted to kindle a fire in a stove by the help of turpentine, which he had seen others use in the same manner; when the flames were communicated to the turpentine in the vessel, which he held in his hand, which burst into a flame, and the unfortunate lad was so severely burned that he died the following evening.

CONGRESS.

On Tuesday, Dec. 22d, in the Senate a bill was introduced, securing to actual settlers the alternate sections of land reserved for railroads: also a bill granting a homestead of 160 acres to every United States citizen who is the head of a family, on the condition of occupancy and cultivation.

The President's message having been taken up for consideration, an earnest and somewhat acrimonious debate again sprang up upon the subject of Kansas. Mr. Fitch of Indiana, supported the views of the President, and favored the admission of the territory, with whatever constitution she might present. In the course of his remarks, he indulged in some severe reflections upon the conduct of Mr. Douglas, and reminded him of the fate of all those who had attempted to foment discord in the democratic party, from the days of Burr to Van Buren. Mr. Douglas rejoined, affirming the harmony of his course with the Cincinnati platform, and boldly announcing his independence, and determination to maintain his position. He was opposed to the Lecompton convention, and looked upon it as a trick and fraud upon the rights of the people.

Douglas said:—

With regard to harmony in the Democratic party, he had only to say that, if Democratic Senators and the President would stand by the Cincinnati platform, there would be harmony between them all and himself. He said—"Call it faction—call it what you please—I intend to stand by the Nebraska bill—to stand by the Cincinnati platform—to stand by the organization and principles of the Democratic party; and I defy opposition, from whatever quarter it may come." He predicted that, before the lapse of sixty days, he would be in harmony with those that were most relied upon now to crush him and the principles of the Nebraska bill in the admission of the Lecompton Convention. He looked on that Convention as a trick and a fraud upon the rights of the people, and with or without slavery, he was opposed to the whole concern. He did not know the object of all these attacks upon him. Perhaps his opponents thought they could worry him out, but he would tell them if he found his strength failing he would go off and recruit his energies, and come back and take a raking fire at the whole of them. [Laughter.]

During a conversational debate between Mr. Douglas and Mr. Fitch, the former in order to sustain his previous remark, that he could not place much confidence in the returns from the election which was held yesterday, said the Convention had declared null and void all the laws punishing fraudulent returns; and stated in addition, that two officers of the army who were present at Lecompton at the time, informed him that the very man who was known to have perpetrated the Oxford frauds, was elected clerk of the Convention by acclamation, upon the ground that his services in Johnson county entitled him to such consideration.

In the House, the Senate Treasury Note bill was taken up in committee of the whole, and a loose and rambling debate ensued, which continued until the committee rose.

In the course of debate,

Mr. Ritchie—Mr. Smith having alluded to him, — said the President in his Message merely spoke as to the necessity of a small loan, and of hard money, but the report of the Secretary of the Treasury showed a demand for $20,000,000 of Treasury notes. Was he justified the other day in saying that there were two sets of Democrats—one in favor of specie and the other of paper?

Mr. Glancy Jones, having replied to the various objections urged against the bill, showed the necessity of its passage in consequence of commercial revulsions. The mode proposed was the best expectionable form of a loan. The Treasury wanted money at the cheapest possible rates. It was not proposed to issue these notes as currency, as has been charged, but on which to borrow the gold and silver to meet the present exigencies.

The Senate bill was passed without amendment—Yeas 118, Nays 106.

The House then, by a vote of 97 against 88, passed the Senate joint resolution, that when both Houses adjourn to-morrow, it be till the 4th of January.

Adjourned.

Death-bed Follies, is what the Charleston Courier calls the will of the late George W. P. Custis, directing that all his slaves, some two or three hundred, shall be set free within the next five years, leaving it to his executors to provide the necessary funds from his estate to remove them from the Commonwealth. We quote:—

It is high time Virginia had some law on her statute book against this destruction of property. There are now no more slaves in that State, than she has use for, and to say nothing of rendering so many negroes worthless and miserable for the remainder of their days, the power should be taken away from men in their second childhood, of removing so much labor from the industry of the State.

THE SLAVE BARQUE W. G. LEWIS.—New York, Dec. 22.—The barque W. G. Lewis, the prize slaver which arrived at Norfolk yesterday, was seized in this port early last fall by the revenue cutter Washington, on suspicion of being about to proceed on a slave voyage; after being detained a few days, she was released and proceeded.

THE ARMY OF UTAH.—The Charleston Mercury publishes a letter from an officer of the Utah expedition, which is several days later than previous intelligence. It is dated "Camp midway between the Platte and Sweet Water rivers, Nov. 3, 1857." We make the following extract:

"This day is marked by the arrival of an expressman from the troops, in advance, on his way to the States; he will leave us tomorrow morning, and I hope will take this letter safely in. He brings further news from Utah. The Mormons had driven off every head of cattle from Col. Alexander, so that when we get to Green river, and our twenty days' rations are out, we shall have to fight for something to eat, if for nothing else. The supply trains, you know, have already been burnt.

This express rider left Col. Alexander six days ago at Green river, and passed Col. Johnson on the way just the other side of the South Pass. The latter has with him two companies of infantry, under the command of Lieut. Col. C. F. Smith, and two companies of the second dragoons, under command of Lieut. Smith, of ours. They were all traveling together at the rate of ten miles a day, so as to protect the ox trains with all our clothing.—He reports very little snow on the road, and none in the Pass; and if the favorable weather continues, we will get to Green river without difficulty.

We left the Platte this morning, after having traveled along its banks for almost a month; and to-morrow we will strike the Sweet Water, which we will follow for about a hundred miles, and then strike across, only ten miles to Pacific Spring, the head water of Green river. The so called South Pass is, in reality, sixty miles wide, and not a pass in the usual signification of the term, but a place where the Rocky Mountains can be crossed over seven thousand feet above the sea.

We are now between five and six thousand feet above the sea, and around us are mountains covered with snow, the Wind River mountains. It will be three day's journey over the South Pass, and that will be the worst part of the trip, as afterwards we decend almost two thousand feet in a single day.

The Mormons laid an ambuscade for Smith's command, but when fired upon took to their heels, leaving one of their number dead. They have insulted Col. Alexander in various ways; however, he has three prisoners, one a major. It is my opinion that we will have to fight our way into Salt Lake City, as soon as the forces are concentrated. We have not lost a horse since leaving Laramie, and I am in hopes we may get most of them through.

This is the most desolate country I ever beheld. There are no trees, no grass, nothing in the shape of vegetation but prickly pear and sage (artemesia)—the roots of the latter furnish our only firewood. We saw in the distance to-day a few buffalo—the first seen for weeks. They come among the hills to pass the winter."

TORONTO MARKET REPORT.—Dec. 22.

The unusual mildness of the season has added much to the dullness that always characterizes this season of the year; nor can we look for a change for the better, until we are favored with cold weather and winter roads.

Flour has been very dull of sale, at half a dollar decline on my last quotations. The stringency of the Banks continues to press on our Millers, and limits the operations of shippers to cash transactions. Lots are pressing on the market to that degree, that a still further concession in prices is looked for. Our market did not sympathize with the English markets in the late advance there.

In Wheat our market is but very indifferently supplied, owing to the state of our country roads; but with sleighing, a large business will be done, and, we anticipate, at unusually low figures.

Fine Flour, $2 50 to 3.00 per bl.; No. 2 Superfine 2 50 to 2.57; No. 1 do., 3.20 to 4.00; Fancy, 4 00 to 4.10; Extra, 4.05 to 4.75; Double Ex. 4.80 to 5 25.

Wheat—Prime white winter 95 to 90c; fair average do. 80 to 83c; Spring 65 to 75c; per 60 lbs.

Bank Drafts on New York par to ¼ per cent. premium; Boston par.

Freights from Toronto by rail, for full car loads only, to Montreal 60c a bl., 18c bush.; to Boston 120c a bl., 30c a bush.; to Portland 110c a bl. 28c a bush.; to Ogdensburgh 50c a bl., 15c a bush.; to New York 130c a bl., 42c a bush. Rates to Island Pond, Northumberland, Danville Junction, are the same as to Portland; to Bangor 25c per bl. more than to Portland.

NEVER RAIL AT THE WORLD.

Never rail at the world—it is just as we make it,
We see not the flower if we sow not the seed;
And as for ill luck, why it's just as we take it,—
The heart that's in earnest no bars can impede.
You question the justice which governs man's breast,
And say that the search for true friendship is vain;
But remember, this world, though it be not the best,
Is the next to the best we shall ever attain.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

CHRISTMAS EVE.—There are to be public religious services this evening, in the Universalist Church, which is decorated for the occasion.

There are also to be services in the Stone Church, as usual, this evening.

Services on Friday, in St. John's Church, as usual.

☞ As we shall keep Christmas, on Friday, no Daily Chronicle will be published on Saturday. Our Weekly is published on Thursday, for the same reason.

☞ Mrs. Townsend's trance lecture on Spiritualism, at the Temple, on Tuesday evening, was largely attended. She (or rather "the Spirits" through her) made a general defence of the Spiritual theory—proving its possibility and reasonableness, from analogy, revelation, and experience, to the satisfaction of those who had already embraced the doctrine, and perhaps of others. She is a good speaker, at any rate; and it is wasting no time to hear her.

It will be seen that she is to lecture to promote charity, (not only christian charity in the abstract, but veritable physical "aid and comfort" for the poor,) to-morrow evening, at the Temple. Those who can't attend, can leave a mite at the door, to help the poor enjoy the New Year.

☞ The ladies of Portsmouth, aided by the Portsmouth Cornet Band, will hold a Fair at Jefferson Hall on the 30th and 31st of December, and Jan. 1st; one half the proceeds of which are to help in providing the Band with a uniform, and the other half to be given to the Ladies' Charitable Society, to aid the poor. A generous patronage of the public is solicited. The evening entertainment will be varied by singing and tableaux.

☞ Rev. Mr. Whiting's Address at the State Temperance Convention, is correctly reprinted on our first page to-day,—so that those persons who could not get them on Saturday, may now supply themselves with correct copies of a valuable and useful paper.

☞ The Bank of New Hampshire has declared a dividend of 3 per cent., payable Jan. 1, 1858, to holders of its stock on the 29th inst.

☞ Our enterprising friend Thacher advertises a large quantity of Figs of the best quality—"very good indeed," and put up in neat boxes of a few pounds each—just the pattern to take home of a Christmas or New Year.

BURGLARIES.—The store of Jenkins & Goodrich, in Market Street, was entered by prying open the back door, on Tuesday night; and ransacked thoroughly,—the thief carrying off four or five dollars in cents.

The Dye House in Penhallow street, was also entered through the back way, on the same night, and about $10 stolen from the office.

BURGLARY OR SOMETHING.—B. F. Chandler, Esq., Engineer at the Navy. Yard, tells us that on Wednesday evening, while he was at supper, some person or persons entered his house, and before he could ascertain who the intruders were, he found a pile of poultry of the best kind on his kitchen table. Mr. C. says if this is by mistake, the owner had better call as early as Friday morning, or it will be difficult to identify the property; but if purposely he wishes the unknown friend or friends a "merry Christmas,"—he is sure of one.

☞ Little Susy's Little Servants, is a new book for the holidays, in crown quarto, large type, and good illustrations, for the children.

Sydney Stuart, or Love Seeketh not her own,—is a fine moral tale for youth—by the author of "Cousin Kate."

Both these new books are for sale by J. F. Shores, Jr., and J. H. Foster, in this city. They are both published by Anson D. F. Randolph, 683 Broadway, New York, and are among the best books of their respective classes.

☞ Joseph Sanborn, aged seventy-six years, was drowned in Mascomy Lake, Enfield, N.H., on the 14th inst., by breaking through the ice. He has been a member of the Society of Shakers from his boyhood.

Wherever you be, or whate'er may befall,
Oh! speak a good word, or say nothing at all.
Love is sweeter than honey—strife bitter as gall,
Then speak a good word, or say nothing at all.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.—The greatest scourge of our nothern climate is disarmed of half its terrors, since we have a remedy so singulary efficacious as Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. It is performing many wonderful cures. A'

MARINE CHRONICLE.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

Ship Charles Hill, Hale, fm Calcutta, ar at Boston 22d.

FROM KANSAS.—St. Louis, Dec. 22.—A letter in the Democrat, dated 16th inst., says that General Lane was shot at Lecompton on the 15th, by a Government official, but does not give his name. The affair grew out of a political discussion.—Much excitement prevailed there.

A dispatch received at Brownsville this morning, says, that Major Russel, Capt. Van Vliet, and George N. Sanders passed down the river last evening, en route for Washington. They left Leavenworth on the 19th inst. F. P. Stanton was still the acting Governor, and apparently with approbation.

General Denver and General Harney had dispatched two companies of cavalry, upon Mr. Stanton's requisition, to suppress the rebellion at Fort Scott, where several lives had been sacrificed. Gen. Harney had also posted troops at Doniphan, Atchison, Kickapoo, Leavenworth, Lawrence, and Lecompton. It is thought that the legitimate vote will be very small: but many Missourians are going into the Territory to vote, which fact, taken in connection with Secretary Stanton's removal, may cause bloodshed at the polls.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 22.—Kansas advices of the 19th inst., say nothing about General Lane's having been shot. The report is not credited here.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(Herald correspondence.)—Southern gentlemen have an important movement on foot, which promises an easy settlement of the Kansas agitation. It is intended, when the Lecompton Constitution comes on, to take it up by the friends of the administration both as a party measure and a formal assertion of the Democratic principle of popular sovereignty. The Constitution will be passed with a proviso that it shall be presented to the people of Kansas for final acceptance and ratification. An enabling act will be incorporated in the new bill as an alternative in case the Lecompton Constitution is rejected by the people of Kansas.

It is rumored that the Tennessee delegation in Congress have unanimously resolved to reject the Lecompton Constitution.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(Herald correspondence.)—Quite a number of appointments were to-day sent into the Senate.—Mr. Sedgwick's nomination as District Attorney of New York, which was referred to the Judiciary Committee some days ago, was reported back without any recommendation. The Committee were equally divided on it. Mr. Seward said Mr. McKeon ought not to have been removed; he was a valuable and efficient officer, and the administration had disgraced itself by removing him. Mayor Wood came in for a large share of Mr. Seward's denunciations. The nomination was postponed for the present.

BILLY BOWLEGS.—Washington, Dec. 22. Billy Bowlegs has turned up again. The War Department has received dispatches from Col. Loomis, commanding in Florida, giving details of the army operations in capturing Indians and destroying their depots, supplies, etc. The hiding-place of Billy Bowlegs has at last been found, and he has received a severe blow by the capture of his women and children. Billy, it is said, has held a Council, and at the risk of his life entreated the Indians to come in.

INFORMATION WANTED.—A Windfall.—We are informed, by letter, from a gentleman of London, who acts as agent for next of kin, heirs at law and legatees, that a sum of money was bequeathed to "Captain Thomas Miller, New England, 1723—32," and that it is still due to his legal representatives. Who and where they are, is not known, and no more particular description of the original legatee can be obtained, than is given above; but if to be found, there is reason to believe that quite a handsome sum, principal and interest, awaits their legal claim.—Portland Argus.

We may be the lucky ones; at any rate, we shan't be affronted to receive the sum in question.

LUCK.—Mr. John Martin, of London, is being put in possession of the 'Jennings property,' which for so long a period has been without a recognized heir. The cash he inherits amounts to the gigantic sum of $80,000,000, while his income will be $1,250,000 per annum. That is something like a fortune. The inheritor has been wretchedly poor all his preceding life.

INCENDIARY FIRE AT BRATTLEBORO', VT.—Brattleboro', Vt., Dec. 22.—Another fire last night destroyed the barn of George Sargent, with eighteen head of cattle, one horse, some hogs, etc. Incendiary.

THE MORMON EXPEDITION.—St. Louis, Nov. 22.—An arrival from the Plains reports that two companies of the 5th Infantry had met with reverses, and that the depot at Fort Laramie had been threatened by the Mormons.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed by the Governor of that State, to certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year. All orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Whole tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number upon a ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $20 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount of prize they are entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full; no per centage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. Tyson & Co. are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. Orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the same comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $60,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, New York News, New York Dispatch, and New York Atlas. Write your address plainly, and direct to

Dover, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that today we sent a gentleman to New Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three others for our customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $3 size, and oblige, Yours, &c.,
DANIEL HATHORN & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and feel bound to say, it is powerful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do heartily recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the best preparation for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.
Yours Respectfully.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours without replenishing, and then having fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with. When this Stove is properly managed, without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser reasonably expect to save from 40 to 50 per cent. in fuel expense.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

Morning Chronicle.

☞ It has been the custom of the evangelical Churches of Hartford, Conn., to hold a joint meeting in behalf of the American Tract Society on the second Sunday in January, at which subscriptions and collections to the amount of two or three thousand dollars have annually been made. The Churches met on Tuesday evening, each represented by its pastor and four delegates, and after a calm and serious consideration of the recent course of the Society, passed resolutions condemning that course, and declaring that it is not expedient to make the usual demonstration in the Society's behalf, this year. There is no doubt that most Northern Churches will withdraw their support from the Tract Society.

CHARADE.

When the long silent chace its items sent out,
My first was coequal with dawn,
It spread o'er the Earth, o'er the Sea without doubt,
And shone on the prairie and lawn.
My next on the race course, the well marshalled field,
Aye thousands at famed Waterloo,
And Packenham surely my mate had to yield,
If tradition and hist'ry are true.
My whole on the sod the eye meets with glee:
See the schoolboy his gambols perform,
He waits not for mother to cool the hot tea,
But is blythe as the lark in the morn.
BOILING ROCK.

Answer to the Charade in last week's Chronicle,—Penknife.

Some of the greatest successes in the lives of individuals are the achievements of temper. Three years ago a well-off farmer of Springport, N. Y., had some little altercation with his wife, and while conversing with her took up a pail to go after some water. His long absence awakened the fears of his wife, who suspected at once that he had made an end of his life by throwing himself into the well. The well was accordingly searched, but no husband was found. The friendly neighbors industriously sought for, but found no traces of him. Last week while his family were at tea, the missing husband walked into the room with the pail of water in his hand, put it into its usual place, and sat down to the table as if nothing had happened. He had been gone just three years after his pail of water, had visited California and Australia and had "turned up" again with a handsome little fortune in his pocket.

SUPPOSED CASE OF SUSPENDED ANIMATION. Last Tuesday Mrs. Ruth Hill, wife of Capt. Merrill Hill of Rowly, complained of a sudden and severe pain in her temples, and on lying down immediately expired. The funeral was appointed for Friday, but there being some signs of animation it was postponed till the next day. On Saturday the body was carried to Byfield, where other members of the family are buried, and the funeral services performed; but as the body was still warm, and no signs of decomposition appeared, it was not committed to the grave, but was deposited in the vestry, where it remains to the present time—Monday morning. It is probably a case of catalepsy.—Newburyport Herald.

A correspondent of the New York Observer states that one of the officers of the United States frigate Congress recently sought and obtained forgiveness of his sins, in the garden of Gethsemane. The chaplain of the vessel, Rev. Mr. Noble, is a minister of the Presbyterian church, and quite a number of the crew of the Congress have, we are told, recently became hopefully pious.

Thomas Hoitt, of Gilford, went out on Sunday morning, the 13th inst., to kill a dog belonging to his son-in-law. He was found, soon after, dead, with the dog keeping watch by his side. The dog's head was badly hurt, and it is thought that the excitement caused the death of Hoitt.—Manchester Mirror.

☞ It seems the Mormons stole and drove off 930 head of cattle belonging to the trains of the contractors for our army on the way to Utah.

GOOD BEGINNING.—Dr. Coggswell has sold forty thousand packages of Antiphlogistic Salt, the past year.—Boston Trav.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22, 1857.

Dear Chronicle:—I have just returned from a visit to the city of "brotherly love." My sojourn in the place was short, numbering but three days; yet during that time I improved every hour to look about me, and I might find material for several epistles in a description of the many objects of interest visited—but these are all familiar to your readers. My own impressions, however, have never been cited by Gazetteer or Traveller. A railway ride of eighty miles across that territory so much abused and persecuted, known as Jersey, in the early ante-daybreak train, with no fire and four sleepy passengers in the car, is an episode in my travels devoid of varied incident for description.

An attack of the blues, consequent upon the above circumstances, was soon dispelled by a warm breakfast on my arrival at the Girard House—which being demolished, (the breakfast, not the house) I walked out to see the "elephant." The long, straight, wide streets, running at right angles with each other, present a very fine appearance. There is a very marked difference between the style of buildings in Philadelphia and those of New York; in P. there whole blocks of stores and dwellings are built in uniform order and size, and of the same material; brick seems to be preferred to any other building stone, although there are a number of marble and brown stone fronts.—The bricks are generally pressed, and of a high-colored red; the caps and sills of the windows and doors being of white marble, giving a very neat and beautiful aspect to the buildings, and such as I have never met with in any other city.

In New York there are very many structures that are faultless in design and finish; but it is seldom, if ever, you see a block of buildings erected of the same material and finished alike. Every different owner has a taste peculiar to himself, and carries out his ideas without regard to propriety; one house is erected after a certain model, the next goes up, but is a foot or two higher or lower than the other; the cornice is of a different order, or the window caps are curved, whereas the others are level; and so on through the block, in traversing which you will meet with almost every style of architecture and building.

Stone, although it gives a great variety to the eye, mars the beauty and completeness of the street. The great characteristic of New York is extravagance and magnificent irregularity; of Philadelphia, symmetry and scrupulous neatness. Chesnut street is the principal street, yet the difference in the noise and bustle of that and Broadway immediately arrests the attention of the New Yorker. The reason is very evident: in Philadelphia the immediate side streets are as convenient and handy as Chesnut street, as they run at right angles to the river, and are of equal width; thus relieving it of many of the carts and drays which would otherwise throng and crowd the main thoroughfare, and the more convenient shape of the city renders the use of omnibusses comparatively small.

Another local peculiarity, to the eye of the New Yorker, in Philadelphia, is the outward appearance of the people themselves, especially the men of business.—Their calm, sane, rational and, I might say, old-fashioned way of moving about in the affairs of this life, are in strange contrast with the insane rush and whirl in the vortex of trade on Broadway. In the matter of dress, on the ladies' side, the comparison is as much noticeable. The prevailing customs of the numerous Quaker population has evidently an influence, in this respect, over all classes of society.—During my whole stay in the city, I think I did not see one female whose dress could be called extravagant, or even fastidious. Their general sensible appearance would hardly pass the ordeal of "gentility" on Broadway or Fifth Avenue. Like the buildings, the prominent characteristic of their dress is neatness.

A long ride up Chesnut street brings us to the U. S. Mint, which extends from this street back to Olive street, above two hundred feet, with a front of one hundred and twenty feet on Chesnut street. We ascend a long flight of granite steps and enter. We are escorted through the building by a gentlemanly old man who very kindly enlightens us on all the objects of our curiosity. At one point we see the workmen very busy pouring the molten gold into moulds about four inches square; and when the contents are turned out solid bars, each is stamped with date of fusion, weight and worth. At another part of the building we enter a long room where are a large number of females, employed in stamping the coin by machinery,—the round pieces already cut to the required size. The machine is in full operation, as fast as the hand of the operator can convey the pieces from the box to the powerful press with which the impressions are made. They are stamped and thrown into another box at her feet.

The process of counting, which at first thought appears to be one of tedious labor, has been reduced to a very simple process. A large is board, perforated with numerous indentations, to a depth corresponding to the width of the coin which is about to be counted, thus admitting of but a single piece at once. A portion of the contents of the box which receives the coin from the stamping machine, is thrown upon this board and brushed over once or twice, by which process the holes are all filled, and the remaining ones swept back to the box. The amount of coin in the board being known, it is carried to the packing table, and the contents put into bags and marked, and are then ready to go forth to the world. This ingenious method of enumerating, reduces the work of hours to as many minutes. A very short hour was spent in going over the building, and at last we regained the street.

The Hotels of Philadelphia are of the first class in the country. The Girard House stands on Chestnut St., just above Independence Square. It is built of brownstone, and is perfect in finish. The La Pierre, Jones', and St. Lawrence, are also fine hotels, and are noted for their comfort, neatness, and excellence of fare.

Three days were thus quickly passed away, in viewing the places of note; and concluding my business at that time, taking a seat in one of the elegant cars of the Camden & Amboy R. R., I was in four hours again in the metropolis.

ISLINGTON.

FATAL DISEASE.

Unless the Kansas fever abates very soon it will prove fatal to all our prominent politicians. Already four Governors have fallen victims to it. Reeder expired through not without a struggle, during a visit to Washington; and Shannon was cut off suddenly after holding the office but a few months. Col. Geary, whose constitution seemed well adapted to the Kansas climate, sickened, after a short but useful career, and quietly shuffled off his official "coil." Then Hon. R. J. Walker undertook the dangerous task of governing this plague-stricken Kansas, carrying out with him a prescription which he believed would preserve himself and produce health and quiet in the Territory. But the Kansas "faculty" condemed the prescription, and prepared a new one of their own, which caused the disorder to break out anew with far more alarming symptoms. Gov. Walker retired from the territory, sick at heart, and yesterday, it was our painful duty to announce his official demise.

But the Kansas fever has proved fatal, not only to all the Governors sent out, but to all the Governors' Secretaries, to United States Senators and members of the House of Representatives, and to aspiring politicians in all parts of the country. The infection is rife in Washington, and even the White House is not entirely free from it. It is well known that when the Cincinnati Convention met, President Pierce was considered to be in such a poor state of health (politically) from an attack of the Kansas disease, that the Convention deemed it prudent not to nominate him.—Senator Douglas was also considered at that time to be in a low state of health, but "the Little Giant" has shown great recuperative energies.—N. Y. Sun, 19th.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1857.

CONGRESS.

On Wednesday, Dec. 23, the debate on the subject of Kansas was continued in the Senate. Mr. Stuart of Michigan assumed that Congress had full power to determine the conditions on which a State should be admitted, as well as whether it should be admitted at all. He thought that Congress should have evidence that the people of Kansas were satisfied with the form of government under which admission would be asked, as the power of Congress was to admit a State, not to coerce it. He believed the Lecompton Convention to be an enormous fraud, and that the people would not abide by its decision.

Mr. Broderick of California followed, generally agreeing with the views of Messrs. Douglas and Stuart. He thought the President and his Cabinet were alone responsible for the recent excitement and outbreaks in Kansas, and remarked that this was the first time a President had descended from his high position to coerce peaceable citizens to submit to illegal acts. He had rendered important service in the election of Mr. Buchanan, and was sorry to disagree with his party; yet he would have applauded the citizens of Kansas if they had flogged the delegates to the Lecompton Convention, and sent them out of the territory.

Senate adj. until Jan. 4th.

In the House, a preamble and resolution was offered, instructing the Committee on Territories to inquire into the propriety of excluding the delegate from Utah from his seat in the House, in consequence of the rebellion of that territory against the government of the United States. A long debate ensued, during which the present attitude of the territory, and the position of the United States, were freely discussed. On motion of Mr. Banks, so much of the President's message as refers to Utah was referred to the Committee on Territories. House adj. to Jan. 4.

GOV. WALKER ON THE STAND.

One of the most frequently repeated arguments in the papers in favor of the Lecompton Constitution, is, that the convention which framed that instrument was legally and regularly chosen, and that the free State men chose not to participate in the election from factious and disorganizing motives. This argument has appeared time and again within the past four months, while we have constantly maintained the contrary, and to all reasonable minds adduced sufficient proof to show that the bona fide people of Kansas were in a large measure disfranchised, and kept "by no fault of their own" from all participation in the choice of delegates to their Convention.—Read what Gov. Walker says on this point in his recent letter of resignation—as follows:

But if acquiescence can be presumed in any case, surely it cannot be in that of Kansas, where so many delegates to Convention violated their pledge to submit the Constitution to a vote of the people; where the delegates who signed the Constitution represented scarcely one-tenth the people; and where nearly one-half the counties of the territory were disfranchised, and (by no fault of theirs) did not, and could not, vote at the election for delegates to the Convention.

On reference to the territorial law under which the Convention was assembled, thirty-four regular organised counties were assigned as election districts for delegates to the Convention. In each and all of these counties it was required by law that a census should be taken and the voters registered; and when this was completed, that delegates to the Convention should be apportioned accordingly. In nineteen of these counties there was no census, and therefore there could be no such apportionment there of delegates, based upon such census. And in fifteen of these counties there was no registry of voters. These fifteen counties, including many of the oldest organized counties in the territory, were entirely disfranchised, and did not give, and by no fault of their own, could not give, a solitary vote for delegates to the Convention.

This result was superinduced by the fact that the Territorial Legislature appointed all the sheriffs and the Probate Judges in all these counties, to whom was assigned the duty, by law, of making this census and registry. These officers were political partizans, dissenting from the views and opinions of the people of these counties, as proved by the election of October last.

I repeat, that in nineteen counties of thirty-four, there was not a census. In fifteen counties out of thirty-four there was no registry, and not a solitary vote was given or could be given for delegates to the Convention in anyone of these counties. Surely, then, it cannot be said that such a Convention, chosen by scarcely more than one-tenth of the present voters of Kansas, represented the people of that Territory, and could rightfully impose a Constitution upon them without their consent. These nineteen counties, in which here was no census, constituted a majority of the counties of the Territory, and these fifteen counties in which there was no registry, gave a much larger vote at the October election, even with the six months qualification, than the whole vote given to the delegates who signed the Lecompton Constitution on the 7th November last.

CASS AND WALKER.

We have just read the letter of Mr. Cass, Secretary of State, to Hon. Robert J. Walker, announcing the acceptance by the President, of his resignation. Mr. Cass says that it would be "impossible for the department to reply" to Mr. Walker's letter. This is certainly true, in a different sense from what was intended. Mr. Cass adheres with a daring hardihood to the assertion that the President never desired or intended that the people of Kansas should have any voice in settling the form of their government, except as regards the question of slavery.

We also read the letter of Mr. Cass to Gen. Denver, the newly-appointed Secretary of the Territory of Kansas. This document indicates the specific charges which led to the removal of Secretary Stanton, and also contains the instructions to Gen. Denver, and suggests the plan of action which the administration desires him to pursue. It recognizes the bogus convention and its acts, as all fair and legal.

From Kansas.—St. Louis, Dec. 23.—The Democrat has news from Lecompton, that the Legislature passed an act submitting the Calhoun Constitution to the vote of the Territory on the 5th of January, in three forms. First, Constitution with slavery; second, Constitution without slavery; and third, against the Constitution. Stringent measures have been adopted for watching the polls on the 21st.—Commissioners were appointed in each precinct to take names of voters, so as to detect false returns. A good many Missourians were going over to vote.

An exciting affray occurred at Doniphan, in which a Free State man named Latham had been murdered. The report of Gen. Lane's death was false. Secretary Stanton had rejected the Militia and other obnoxious bills, which were not insisted on by the Legislature.

St. Louis, Dec. 23.—The Democrat has further advices from Kansas, stating that the Legislature has passed an act repealing the law authorizing the Constitutional Convention.

The Militia Law was passed over Acting Governor Stanton's veto. Gen. Lane is appointed Major General, with eight Brigadiers, also an Adjutant, and a full military organization.

Burning of the Steamer Col. Edwards. The telegraph has briefly announced the burning of the steamer Col. Edwards, on the Red river, 12th inst., and the loss of twenty lives thereby. From the New Orleans papers we learn that this frightful disaster took place at a wood landing about nine miles above Alexandria. The fire broke out about half-past five o'clock in the morning, opposite the boilers.—The Edwards was tied to the bank and aking on wood at the time. The progress of the fire was fearfully rapid. Within the space of three minutes the whole boat was in flames. The only way of escape was by jumping into the river from the after part of the boat, and thus many lives were lost. The number is believed to be at least twenty. Only a partial list of the lost is given. We see no names of Northern people in it.

Novel Law Suit.—An action for debt by a wife against her husband, to recover money loaned her husband, being property acquired after marriage, was tried in the common pleas of Perry county, Pennsylvania, a few days ago, Judge Graham presiding. The question was whether a wife could maintain a suit against her husband. The Court decided that she could, and delivered a verdict for the plaintiff for $2508.

The Mormon Capital.—Great Salt Lake City is laid out on a magnificent scale. It is four miles in length, by three in breadth; the streets running at right angles, and 132 feet wide, with sidewalks 20 feet in width. Each building lot contains an acre and a quarter of land; and a stream of pure water running through the city, is made by an ingenious plan, to flow on each side of every street, and to irrigate every lot.

Remarkable Longevity.—The Worcester Transcript states that the widow of the late Rev. John Page, of Spencer, is still living in that town, at the age of one hundred and three years. She is still in the enjoyment of good health.

Liquor Seizure.—About three hundred and fifty gallons of various kinds of liquor were seized in Milford, Mass., last week, and is now stored under the town house, waiting the appearance of some one claiming to be its owner.—Lowell News

Personal.—Washington Irving, now seventy-five years old, walks to Dr. Creighton's Church, in Tarrytown, and back, five miles, nearly every Sunday.

An Ungrateful Villain.—Matthew Griswold, of Lyme, Ct., saw a man named William Austin, in the Sound, on the bottom of a boat, in a perilous condition, a few days since, and rescued him from drowning, took him to his house, warmed, fed and cared for him—took him to the cars and gave him three dollars to reach Norwalk, where he said he lived. The Saturday night following this, the ungrateful scamp entered the house of his benefactor and stole about $1300 worth of property, but was caught at the Essex ferry with the property upon him, and has been bound over for trial. The New Haven Register moves that the fellow be put back in the Sound, where he was picked up, and "anchored" there.

☞ The Portland Advertiser says Mrs. Betsey Towle, an intemperate woman, over sixty years of age, was found dead in Mr. Isaac Libbey's lot, Parsonsfield, on Sunday the 13th inst. On Saturday, the 21st of November, she left her brother's house, which is about half a mile from any public road, to go about two miles, where she had engaged to work. Nothing more was heard of her till Thursday, the 10th inst., when it was ascertained she had not been at the house for which she started. On Friday and Saturday, search was made without finding her. On Sunday morning, her body was found by her nephew, only a few rods from her brother's house, which was within sight. Her bundle, work basket, hood, shawl, and bottle of liquor, were scattered for two or three rods from where she lay. Her body, which was badly bruised from falling, had remained exposed for upwards of three weeks, and when found was in such a state that it could only be hurried into a box and buried without ceremony.

☞ A young man of Keokuk, Iowa, recently married a young, pretty and modest woman, with whom he lived in much happiness till one day opening a letter addressed to his wife he discovered that she had another husband in Ohio. Rushing home to his pretty wife, the enraged husband showed the letter and asked explanations, when she quietly remarked that she had nothing to say, only that she had still another one residing in Pennsylvania. The victim has sued for a divorce.

Washing Away a City.—The Scioto River it seems is fast washing away the city of Portsmouth in Ohio. The Tribune says it has worked off several acres of bottom land, to the steep bank, and worked that down to Fifth street; taken all of Fifth street between Jefferson street and the city limits on the west; and is now cutting across to the western end of Fourth street. Six blocks, containing twelve city lots, that originally fronted on Fifth street, are now washed by the river, which is taking them off at the rate of a foot per day. It is a common thing to see a dozen square yards drop off at once. In fact the most of two blocks is already gone.

Court Martial.—The Gloucester Telegraph states that orders have been issued by the commander-in-chief for the arrest of Capt. Caverly, of Lowell, and Capt. Cole, of Fall River, commanders of volunteer companies of Massachusetts militia.—The allegation against them is that they have made false returns of the number of men in their companies, with a view to the payment of bounty money. A court martial has not been held in Massachusetts for ten years.

A Molasses Speculation.—A lot of molasses landing on Widgery's wharf, Portland, was originally imported into Baltimore, where it could have been sold for about 55 cents per gallon, but was held for a higher price. Not finding a sale there, it was re-shipped to Boston, and not meeting any buyers there, was again re-shipped to Portland, where it is selling as comes from the vessel, at twenty-five cents per gallon.

Our "Better Citizens."—One of the great objections urged against the election of Mr. Hall as Mayor of Boston, in the recent contest, was the fact that he had resided but a few years in Boston. The Boston correspondent of the Worcester Transcript writes that the most patriotic natives who objected to Mr. Hall on that account, were Irishmen who had just come over.

Notice.—The Sullivan County Temperance Society will hold the next annual meeting at Newport, January 6th, 1858, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the Congregational meeting-house. A full attendance of the friends of Temperance is respectfully solicited. Henry M. Scales, Sec'ry.

December 17, 1857.

Rochester, Mass., Dec. 23.—The inquest into the death of Mr. Little resulted in the holding of Mrs. Little and her brother for trial for murder.

DOUGLAS, PIERCE AND BURKE.

The Concord, N. H., Democratic Standard, i. e. Mr. Burke, has an article taking away the credit of the Nebraska-Kansas bill from Pierce, and giving it to Douglas. It says:—

The adoption of the Kansas policy—the leading principle of which is, that the people of the territory shall be permitted to prescibe and establish their own domestic institutions—originated with Stephen A. Douglas, Senator from Illinois. He was the author and originator of the Kansas policy, and of the Kansas-Nebraska act, and not Franklin Pierce. On the contrary, Franklin Pierce opposed the measure until he was forced into it by certain democratic Senators, who went to him and told him that his support of that measure should be the condition on which they would support his administration. Pierce was then in alliance with the Buffalo freesoilers of New York; for whose support he had proscribed Dickinson, Bronson and other patriotic and national democrats of that State. This circumstance induced many of the democratic Senators to believe that Pierce was unreliable upon the slavery question, and they were resolved to put him to the test of a public measure. Pierce recoiled from the proposed policy and resisted it, but was finally compelled to yield his assent to it; but he did it reluctantly and with bad grace, and attempted to prejudice Southern Senators against it, by telling them, that it would lead to the establishment of free States below the line of the Missouri Compromise. Such was the purport of his conversation with Senator Clemens, of Alabama, which induced that gentleman to oppose the measure. It doubtless had the same effect upon other gentlemen from the South in Congress who opposed the measure.

Now let the reader look at another extract, from the Standard, and then say what he will of the pretence in some papers in our midst, that there was not much trouble in Kansas.

Did Mr. Pierce perform the duty thus imposed upon him, and to perform which, he was so amply provided with means? The history of Kansas, for the last three years, furnishes the answer. He did not perform it. Civil commotion prevailed within the territory. Blood was shed, and repeated murders committed. During the last two years of his administration, civil discord and tumult prevailed in the territory, which he might have quelled in three weeks of time, if he had been so disposed, or was capable of doing it. The ballot-box was invaded and the people of Kansas were cheated out of their rights of suffrage and election. He permitted all these things to take place. Nay, in order to conciliate the people of the slave-holding States, and secure his re-nomination for the Presidency, he connived and winked at these crimes and outrages. The blood of all the murders in Kansas is upon the skirts of Franklin Pierce, and for it he will have to answer at at the bar of God, if he escapes the indignant condemnation of the People.

Against this stupendous crime, he cannot put in the defence that he was unable to suppress the outrages to which we allude. He could have suppressed them. He not only had the army at his command, but he actually sent a portion of it to Kansas, on the false pretence of preserving order. And while there, all the army did, was, Cromwell-like, to disperse the Topeka Convention, who were committing no crime; for assembling in convention, debating, and even passing laws, was no crime against the United States.

This is remarkable: what follows is more so.

But, that Mr. Pierce could have suppressed all the disorders in Kansas, and given full protection to the people of the territory, is proved by the results of Mr. Buchanan's policy. In his Inaugural Address, Mr. Buchanan proclaimed that the principle of the Kansas Bill should be honestly carried out. He sent the army there, and an able and patriotic man with it for Governor. Peace and order were at once established, and in six months the Kansas question has been virtually settled.

Settled: is it? Perhaps the administration will give Mr. Burke a good office if he will make it stay settled.

It is rather droll, that Burke here lauds Walker and Pres. Buchanan together, and Douglas with them,—while really, Douglas and Walker are now against Pres. Buchanan in this matter.

Another paper says:

The reports from the West indicate that Senator Douglas will lead off the democracy of that section, in the most triumphant manner. In Michigan, Ohio, and Illinois, the papers and politicians side with him. It will be seen that his bill for the adjustment of Kansas matters has been reported. Upon that will be the great fight of this session of Congress. Some southern members seem determined to read him out of the party, but he shows so strong a front that Mr. Buchanan is more likely to yield.

Mr. A. B. L. Myers: Dear Sir—I have, from childhood, suffered with periodical turns of the Sick-headache, increasing until the last year. THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

☞ Services were held in the Universalist Church on Christmas Eve. The interior of the building was appropriately trimmed for the occasion. The elaborate festooning and evergreen obelisks, with their bases adorned with the names of past preachers of this society, presented a neat and pleasing appearance. At the Stone Church, appropriate services were also held.

The St. John's (Episcopal) and St. Mary's (Catholic) Churches have also been appropriately decked with evergreen, and the usual Christmas services will be held this day, Friday.

Also, a Spiritual Lecture at the Temple. this evening.

☞ As we shall keep Christmas, today, no Daily Chronicle will be published on Saturday. Our Weekly is published on Thursday, for the same reason.

☞ The Gazette says that our townsman Charles March, Esq., is at present in Washington. He is endeavoring to procure from Congress an additional appropriation for our new Custom House, so that in proportions, accommodations and material it may be really ornamental to the city and useful to the public. Our citizens are already much indebted to Mr. March for his exertions in procuring the original appropriation, a little more than a year since.

IMMACULATE. — The courteous and extremely accurate editor of the Chronicle, for a week or two past has been endeavoring to prove that the Gazette is the only paper which makes mistakes or blunders, as he calls them.—N. H. Gazette, Dec. 24.

No, no, says Uncle Toby—the Gazette is not alone in blunders, but they are made almost every where—but it certainly can enjoy a pre-eminence in self-contradictions, a few of which we have shown up.

☞ Thomas Norton, Esq., of this city, who has been living in Winona, Minnesota, since April, returned home on Wednesday last—we are glad to learn, in good health and spirits.

☞ We learn that the Fair in aid of the Ladies' Charitable Society and the Cornet Band, is deferred till Jan. 4th, 5th and 6th.

☞ The Atlantic Monthly for January, is just published by Phillips, Sampson & Co. and for sale by A Williams & Co. Boston, and by J. F. Shores, jr., Portsmouth. Contents:

Notes on Domestic Architecture,
Maya, the Princess, Catawba Wine,
The Winds and the Weather,
Akin by Marriage, Spartacus,
Who paid for the Prima Donna?
Two Rivers,
The Autocrat of the Breakfast-table,
Agassiz's Natural History,
Tacking Ship Off-Shore,
Mamoul (Life in Calcutta,) Books, The Diamond Lens,
The Sculptor's Funeral,
The President's Message,
The Wedding Veil, Literary Notices.

THE UTAH EXPEDITION.—St. Louis, Dec. 23.—An express has just arrived Leavenworth from the Utah expedition, bringing information that the whole force, with the exception of Col. Cooke and his command, had concentrated at Black's Fort, and were moving towards Fort Bridger.—Their progress was very slow, only two or three miles a day being sometimes made.—The animals were giving out hourly, and it was thought that all would perish this winter. The supply trains were all up with the military, and provisions were abundant.

The report that two companies of Infantry had met with reverses on the route to Utah, is without foundation.

The companies of Col. Sumner's Regiment, the First Cavalry, had recently taken up winter quarters at Fort Riley.

☞ The mail robber, Tuckerman, has stolen checks, notes, drafts and money amounting to upwards of $300,000.—Tuckerman remains under a careful watch, it being feared that if an opportunity occurred he would destroy himself.

☞ Credit is wealth, strength, power; but, as Mirabeau forcibly said, Credit is suspicion asleep, and terrible is the awakening. Governments abuse credit, and pawn the labor of unborn generations. Private persons abuse credit, and inflict sufferings around them scarcely less than those endured from an invading army.

"Is Miss Blinkins engaged?" asked Mr. Sanders of the Irish girl who answered his ring at the door.

"An' is it engaged, you say? Faix, an' I can't tell you, sir; but she kissed Mr. Vincent last evening as if she never seen the likes uv him; an' it's engaged I b'lave they are, sir."

☞ Mr. John Sawtell, stable-keeper in Charlestown, Mass., went into his hayloft and fell into a rack, in such a manner that he could not extricate himself, and lay there about two hours before he was found. Several of his ribs were broken, and he was otherwise injured.

☞ We publish an interesting letter from "Islington" on our first page this morning.

DOVER, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that today we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity (the 6 dozen we had on hand being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three for our customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $2 size; ours very respfly.

DANIEL LATHROP & CO.

Hickory Grove, St. Louis Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but to our surprise and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that you have as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for the diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully.

GREENVILLE, Ky., Dec 1, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and adorning the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of air, at once heated, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article to which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly made.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent. in fuel expense.

TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of "Tight, Tight, Tight" are numbered, and gone forever, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned: BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are ALONE the certain panacea for the the troubles incident to female disorganization; they are ALONE the all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to whole sex; more valuable to the married than money, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. Therefore, be it KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced by other nostrums. The PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered SOLE and VOID that is to say the PILLS MUST NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

☞ Seventeen different kinds of bees are indigenous to Brazil, of which thirteen are stingless, and four make sour honey. Sweet lemons also grow in Brazil,—and of such peculiar sweetness that the beef of animals that eat the foliage of this tree, is strongly flavored by it. Great country, that Brazil.

☞ The editor of the New York Journal of Commerce, has a church of his own in New Haven, which cost $35,000. He employs two ministers, choir, organist, sexton and all—whose responsibility is simply and directly to the one man who employs them, and can dismiss them at his pleasure. Yet the "South Congregational Church" has increased, in five years, from 29 members to 178.

RESUMING.—We learn from the Fall River Star that several of the leading manufacturing establishments in that city are about to resume operations—the Annawan, Fall River, Watuppa Cotton Mills, Shove's Knitting Cotton establishment, and probably the Massasoit Co.

LICENSE LAW.—The citizens of Gardiner have lately been applying the license law to rum-sellers. They attacked a wholesale store through the owner of the building, and he compelled his tenant to vacate his premises, "horse, foot, and dragoons." This is the available point of the law. Hold the owners of buildings accountable for the sales of their tenants, and oblige them to eject the occupants, or pay the penalty: Five dollars a day for every day in which rum is sold in any of their buildings. This can be done.—Augusta (Me.) Banner.

CONVICTIONS.—In the Municipal Court in Boston, Wednesday morning, the jury who tried the cases of Sylvester Donahoe and Joseph Beatty Tuesday, upon indictments for selling liquor framed under the "nuisance act," so called, returned a verdict of "guilty" in each case. Of the numerous cases which have been tried under the "nuisance act" during the last few terms of the Court, these we believe are but the second and third convictions. The defendants will be sentenced on Saturday next.—Boston Journal.

UNRIVALLED ATTRACTIONS!!

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY.
TWO GREAT MAGAZINES IN ONE.
90,000 COPIES THE FIRST MONTH!
MAGNIFICENT PROGRAMME FOR 1858.
$20,000
IN SPLENDID WORKS OF ART.
FIVE-DOLLAR ENGRAVING
TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER.
THE GREAT LIBRARY OFFER.
AGENTS GETTING RICH!!
The union of EMERSON'S MAGAZINE and PUTNAM'S MONTHLY has given to the consolidated work a circulation second to but one similar publication in the country, and has secured for it a combination of literary and artistic talent probably unrivaled by any other magazine in the world. During the first month, the sale in the trade and demand from subscribers exceeded 90,000 copies, and the numbers already issued of the consolidated work are universally conceded to have surpassed, in the richness of their literary contents, and the profuseness of their pictorial illustrations, any magazine ever before issued from the American press. Encouraged by these evidences of favor, the publishers have determined to commence the new volume in January with still additional attractions, and to offer such inducements to subscribers, as cannot fail to place it, in circulation, at the head of American magazines. With this view they now announce the following splendid programme. They have purchased that superb and costly steel-plate engraving,
"THE LAST SUPPER,"
and will present a copy of it to every three-dollar subscriber for the year 1858. It was engraved at a cost of over $9000, by the late celebrated A. L. Dick, from the original of Raphael Morghen, after Leonardo Da Vinci, and is the largest steel-plate engraving ever executed in this country, being three times the size of the ordinary three-dollar engravings.
The first impressions of this engraving are held at $10, and it was the intention of the artist that none of the engravings should ever be offered for a sum less than $5, being richly worth that amount. Thus every three-dollar subscriber will receive the magazine one year—cheap at $3—and this splendid engraving, richly worth $5: thus getting for $3 the value of $8.
We shall commence striking off the engravings immediately, yet it can hardly be expected that impressions of so large a plate can be taken as fast as they will be called for by subscribers. We shall, therefore, furnish them in the order in which the subscriptions are received. Those who desire to obtain their engravings early, and from the first impressions, should send in their subscriptions without delay. The engraving can be sent on rollers, by mail, or in any other manner, as subscribers shall order.
$20,000 IN WORKS OF ART.
In addition to the superb engraving of "THE LAST SUPPER," which will be presented to every three-dollar subscriber for 1858, the publishers have completed arrangements for the distribution, on the 25th day of Dec., 1858, of a series of splendid works of art, consisting of 100 rich and rare Oil Paintings, valued at from $100 to $1 each. Also, 200 magnificent Steel-Plate Engravings, worth from $3 to $5 each, and 1000 choice Holiday Books, worth from $1 to $5 each, making, in all, over THREE THOUSAND GIFTS, worth TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.
INCLOSE $3 TO THE PUBLISHERS AND YOU WILL COMMENCE RECEIVING THE MAGAZINE BY RETURN MAIL. YOU WILL ALSO RECEIVE WITH THE FIRST COPY A NUMBERED SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPT, ENTITLING YOU TO THE ENGRAVING OF "THE LAST SUPPER,"
and a chance to draw one of these "THREE THOUSAND PRIZES."
REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD SUBSCRIBE FOR EMERSON'S MAGAZINE
For 1858,
First: Because its literary contents will, during the year, embrace contributions from over ONE HUNDRED different writers and thinkers, numbering among them some of the most distinguished of American authors.
Second: Because its editorial departments, "Our Studio," "Our Window," and "Our Olio," will each be conducted by an able editor—and it will surpass, in the variety and richness of its editorial contents, any other magazine.
Third; Because it will contain, during the year, nearly six hundred original pictorial illustrations from designs by the first American artists.
Fourth: Because for the sum of $3 you will receive this splendid monthly, more richly worth that sum than other magazine, and the superb engraving of "THE LAST SUPPER," worth $5.
Fifth: Because you will very likely draw one of the three thousand prizes to be distributed on the 25th day of Dec., 1858—perhaps one that is worth $1000.
Notwithstanding that these extraordinary inducements can hardly fail to accomplish the objects of the publishers without further efforts, yet they have determined to continue through the year
THE GREAT LIBRARY OFFER.
To any person who will get up a club of twenty-four subscribers, either at one or more post offices, we will present a splendid Library, consisting of over Forty Large Bound Volumes, embracing the most popular works in the market. The club may be formed at the club price, $2 a year, without the engraving, or at the full price, $3, with the engraving of the Last Supper to each subscriber. List and description of the Library, and specimen copy of the Magazine, will be forwarded on receipt of 25 cents. Over 200 Libraries, or 8000 volumes, have already been distributed in accordance with this offer, and we should be glad of an opportunity to furnish a Library to every clergyman, to every school teacher, or to some one at every post office in the country.
MAKING MONEY.
The success which our agents are meeting with is almost astonishing. Among the many evidences of this fact, we present the following from one of our agents already in the field:
"I have now been at work canvassing on your Magazine one week, and am delighted with the business. It is different from canvassing for anything else I ever tried. I am sure to get a subscriber in every family where they can rake together three dollars. I am never treated with indifference anywhere, for the first thing I do is to unroll my engraving before I let anybody know what I am after, and then I get them interested before they know what a splendid offer I am going to make them. Sometimes they ask my price for the engraving, and I tell them $5, and when I offer them the engraving and Magazine one year for three dollars they are perfectly astonished. I did not get to going well for the first two or three days:
The 1st day I got.....2 subscribers.
The 2d day I got.....7 subscribers.
The 3d day I got.....6 subscribers.
The 4th day I got.....18 subscribers.
The 5th day I got.....9 subscribers.
The 6th day I got.....17 subscribers.
First week.....56 subscribers.
I shall do much better next week. It is the engraving that does the business. Everybody wants the engraving. You may calculate upon from one to two thousand subscribers from me this winter. I am going to make enough out of the business to buy me a farm in the spring."
With such inducements as we offer, anybody can obtain subscribers. We invite every gentleman out of employment, and every lady who desires a pleasant money-making occupation, to apply at once for an agency. Applicants should inclose 25 cents for a specimen copy of the Magazine, which will always be forwarded with answer to application by return mail.
SPECIMEN ENGRAVING.
As we desire to place in the hands of every person who purposes to get up a club, and also of every agent, a copy of the engraving of "THE LAST SUPPER," as a specimen, each applicant inclosing us $3 will receive the engraving, post paid, by return mail, also specimens of our publications, and one of the numbered subscription receipts, entitling the holder to the Magazine one year and to a chance in the distribution. This offer is made only to those who desire to act as agents or to form clubs. Address

THE NEW YORK
STEAM SAW-MILL
AND
MACHINE COMPANY.
CAPITAL $250,000
COMBINATION
AND OTHER IMPROVED MACHINERY.
They have purchased the entire machinery business heretofore carried on by J. M. Emerson & Co., also the Montgomery Works at Yonkers, on the Hudson, near this city, and with the experience and facilities combined in its organization are prepared to furnish machinery of all kinds at more liberal rates (than has ever been offered at any other establishment.
THE COMBINATION SAW-MILL was patented Oct., 1856, and is now generally acknowledged to be the cheapest, most practical, and efficient lumber manufacturing machine in the world. A large number of them are in successful operation in different portions of this country, Canada, Cuba and South America, and wherever their merits have been tested they are being adopted by lumber manufacturers in preference to all other mills.
The following letter expresses the general opinion of those who are using the Combination Mill:
Messrs. EMERSON & Co.—Gentlemen: I have tried the saw-mill purchased of you, and I will say that it performs well, and more than meets my expections. I am well pleased with its performance. I set it upon a small stream that furnishes a constant water about as thick as my little finger, which was much more than sufficient to supply the boiler. We are able to cut 2000 feet of beautiful lumber in 12 hours, with something less than one cord of wood. It is the very thing we so much needed in our country for a long time. With a little trouble and expense, we are able to move it from five to ten miles per day, and set it up in the heart of the timber, which saves the great burden of hauling the logs a great distance to the mill.
Yours, respectfully, JESSE KERR, JR.
Louisville, Tennessee.
The Company have purchased LUND'S PATENT FEED ARRANGEMENT, which is illustrated and described in the Scientific American for Oct. 24. This adds greatly to the efficiency of the mill.
THE COMBINATION MILL, with all the recent improvements, and steam power of 15 horses, is capable of sawing from 3000 to 4000 feet in twelve hours, and is sold for $1650.
THE NEW YORK CIRCULAR SAW-MILL
Is manufactured only by this Company. It is of superior construction, and sold for 25 per cent less than other mills of no greater capacity. A mill with 36 to 54-inch saw can be sold for $450 to $500; and with a 20 horse engine and boiler is sold for $2200.
STEAM ENGINES and BOILERS; ENGINES of from one to 100 horse power; LOCOMOTIVE, TUBULAR, FLUE and CYLINDER BOILERS furnished at greatly reduced prices from former quotations.
Drawings, with plans and specifications for buildings and machinery, furnished gratis to our customers.
Competent mechanics are sent out to put up and set in operation our machinery, when required.
We also manufacture SHINGLE MACHINES, PLANING MACHINES, SUGAR-MILLS, and MACHINERY IN GENERAL.
Special attention paid to getting up SHAFTING and ULLEYS for manufactories, and all kinds of MILLWORK.
This Company are selling in great numbers a PATENT CONICAL BURR-STONE MILL, for flour, corn meal, and all kinds of feed, which is pronounced by experienced millers, both in this country and in Europe, THE BEST MILL EVER CONSTRUCTED. It will grind more grain in the same time, and with half the power, of any mill of the same price in the market.
We also furnish other styles of GRIST-MILLS, when required.
THE United States Journal,

In addition to its usual attractions, which have already given it a circulation of nearly 100,000 COPIES per month, it will hereafter contain a complete record of all new and valuable MECHANICAL and AGRICULTURAL IMPROVEMENTS, embracing a larger amount of practical information from experienced writers in their specialities than any other publication in the world.

OPULENCE vs. CIVILIZATION.

It has long been a question among political theorists, whether opulence has a tendency to promote or retard the progress of civilization; and their conclusions are as discordant as they are various. A few philosophers of the Scottish school, among whom are Smith and Ferguson, have decided that without wealth there can be little or no refinement and cultivation; and to this decision De Tocqueville, a French economist, has given his assent. They have undertaken to prove by many arguments and numerous illustrations, that literary pursuits can only flourish in times of peace and security; and that freedom from warlike convulsions is the legitimate offspring of affluence. De Tocqueville, in his Democracy in America, has also produced a long dissertation upon the advantages of a well-governed aristocracy, making it the key-stone of the intellectual arch and the true palladium of literature. It is upon the same hypothesis that he founds his reasoning against the cultivation of letters in republican governments, and especially where there is such an equality among citizens as in the United States.

The objections which lie against the theory of these distinguished civilians, are of sufficient weight to form an exception to, if not a refutation of, the postulate upon which they base their arguments. It is assumed by them that the progress of learning corresponds with the development of the sources of opulence and cultivation of the arts of trade and speculation. History affirms the opposite to be true. According to Rollin, Greece attained her highest pitch of wealth and magnificence during the period of Alexander's conquests in Asia, which happened about 325 before Christ. Before the time of this celebrated conqueror, flourished Homer, Euripides, Socrates, Plato, Thucydides and Aristotle—the most distinguished luminaries of Grecian literature.

Rome furnishes us with testimony equally decisive and convincing. One of the most celebrated of the Roman authors regards the time immediately preceding the subversion of the republic by Cæsar, as that in which her temporal prosperity culminated. The subjugation of Gaul and Spain had filled her treasury to overflowing, and her trade was more extensive than it ever had been before. Now, if the doctrine of the above-mentioned philosophers be true, literature and the arts should have been cultivated at this period with unexampled zeal and assiduity. But of this we have no proof. It was not until a later epoch that civilization received the support of Plutarch, Pliny and Galen; of Seneca, Horace and Virgil.

In addition to the examples afforded by history, of the study of letters during periods of national poverty and insignificance, there is a manifest discrepancy in the statement of the argument. A close inspection of the principles upon which all first governments are founded, would lead to a different conclusion from that enforced by either Ferguson or De Tocqueville. However true it may be of individuals, that affluence is a security against the distractions of war and political convulsions, the same maxim by no means holds good in respect to nations. The leading precept with all monarchs seems to be that dollars inoperative are dollars no longer. Now the natural effect of successful foreign trade and an harmonious combination of internal interests, is the increase of wealth. If it be found that commerce and trade are the more feasible road to riches, there will be greater devotion to these pursuits, and less enthusiasm manifested in the cause of learning. So wealth augments and literature declines. Nor is this the ultimate consequence of the policy of our philosophers. No sooner does the national treasury become full by advantageous trade, than ambition suggests a use for the surplus which is neither authorized by nature nor dictated by a love of humanity. Happy in the possession of the means, nations soon grasp at the ends of war, viz., conquest. The tendency of all sanguinary struggles for power is to lessen the facilities for study, and they frequently result in the total annihilation of the advancements made in refinement for centuries, as in the Egyptian, Grecian and Roman conquests.

Thus we see that the legitimate offspring of wealth is not freedom from foreign and domestic molestation; but, on the contrary, a spirit of repugnancy to restraint, and a desire of aggression by war. If we search the volume of history, we shall find the men whose labors are but a synonym for civilization itself, sharing all the hardships and toils and privations of this life in common with the poorest and least favored of the human family. There are few meteors in literature that have shown forth with meridian splendor, while supported by the luxury, magnificence and splendor of affluence. On the contrary, most of them have lived and died in circumstances similar to those of the celebrated Haller, who, when the bailiffs came to remove the bed upon which he lay, exclaimed in the agony of death—"Spare my bed for a little while—only till I can find another in the grave.

INFANT SALVATION.

NO. II.

Our old school friend J., who wrote in the Congregational Journal in condemnation of the doctrine of infant salvation, says:

Most people, but especially Infidels, Unitarians, Universalists, and Arminians of all denominations, are horror-struck at the belief of infant damnation.

And again:

If I am not deceived, nearly all, at the present day, believe that infants dying in infancy are surely saved.

The old gentleman is not deceived in this matter—nearly all do so. But he says:

Are we not obliged to infer from some of the fundamental doctrines of the gospel, as well as from numerous passages of the Scriptures, that some infants may be, and probably are, lost?

This is his own creed, merely. It is no test of orthodoxy now, whatever it may have been in bygone days.

Bowdoin, a writer in the Portland Advertiser, says:

The "damnation of infants"—a most revolting tenet—is well nigh, if not quite exploded, among the Congregationalists of New England. The clergy of that denomination in this city, to a man I think, disbelieve it. Dr. Carruthers, of the second parish,—one of the leading divines of the age, and a man who has made and will make his mark in any station,—preached an able and unanswerable discourse on this subject, a few months since. It was so satisfactory that a request was made that it should be repeated, with which the Rev. Doctor promptly replied.

I had the pleasure of hearing it, and said at its conclusion "amen" to it with all my heart. It should be heard by all. It carried consolation to many a bereaved parent who had been tossed upon a bed of affliction by the death of a darling child, to which had been added the terrible horror that the lost one to earth was destined to writhe in torment forever! a most horrible thought, which has paled the cheek and frozen the heart of many a loving mother, in days gone by. Thanks to Dr. Carruthers for his manly, cheering and scriptural view of this important subject.

Bowdoin's testimony shows two things; first, that the doctrine has been taught, by somebody, and believed by persons now living;—and second that it is now denied, and universal infant salvation is preached by the calvinists of Portland, especially by Rev. Dr. Carruthers.

Another writer in the Advertiser, whom we presume to be Rev. J. W. Chickering, of Portland, asks the editor to reprint the following characteristic paragraph from the writings of the Elder Beecher:

"I am aware that calvinists are represented as believing and teaching the monstrous doctrine, that infants are damned, and that hell is doubtless paved with their bones.

But having passed the age of fifty, and been conversant for thirty years with the most approved calvinistic writers, and personally acquainted with many of the most distinguished calvinistic divines in New England, and in the Middle and Southern and Western States, I must say that I have never seen nor heard of any book which contained such a sentiment; nor a man, minister or layman, who believed or taught it.

And I feel authorised to say that calvinists, as a body, are as far from teaching the doctrine of infant damnation, as any of those who falsely accuse them. And I would earnestly and affectionately recommend to all persons, who have been accustomed to propagate this slander, that they commit to memory, without delay, the ninth commandment, which is, 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.'"

J. W. C. then remarks:

This testimony is as true now as thirty years ago. May I ask all editors who shall be for a moment misled by the statements above referred to, and induced to republish a charge as unjust towards any New England pastors, as would be that of their offering up infants in a daily sacrifice,—to follow it up with the above disclaimer.

From these items it seems that the infidels, unitarians, arminians and universalists, spoken of by J., are in distinguished company.

☞ The New Orleans Delta informs us that "the united will of the South," among other things which it can do just as well as not, "can stare rotten institutions, consecrated by ages, out of existence, and curdle with the lightning of its look the blood of nations." The Providence Journal says, "Well, it ought not, and we entreat, out of respect to the memory of the ages and to the blood of nations, that "the united will of the South" will not do any such extraordinary thing.

Down upon the Gamblers.—Marshal Westcott made a descent on Tuesday night, upon gambling establishment in Newburyport, routing the party and breaking up the den. The parties were not taken in the act, as preparations were made by which no one could ascend to the room without giving the alarm, but some of their gambling implements were seized.—The room in which the party assembled had been prepared against invasion—the sides thereof had being planked up and the doors held by bars; but when the keeper discovered that neither bolts or bars would keep the Marshal, he showed the better part of valor in discretion, and struck his flag. For this act, and for notices to owners of real estate where intoxicating liquors are illegally sold, the Herald says, Marshal Westcott and the city officers who stand back of and support him, are deserving of much credit, and we feel most happy in bestowing it.

Potatoes.—The following article is translated from the "Farmers' Gold Mine," (Boeren Goudmyn,) a Dutch paper, and may be of interest to growers and consumers of potatoes:

"Potatoes were first brought to Europe in 1583. After fifty-nine years the potato rot broke out, and after eighty years there was no seed fit for planting to be obtained. In 1696 the spaniards brought good seed from Peru, which gave healthy tubers for forty-five years. In 1779 the rot so far destroyed the potatoes that no good seed was obtained. In 1797 the English brought new seed to Europe, but it was not until 1802 and 3 that the seed generally spread throughout the continent and was in general use. Fifty years later the rot again appeared, and decreased in 1856.—From this it appears that potatoes are liable to suffer from the disease about every fifty years."

If the above is correct, would it not be important that new seed should be imported from the native soil of the potato?

☞ The new Catholic Church, at Nashua, was dedicated on Sunday morning last. In the afternoon the ceremony of Confirmation took place, by which rite one hundred and fifty were joined to the Church.—The Oasis esteems it a "fortunate circumstance that a Catholic Church has been established in that city, The condition and numbers of our Hibernian citizens demand the restraining influence of their peculiar religion. Pat is never so orderly as when his priest is at his heels."

Singular Death.—Mr. Samuel King, of Rising Sun, Indiana, rowed his children across the river to school, and returning remarked to a neighbor that it was the last time he should cross. He told his wife that he should not live, and wished to tell her all about his affairs. She listened patiently from deep sympathy, but not dreaming of his death. He, however, shortly laid down and died, from no apparent cause but the deep grief and mortification caused by his pecuniary troubles, his creditors having come on from New York and closed his store on account of debts contracted by his partner.

☞ Try Again;—or the Triumphs of Harry West,—by Oliver Optic,—is a fine book for a new year present, designed for the young people, and may be read with pleasure and profit by persons of riper years. It is published in a neat and pretty style, by Brown, Taggard & Chase, Boston, and is for sale by J. H. Foster, and J. F. Shores, jr., Portsmouth.

☞ The Albany Knickerbocker denies the commonly received statement that the sculptor, Crawford, was a native American, and says—"We know that he was a native of Ireland, and emigrated with his parents at an early age (about seven years) from Ballyshannon, in the county of Donegal; and the writer of this was well acquainted with his father in the city of New York thirty years ago. Give ould Ireland her due."

Another Libel Suit.—Some two or three weeks ago a Cincinnati paper published a statement that a soldier at the Newport barracks had fallen heir to an immense property—some $200,000. Another journal contradicted the story, and intimated that instead of having received so great a wind-fall, the soldier was an idle, trifling sort of person, for which the soldier commenced a suit for libel, laying damages at $10,000. The first report about the immense legacy left to the soldier, is said to be a veritable truth.

☞ The right in equity, to redeem the Great Falls and South Berwick Branch Railroad, together with the franchise of said Company, is advertised to be sold at auction on Thursday, Dec. 31st., at South Berwick. This right was attached by Hon. John M. Wood, who built the road, and to whom there is due upwards of $20,000 on his contract.

☞ Lucy Stone, who is still an advocate of woman's rights, although she has taken a husband, is a resident of Orange, N. J., where she holds property in her own name. She has informed the Collector that she does not recognize the right to tax her property, as she is denied all those privileges and rights of citizenship, which are allowed to the sterner sex.

☞ The Portsmouth, Va., Transcript says, "Judge Douglas' speech against the administration of Kansas with the Lecompton Constitution, will be of more service to the anti-slavery cause, than all the harangues of the Black Republican politicians and preachers from Massachusetts to the Mississippi."

☞ Mrs. Harriet Plumer, recently deceased in Newburyport, left one thousand dollars to the trustees of the Purchase street Methodist Society, for purchasing a building for a parsonage. She also provided, in certain contingencies, that another thousand dollars should go to the same society.

☞ Some emigrants across the plains recently found two dogs lying by one of the many graves marking the spot of recent massacres, that had watched there until they were emaciated almost to skin and bones. Nothing could induce them to leave the place.

☞ Harper's New Monthly Magazine, for January, 1858, is just received by A. Williams & Co., and J. H. Foster, Portsmouth. It is a rich number for literature; and the humorous illustrations, especially the sleigh ride, are innocently and irresistible comic.

☞ Archdeacon Jeffreys, a missionary in the East Indies, states, that "for one no really converted Christian as the fruit of missionary labor, the drinking practices of the English has made fully one thousand drunkards in India."

☞ Mrs. Elizabeth Gage, aged 76, committed suicide by cutting her throat with a case-knife, in Charlestown, Mass., last week. She is reported insane, and is the third member of the family who have taken their own lives.

☞ "Did you see any of our ancestors in Europe?" inquired a young lady of a gentleman who had just returned from a foreign tour. "O yes," replied he, "I saw Mother England herself."

☞ Senator Garlington of South Carolina estimates the loss sustained by the South from the depression of the market for cotton, in consequence of the late commercial crisis, at more than $70,000,000.

The Next Presidency.—The Bellows Falls Times has placed at the head of its editorial columns the name of Hon. N. P. Banks as a candidate for the Presidency in 1860.

Why is a liquor-dealer like a butcher? Because the better his business is, the more he kills.

The hotels out West are rather primitive. A friend of ours who put up at one, states that he washes in half a pumpkin, and dresses his hair with a currycomb.

The Grave!—It buries every error—covers every detect—extinguishes every resentment. From its peaceful bosom springs none but fond regrets and tender recollections. Who can look down upon the grave of an enemy, and not feel a compunctious throb, that he should have warred with that poor handful of earth that lies mouldering before him.

Charles Lamb is reported to have perpetrated the following: "The water cure is neither new nor wonderful; for it is as old as the deluge, which in my opinion, killed more than it cured."

A young gentleman who has just married an undersized beauty, says that she might have been taller and larger, but that she is of precious materials, and nature could not afford it.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Dec. 26.

Before Justice Odell.—George T. Brown and Charles Robinson, minors, were accused of stealing 250 lbs. of lead from the tower of St. John's Church, to the great damage of the building, and against the peace and dignity of the State. Plea, not guilty—but the Court found sufficient ground to bind them over in $300 bonds to February Court at Exeter. For want of sureties the boys went to jail.

☞ The new Custom House remains about as last reported—that is, nowhere. The money doesn't come for the laborers—so they don't go to work; and the working gang, for the last two days, has consisted of Mr. Strong and a couple of masons, who are at work on the lower end of the drain. There seems to be an unusual scrimmage among all who are concerned in this matter, and we believe Mr. Weare, the Superintendent, comes in for a share of blame; and though we may not understand the merits of the case,—if, indeed, there is any merit in it,—yet we must say, that to our apprehension, Mr. Weare has conducted himself more like a gentleman and an honest man, than most of those concerned. At all events, it is outrageous for poor laboring men to be kept out of their wages even for a single week, especially when employed on Government work. We trust Uncle Sam will straighten this matter soon.

Meantime there is a big ditch open, through most the length of State street,—which, besides obstructing travel, exposes gas and water-pipes to injury by frost and otherwise. On Saturday, the city authorities, very properly, set men at work, filling up portions of this drain, opposite the heads of streets, &c. The dwellers on State street and our citizens generally, have been humbugged about long enough, by being forced to climb round that ditch; and we trust it will all be filled up, forthwith.

☞ Christmas passed off pleasantly, we hope profitably to all. On the eve preceding, services were held in the Universalist and Stone Churches. Rev. Mr. Patterson conducted the exercises at the former—which was elaborately and tastefully decorated. At the Stone Church, Rev. Mr. Whiting delivered the discourse, Rev. Dr. Lamson also taking part in the exercises with the pastor.

On Friday, business generally was suspended and the stores closed. Services were held in the Episcopal and Catholic Churches. At St. John's Church, the usual miscellaneous audience was gathered; Rev. Dr. Burroughs conducted the services. At the Catholic, the attendance was much as usual.

The charitable Spiritual Lecture, at the Temple, in the evening, was but thinly attended—showing, say some, how much the rich care for the poor; and, say others, how much the people care for the doctrine.

☞ There was no sleighing, Christmas, but the skating was well-improved. The millponds were covered with ladies and gentlemen, to the number of five or six hundred probably—a merry, happy crew.

☞ The Portsmouth Cornet Band give the first Promenade Concert of their new series, at Jefferson Hall this (Monday) evening; on which occasion the Exeter Cornet Band, which is highly spoken of, is also expected to be present and take part in the performances. These entertainments afford a very pleasant way of passing an hour or two, at a little expense; and the proceeds go to encourage "Our Band"—an institution well worthy of being sustained.

☞ Rev. Dr. Lamson, of this city, delivered his excellent lecture on "the Family," before a large and appreciative audience at Great Falls, on Wednesday evening of last week.

☞ The Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Rail Road has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent. as usual.

HARD UP.—Extract from a letter received at this office, from a subscriber who owes for three years' subscription—accompanied with the pay, however:

"I've already told you that I am tight—not drunk—but peculiarly tight, and why I am so.—Moreover, all the world is—always was—'suspended.' And as you well know, (for particulars see Portsmouth Daily Chronicle) about all 'the rest of mankind' are in a like fix, having been in, and are but just groping out of, a fit of 'panic.' Money, too, out here, in this tag end of creation, is as scarce as gold eagles in a contribution box circulated in 'poverty square' for charity. Angel visits are frequent in comparison—many of them, however, are fallen angels."

MARRIED.

In Concord, Lieut. T. J. Treadwell, U. S. A., to Margaret A. Abbott.—Lorenzo Dow to Abby C. French.—Wheelock G. Tandy to Olive Sherman.—Eliphalet S. Blake to Sarah A. Brown.

In Brentwood, Moses Sanborn to Ann Carr, both of Danville.

DIED.

In this city, on Saturday evening, Col. Jefferson McIntire, aged 53 years, a native of York, Me. One of nature's noblemen—a warm friend and honored citizen—and of high attainments in mechanics and engineery.

Brother, thou hast gone to rest,
Thy cares and pains are o'er.

Funeral on Tuesday afternoon, at half-past 1 o'clock, at the Methodist Church.

In Concord, Miss Adaline E. Luey, aged 23, daughter of Samuel Luey.

In Salisbury, Mrs. Mary Webster, aged 81.

In Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Joshua M. Stanley, 61, a native of Hopkinton, this State.

WAR IN KANSAS.—A letter to the St. Louis Democrat says that on the eve of the 16th, a battle occurred at Fort Scott, between pro-slavery and free-state men—in which five pro-slavery men are reported killed.

☞ The Committee of the Senate, in executive session, agreed not to take any action upon the case of Mr. Clifford, nominated to fill the vacancy upon the U. S. Supreme Bench, until after the holidays. Mr. Clifford is opposed on the ground of incompetency, mainly.

THE POOR BOY.—Don't be ashamed, my lad, if you have a patch on your elbow.—It is no mark of disgrace. We would rather see a dozen patches on your jacket, than hear one profane or vulgar word escape from your lips, or smell the fumes of tobacco in your breath. No good boy will shun you because you cannot dress as well as your companion; and if a bad boy sometimes laughs at your appearance, say nothing, my good lad, but walk on.—Fear God, my boy, and if you are poor, but honest, you will be respected—a great deal more than if you were the son of a rich man, and were addicted to bad habits.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all the money being paid in full. The drawing intended to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $64,000, every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Philadelphia Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Herald. Write your address plainly and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes—three months allowed.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRENCH & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all lottery tickets are sent to order for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, the ticket will be put in the drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are sent, however, unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combinations. Prizes are paid immediately after the $100 TOO. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawings and results of Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington.

DOVER, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial citizens of our vicinity, daily convinces us that it is a MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $3 size; and one dozen of $2 size; yours very respectfully,

DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer I was induced to try some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his suffering, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and healthy growth of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

GEORGE GOSSUM, W. GOSSUM,
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of your Wonderful Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You are at liberty to recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire in the fireplace, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to make an ordinary fire for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. This Stove is all metal, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with. When this Stove is properly managed, without once going out. Added to all these qualities, the purchaser pays reasonable price to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH

THE ENTIRE SEASON,

BUSINESS.—The Boston Shipping List says, the money market presents no new features, and rates are nominal at 9 to 12 per cent, street negotiations being much limited from the unwillingness of lenders to take such security as offers, and the reduced requirements of actual business.—Unemployed capital is accumulating, and there seems no good reason why money should not be abundant and cheap after the new year has fairly set in. The fact is, the same amount of capital will do a much larger amount of business now than six months or a year since, and this will materially help the apparent supply of money and have an important effect on its current value.

The recent failures in Europe are to an extent so enormous as to cast entirely in the shade what has, among ourselves, been considered very extensive. It was stated some time since, that the reported failures in this country, from August 1 to October 30, were upwards of 1,000, with liabilities exceeding $100,000,000. We now find, on the authority of Parliament, that in England alone from September 7 to November 12, eighty-five firms had failed, with $212,000,000 liabilities. There had also been 100 failures in Hamburg, with $40,000,000 liabilities; and in addition to the above, during the first week in December, four of the London failures and one in Glasgow footed up $5,000,000. It is not strange that the London Times has at last discovered that all the rottenness is not in the Yankee land.

As usual, when the new year is so near at hand, the movements in merchandise have been rather restricted, but there is evidently more disposition to operate in many of the leading articles, and we look for a more active market with the new year.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—Messrs. Editors; Last spring I came across the following "native" curiosities. They are the veritable names of certain masculines and feminines who "live and move and have a being" within a hundred miles of 'Hog Bay,' in the County of Hancock, in the State of Maine. When news is scarce with you, and "panics" are "suspended," these droll fantastics may do to fill out a column, and help 'drive away dull care,' or the 'blues,' Here, they are, verbatim et literatim as I received them from one of their near and reliable neighbors:

1st, Peter Philo Pheiree Roots Coombs.
2nd, Ezekiel Serenas Sylvanus Gilbert William Harris Pinco.
3d, Francis Edward Fortescue Warren Warrington Montgomery Lord Castle Cario Norwood.
4th, Varincia Varoncia Torquadus Linscy.
5th, Sarah Francena Aldora Malvina Hutchings.

It is said that 'Polly Molly Adaline Amelia Victoria Fandango, and her brother, Functibus Cunctibus Pero Articborum Skunktum, don't live in the same neighborhood; but undoubtedly are of that kin. My informant, however, further states that the first five above recorded, have their broken-jawed cognomens arranged in verse, with appropriate music—probably for 'the band.' I should think the tune might be older than Old Hundred. G.

ILLEGAL VOTING."—Prosecutions are being instituted in Boston and Newburyport against large numbers of persons for illegal voting at the late municipal election. This new principle" that we hear so much of, is bringing along with it new practices—though nothing more than we anticipated. Put the ballot box under the care of men who are personally interested in the local government—into the hands of the Irish democracy, the rumsellers, the gamblers—for these are the men who control our "citizen's movements," and we may as well at once bid farewell to its purity, for it is gone.—Lowell News.

UNRIVALLED ATTRACTIONS!!
Emerson's Magazine
AND
PUTNAM'S MONTHLY.
TWO GREAT MAGAZINES IN ONE.
90,000 COPIES THE FIRST MONTH!
MAGNIFICENT PROGRAMME FOR 1858.
$20,000
IN SPLENDID WORKS OF ART.
TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER.
THE GREAT LIBRARY OFFER.
AGENTS GETTING RICH!!
The union of EMERSON'S MAGAZINE and PUTNAM'S MONTHLY has given to the consolidated work a circulation second to but one similar publication in the country, and has secured for it a combination of literary and artistic talent probably unrivaled by any other magazine in the world. During the first month, the sale in the trade and demand from subscribers exceeded 90,000 copies, and the numbers already issued of the consolidated work are universally conceded to have surpassed, in the richness of their literary contents, and the profuseness of their pictorial illustrations, any magazine ever before issued from the American press. Encouraged by these evidences of favor, the publishers have determined to commence the new volume in January with still additional attractions, and to offer such inducements to subscribers, as cannot fail to place it, in circulation, at the head of American magazines. With this view they now announce the following splendid programme. They have purchased that superb and costly steel-plate engraving,
"THE LAST SUPPER,"
and will present a copy of it to every three-dollar subscriber for the year 1858. It was engraved at a cost of over $6000, by the late celebrated A. L. Dick, from the original of Raphael Mengben, after Leonardo Da Vinci, and is the largest steel-plate engraving ever executed in this country, being three times the size of the ordinary three-dollar engravings.
The first impressions of this engraving are held at $10, and it was the intention of the artist that none of the engravings should ever be offered for a sum less than $5, being richly worth that amount. Thus every three-dollar subscriber will receive the magazine one year—cheap at $3—and this splendid engraving, richly worth $5: thus getting for $3 the value of $8.
We shall commence striking off the engravings immediately, yet it can hardly be expected that impressions of so large a plate can be taken as fast as they will be called for by subscribers. We shall, therefore, furnish them in the order in which the subscriptions are received. Those who desire to obtain their engravings early, and from the first impressions, should send in their subscriptions without delay. The engraving can be sent on rollers, by mail, or in any other manner, as subscribers shall order.
$20,000 IN WORKS OF ART.
In addition to the superb engraving of "THE LAST SUPPER," which will be presented to every three-dollar subscriber for 1858, the publishers have completed arrangements for the distribution, on the 25th day of Dec., 1858, of a series of splendid works of art, consisting of 100 rich and rare Oil Paintings, valued at from $100 to $1 each. Also, 2000 magnificent Steel-Plate Engravings, worth from $3 to $5 each, and 1000 choice Holiday Books, worth from $1 to $5 each, making, in all, over THREE THOUSAND GIFTS, worth TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.
INCLOSE $3 TO THE PUBLISHERS AND YOU WILL COMMENCE RECEIVING THE MAGAZINE BY RETURN MAIL. YOU WILL ALSO RECEIVE WITH THE FIRST COPY A NUMBERED SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPT, ENTITLING YOU TO THE ENGRAVING OF "THE LAST SUPPER,"
and a chance to draw one of these "THREE THOUSAND PRIZES."
REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD SUBSCRIBE FOR EMERSON'S MAGAZINE
For 1858,
First: Because its literary contents will, during the year, embrace contributions from over ONE HUNDRED different writers and thinkers, numbering among them some of the most distinguished of American authors.
Second: Because its editorial departments, "Our Studio," "Our Window," and "Our Olio," will each be conducted by an able editor—and it will surpass, in the variety and richness of its editorial contents, any other magazine.
Third; Because it will contain, during the year, nearly six hundred original pictorial illustrations from designs by the first American artists.
Fourth: Because for the sum of $3 you will receive this splendid monthly, more richly worth that sum than other magazine, and the superb engraving of "THE LAST SUPPER," worth $5.
Fifth; Because you will very likely draw one of the three thousand prizes to be distributed on the 25th day of Dec., 1858—perhaps one that is worth $1000.
Notwithstanding that these extraordinary inducements can hardly fail to accomplish the objects of the publishers without further efforts, yet they have determined to continue through the year
THE GREAT LIBRARY OFFER.
To any person who will get up a club of twenty-four subscribers, either at one or more post offices, we will present a splendid Library, consisting of over Forty Large Bound Volumes, embracing the most popular works in the market. The club may be formed at the club price, $2 a year, without the engraving, or at the full price, $3, with the engraving of the Last Supper to each subscriber. List and description of the Library, and specimen copy of the Magazine, will be forwarded on receipt of 25 cents. Over 200 Libraries, or 8000 volumes, have already been distributed in accordance with this offer, and we should be glad of an opportunity to furnish a Library to every clergyman, to every school teacher, or to some one at every post office in the country.
MAKING MONEY.
The success which our agents are meeting with is almost astonishing. Among the many evidences of this fact, we present the following from one of our agents already in the field:
"I have now been at work canvassing on your Magazine one week, and am delighted with the business. It is different from canvassing for anything else I ever tried. I am sure to get a subscriber in every family where they can rake together three dollars. I am never treated with indifference anywhere, for the first thing I do is to unroll my engraving before I let anybody know what I am after, and thus I get them interested before they know what a splendid offer I am going to make them. Sometimes they ask my price for the engraving, and I tell them $5, and when I offer them the engraving and Magazine one year for three dollars they are perfectly astonished. I did not get to going well for the first two or three days:
The 1st day I got.....2 subscribers.
The 2d day I got.....7 subscribers.
The 3d day I got.....6 subscribers.
The 4th day I got.....13 subscribers.
The 5th day I got.....9 subscribers.
The 6th day I got.....17 subscribers.
First week.....54 subscribers.
I shall do much better next week. It is the engraving that does the business. Everybody wants the engraving. You may calculate upon from one to two thousand subscribers from me this winter. I am going to make enough out of the business to buy me a farm in the spring."
With such inducements as we offer, anybody can obtain subscribers. We invite every gentleman out of employment, and every lady who desires a pleasant money-making occupation, to apply at once for an agency. Applicants should inclose 25 cents for a specimen copy of the Magazine, which will always be forwarded with answer to application by return mail.
SPECIMEN ENGRAVING.
As we desire to place in the hands of every person who purposes to get up a club, and also of every agent, a copy of the engraving of "THE LAST SUPPER," as a specimen, each applicant inclosing us $3 will receive the engraving, post paid, by return mail, also specimens of our publications, and one of the numbered subscription receipts, entitling the holder to the Magazine one year and to a chance in the distribution. This offer is made only to those who desire to act as agents or to form clubs. Address

THE NEW YORK
STEAM SAW-MILL
AND
MACHINE COMPANY.
CAPITAL $250,000.
COMBINATION
AND OTHER IMPROVED MACHINERY.
They have purchased the entire machinery business heretofore carried on by J. M. Emerson & Co., also the Montgomery Works at Yonkers, on the Hudson, near this city, and with the experience and facilities combined in its organization are prepared to furnish machinery of all kinds at more liberal rates than has ever been offered at any other establishment.
THE COMBINATION SAW-MILL was patented Oct., 1856, and is now generally acknowledged to be the cheapest, most practical, and efficient lumber manufacturing machine in the world. A large number of them are in successful operation in different portions of this country, Canada, Cuba and South America, and wherever their merits have been tested they are being adopted by lumber manufacturers in preference to all other mills.
The following letter expresses the general opinion of those who are using the Combination Mill:
Messrs. Emerson & Co.—Gentlemen: I have tried the saw-mill purchased of you, and I will say that it performs well, and more than meets my expections. I am well pleased with its performance. I set it upon a small stream that afforded constant water about as thick as my little finger, which was much more than sufficient to supply the boiler. We are able to cut 3000 feet of beautiful lumber in 12 hours, with something less than one cord of wood. It is the very thing we so much needed in our country for a long time. With a little trouble and expense, we are able to move it from five to ten miles per day, and set it up in the heart of the timber, which saves the great burden of hauling the logs a great distance to the mill.
Yours, respectfully, JESSE KERR, JR.,
Louisville, Tennessee.
The Company have purchased LUND'S PATENT FEED ARRANGEMENT, which is illustrated and described in the Scientific American for Oct. 24. This adds greatly to the efficiency of the mill.
THE COMBINATION MILL, with all the recent improvements, and steam power of 15 horses, is capable of sawing from 3000 to 4000 feet in twelve hours, and is sold for $1650.
THE NEW YORK CIRCULAR SAW-MILL
Is manufactured only by this Company. It is of superior construction, and sold for 25 per cent less than other mills of no greater capacity. A mill with 36 to 54-inch saw can be sold for $450 to $800, and with a 20 horse engine and boiler is sold for $220).
STEAM ENGINES and BOILERS; ENGINES of from one to 100 horse power; LOCOMOTIVE, TUBULAR, FLUE and CYLINDER BOILERS furnished at greatly reduced prices from former quotations.
Drawings, with plans and specifications for buildings and machinery, furnished gratis to our customers.
Competent mechanics are sent out to put up and set in operation our machinery, when required.
We also manufacture SHINGLE MACHINES, PLANING MACHINES, SUGAR-MILLS, and MACHINERY IN GENERAL.
Special attention paid to getting up SHAFTING and ULLEYS for manufactories, and all kinds of MILLWORK.
This Company are selling in great numbers a PATENT CONICAL BURR-STONE MILL, for flour, corn meal, and all kinds of feed, which is pronounced by experienced millers, both in this country and in Europe, THE BEST MILL EVER CONSTRUCTED. It will grind more grain in the same time, and with half the power, of any mill of the same price in the market.
We also furnish other styles of GRIST-MILLS, when required.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1857.

KANSAS MATTERS.

The St. Louis Democrat of Dec. 24 has a letter from Kansas which says that on the eve of the 16th a battle occurred at Fort Scott, between the pro-slavery and the Free State men. Five of the former were killed; among them Blake Little, a member of the Lecompton Convention.

Several were wounded on both sides, and 20 free State men were taken prisoners and confined in the fort.

The Missourians were assembled in strong force on the border, and more fighting was apprehended.

The difficulties grew out of the fact that Clark, notorious as a murderer of Barber, two years since, went about accompanied by a deputy, collecting taxes of the free State men, and seizing their property in default of payment, making prosecutions under the rebellion law.

The Territorial Executive Committee has issued a call for the re-assembling of the Delegate Convention, held at Lawrence on the 2d inst., to take into consideration the best course to pursue, in consequence of the Legislature having failed to submit the Topeka Constitution to the people, with the Lecompton instrument.

A Lawrence, Kansas, letter, of Dec. 20, says:—

The Legislature adjourned this morning. Nearly all the bills have been lost; only the acts repealing the law for the Constitutional Convention, and for submitting the Constitution, have passed. Stanton vetoed the Militia Law, and it was passed last night over his veto, principally owing to the late news from Washington, and the fact that they are fighting in Bourbon county. Three or four men are reported killed on the Little Osage. Some hundred and fifty pro-slavery men, many of them Missourians, are warring upon the free State men under Maj. Abbott. The troops have been sent for but will not go. Stanton's successor is here. The horizon is gathering darkness again.

A Washington dispatch of the 26th mentions that letters had been received at the State Department, from Chief Justice Williams of Kansas Territory, giving a detailed account of disturbances which have taken place in the vicinity of Fort Scott. According to this account, a body of 100 free State men, armed with rifles and revolvers, under the command of one Montgomery, had been committing outrages in the above named locality; and when a marshal proceeded to arrest them under a law process, they resisted his authority, stating that they had advices from Gen. Lane, that all the Territorial laws had been repealed by the Legislature.

At the last accounts they were besieging Fort Scott, and threatening to burn it.

SOMETHING NEW.—The Bath, (Me.) Organ of the 26th says:—

The New Hampshire democracy are going into their state election, taking the same view of the Kansas question as Mr. Douglas. The gubernatorial candidate, Judge Cate, is unqualified in his approval of the view taken and the plan proposed by the Illinois Senator.

Who says so? Not the Concord Patriot, nor the Dover Gazette, nor the Portsmouth Gazette, so far as we see. They are so far, trying to keep an even beam, with Douglas on one end, and the President on the other.

☞ Fillibuster Walker has come home again. At San Juan, December 8, Gen. Walker and all his men surrendered prisoners of war to Commodore Paulding.

The U. S. flag ship Wabash arrived at Aspinwall on the 14th, with Gen. Walker on board, and all the arms and ammunition captured at San Juan del Norte.

On the 12th, the sloop-of-war Saratoga sailed from San Juan for Norfolk with 150 men of Walker's army.

Gen. Walker was sent to New York on parole, and arrived there in the Northern Light, on Sunday.

THE WESTFIELD MURDER.—The jury of inquest in the Westfield, Mass., murder case, have returned a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Mary Stoubs and her two children came to their death by the hands of Albert Stoubs, the husband and father.—It appeared in the evidence that Stoubs had latterly been much depressed in view of the hard times, not having had constant employment, but that he was not reduced to want appears from the fact that $18 in money was found in a paper box in one of his rooms. Leonard Bemont testified that on Tuesday morning, the 15th inst., just after sunrise, he met a man hurrying along the westfield road to Springfield. His appearance corresponded with a daguerreotype of Stoubs, and he was greatly excited in his manner.

☞ Eggs in Havana are selling for ten cents each, butter fifty to seventy-cents per pound; and the rate of board in first class houses is $3.50 per diem.

BURGLARIES AND ROBBERIES have been quite common in Essex county, Mass., within the last few weeks.—There have been several cases in Salem and Ipswich, and strong suspicions rest upon a party of rogues, hailing from Boston, two of whom are in Newburyport jail for stealing furs. There are three more of the gang, one of whom has been about the streets of Newburyport, in military uniform, and is well known to the police; and the other two were in that city on the evening their two comrades were arrested. They visited a saloon and called for oysters and something to drink. As one of them was lifting the glass to his lips, a bystander remarked that two men, describing them, had just been arrested. The glass fell from his hand, dashing to pieces, and the oysters were left uneaten, while they sloped for parts unknown. It is probable they would all have attempted a robbery, but for the stealing of the furs, where men were prepared to receive them with powder and ball. As it is, the Newburyport police will track up three now at large very closely.

THE MURDER OF HODSON.—The Boston Journal states that the investigation by the Grand Jury into the recent murder of officer Ezekiel W. Hodson, at East Boston, has resulted in a true bill against John Joyce, as the murderer. Joyce is in custody. The indictment is found upon circumstantial evidence only, which strongly implicates the accused, as having some knowledge of the matter, if he is not actually the guilty party.

MUNICIPAL COURT, BOSTON.—Judge Nash passed the following sentences, Saturday morning:—Samuel Johnson, assaulting and resisting an officer, fined $75. Joseph Beatty, selling liquor, five months' hard labor in jail. Sylvester Donahue, same offence, fined $125; if not paid forthwith, eight months' hard labor in jail. (These two parties were convicted under the "common nuisance" act.)

NOT CONGREGATIONAL.—We have published a paragraph to this purpose, viz., that the editor of the New York Journal of Commerce has a church in New Haven, over which he has entire control, and yet it is called the "South Congregational."

Now we submit that this church may be orthodox or heterodox; that it may be Calvinistic, Arminian, Unitarian, or Universalian, in doctrine; but that it is a great misnomer to call it Congregational. We might as well call Russia a Democracy, as to call that a Congregational Church, wherein the people do not choose their own preachers—but where some one else appoints them.

☞ Lieut. Habersham, writing to the Philadelphia Ledger, from the steamship Powhattan, says: "It must be a fine thing to be a captain. I thought this latter thought seventeen years since, when I first felt the cramp of a midshipman's steerage. I have grown gray since then, and am still revolving it in my expectant brain."

☞ Thirty persons have lately joined the Baptist Church in Brentwood.

We learn from the Exeter News Letter, that the Methodist Society in Epping, which have worshipped in the Universalist Church, have suspended meetings for the winter.

Rev. E. W. Jackson is lecturing on temperance in Orange Co., New York.

☞ The Manchester American says, "It strikes us as a little strange that the various denominations make so little account of the natal day of the Saviour of mankind. With the exception of the Episcopalians and Catholics, very little account is made of Christmas."

☞ The nuns of the Holy Virgin at Jerusalem have purchased the prætorium on which Christ was sentenced. The Turkish government has sanctioned the purchase. The intention of the nuns is to build near to it a monastery, with a large wall, which is to include the ruins, which they intend to keep in their present state.

☞ The Portland Advertiser says that the Anglo Saxon, which sailed from Portland for Liverpool, on Saturday, took among other articles of freight, 3,700 barrels of flour, and nearly 10,000 bushels of wheat. She also carried about 100 first-class passengers—a larger number than has ever previously been taken thence by a foreign steamer.

☞ A young lady-skater in Manchester, last week, broke through the ice; but was held up by her hoop-skirt, which spread and caught on the ice, so that she got only a hip bath. Why was her condition doubly perilous? Because not only was she in an extremity,—but her extremity was in.

THE WAR IN INDIA.

Details of the news from India to the 31st of October, were published in the English papers.

The regular semi-monthly steamer arrived at Trieste on the 11th of December, with dates from Calcutta to the 11th and from Bombay to the 17th of November.

So completely was the force at Lucknow beleagured on the 31st of October, that the only message received from there for weeks was written on a peice of paper three inches square, and most adroitly concealed.

Sir James Outram's forces had been terribly reduced, and the total number in the Residency was supposed to be not more than 1400, besides women and children, and wounded. There were besides about 800 men, with a great array of camp followers, at Alumbagh, believed to be without the means of communicating with those at Lucknow.

The strength of the enemy around Lucknow was estimated at 70,000, but it was nevertheless considered certain that the garrison could hold out till the 10th of November, before which time Sir Colin Cambell would be before Lucknow with an army of 4000 men, including his own Highland brigade, 800 cavalry, and a very heavy train of artillery.

It is stated that during the siege of Delhi the Sepoys took all the wounded Europeans they could catch, and burnt them alive. The charred bodies, tied to stakes, were found by the stormers, with the Queen's buttons still recognizable.

English troops were pouring into India at the rate of 2000 a week.

The life of the King of Delhi was to be spared, the officer who arrested him having given him a pledge to that effect.

Lucknow still held out, although no communication had been had with the besieged.

Heavy fighting and slaughter are said to have occurred.

The column hitherto under the command of Col. Greathed had been increased to 5000 strong at Cawnpore; and on the 3d of November, under command of Brigadier Grant, it reached Alumbagh, only three miles from Lucknow, and there awaited the arrival of the Commanded-in-Chief.

Sir Colin Cambell arrived at Cawnpore on the 3d of November, and crossed the Ganges on the 9th, at the head of 5000 men, on route for Lucknow.

Nena Sahib was believed to be in command of the rebels before Lucknow.

One of the sons of the King of Delhi is said to have escaped from the civil charge in which he was placed.

No fresh outbreaks are reported, and the rebellion is represented as subsiding throughout the country.

Telegraph to the English Government—On the 1st of November an action was fought near the village of Kudjnai between the Dinapore mutineers and a detachment of 850 men, consisting of part of the Naval Brigade, and a detachment of the 93d Highlanders, with two 9 pounders, under Col. Powell, of her Majesty's 53d foot.—Our success was complete, but loss heavy; Col. Powell being among the killed.

The Naval Brigade afterwards fell back on Bindkee with a view of returning to Futtypore, and the rest of the troops reached Cawnpore on the 2d.

According to latest accounts from Bombay, the First, Third, and Fouth Divisions of Nizam Cavalry, under Major Orr, attacked the rear guard of the rebels on the 12th of November, at Barrarowal, recapturing the whole of the guns and stores taken from Mehidpore, and also two of the enemy's guns. One hundred of the enemy killed, 74 prisoners. Our casualties not yet received, but said to be severe.

The column under Brigadier Showers has captured Ahiyjur, Dadree, Nunoood, and other places southwest of Delhi, securing upwards of £70,000 of treasure.

Further North, Van Cortlandt still keeps the country in order.

The district between Agra and Meerut is so quiet that the post and passengur carriages run daily between the two places.

The dates from Hong Kong are to the 30th of October.

Preparations were being made for the assault of Canton.

FOREIGN ITEMS, by the Persia.—The London News of the 11th inst., says that in the discount market the supply of money was increasing, and first class bills were readily discounted at a sensible reduction from the bank rate.

A dispatch from Hamburg of the 11th inst. says: "The money crisis is becoming yet more alarming. A general break up of credit seem imminent. The Senate will set in permanence."

The steamship Leviathan had only been moved a few inches since the departure of the Adriatic, owing to the giving away of the mooring-tackle. It was feared, as the vessel had reached a slighter incline, that her progress would be even slower than it had been.

An ambassador had arrived in England from Holland, to demand, officially, for the Prince of Orange, the hand of the Princess Alice.

A large meeting had been held in London, to consider the subject of the government of India, and resolutions were adopted in favor of an assumption of supreme authority by the British Government.

From Spain, we learn than an amnesty has been granted for political offences, and to persons condemned to light punishment. A great many promotions had also taken place.

The Bank of England Indemnity bill was read, first time, in the House of Lords on the 9th inst. without debate; the measure having been past in the House of Commons on the same evening, without a division. On the 10th inst., in the Lords, the bill was read a second time.

☞ Anewer to the Charade in last week's Chronicle.—Light-Foot.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

TWO WEEKS LATER.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.

The steamship Northern Light, from Aspinwall, 19th inst., has arrived with the California mails of the 6th inst., 250 passengers, and $2,000,000 in specie.

The steamer Golden Age brought down 350 passengers and $2,478,000 in treasure.

The news from California is unimportant except as to the mining interest. Heavy rains had fallen in the interior, reviving trade, and imparting new vigor to mining operations.

At San Francisco, business was generally very quiet. The money market is active. Merchandise loans are made at 2 a 1-2 per cent. a month. Whalers' bills have sold as low as 10 per cent. discount on Boston and New York.

The receipt of gold from the mines, was steadily on the increase, though there was some scarcity of water. Mexican dollars commanded 15 per cent. premium.

The U. S. Branch Mint was reopened on the 23d of November, and was doing a heavy business. Sight drafts on New York 3 per cent. premium.

The financial condition of California was improving. There were over $100,000 in the State Treasury.

Two respectable citizens of Stanislaus county, Anson Bird, and a Mr. Robinson, had been mysteriously murdered.

The ship Aurora had cleared for China, with 600 Chinese passengers.

A report had reached San Francisco via Oregon, that Col. Johnston had been defeated by the Mormons, with the loss of 180 men, and had been forced to retreat. It is, of course, untrue.

THE UTAH EXPEDITION.—Washington, Dec. 26.—The War Department this morning received dispatches confirmatory of previous advices, that all the troops of the Utah expedition have concentrated near Fort Bridger, in a comparatively comfortable condition.

Later.—The Secretary of War this afternoon received a telegram from Lieut. Gen. Scott, from New York, in which he says he has good news from the Utah expedition. Cols. Johnston and Smith and their trains were up with Col. Alexander, who was marching upon Fort Bridger, which was only 16 miles off, on Nov. 7th. The troops were in high spirits. Just snow enough had fallen to protect the grass from fire.

RUNAWAY MATCHES.—A bill is before the Legislature of Kentucky against runaway matches. All the penal provisions are levelled at the male partner in an elopement.

VETO.—The Governor of Georgia having vetoed the bill for the legalization of bank suspension in that State, the Legislature has passed the bill by a two-thirds vote.

SICK-HEADACHE.

Mr. A. B. L. Myers: Dear Sir—I have, from childhood, suffered with periodical turns of the Sick-headache, increasing until the last year. I was usually laid by almost weekly, until I commenced the use of your Compound Extract of Rock Rose. One large bottle has completely cured me; I have had no occasion to use it for months.

Yours, &c., NANCY M. PARSHLY.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. It all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

☞ On the examination of the two boys, Brown and Robinson, for damaging the St. John's Church, it appeared in evidence that they sold a quantity of lead identified as that taken from around the belfry of the church, to one Wm. F. Watson, 21 Penhallow street. Other quantities of the identified lead were found at two or three other places in this city. From 100 to 200 lbs. of lead were found to be torn from the tower of the church, exposing the building (in case of storms) to great damage. The only way in which any person could have ascended to the roof was by the lightning rod on the north side. We understand the corporation are determined to carry this offence where law will take proper cognizance of all parties implicated, as the safety of property seems to demand it—not only to this, but for all buildings, public and private.

The boys are not alone to blame—those who buy such articles are more culpable.

☞ Capt. John Pope, being released from serving on the Naval Court of Inquiry at Washington, (which we believe has disposed of all business before it,) returned to this city on Saturday, and has resumed duty here, as Commandant of this Naval Station.

John Christie, Esq., for upwards of thirty years Clerk to the Commandant here, is to resume his old position, with the New Year.

☞ It must be gratifying to our citizens generally, to learn that Col. Weare received orders from head-quarters at Washington, on Monday, to have the Custom House Drain, in State street, finished forthwith. A large gang of laborers were at once set to work—and will get their pay, this time. Mr. Strong, with his handfull of men, kept at work in the old place, at the lower end of the ditch.

☞ The funeral services of Col. McIntire will be performed at the Methodist Church, this (Tuesday) afternoon. He was a Free Mason, and the Masonic Burial Service will be read by Rev. Mr. Hall, Chaplain of St. John's Lodge.

☞ The Exeter Band, in their handsome new uniform, drove into town in a splendid band-carriage drawn by four horses, on Monday afternoon—in fine style: and performed at the Promenade Concert in the evening—concerning which we shall have something to say hereafter.

☞ It will be seen that the Dancers are to have a fine time, dancing the old year out and the New Year in, at Congress Hall. There was a large and select company gathered there, on Christmas Eve.

INTERESTING TO RAIL ROAD TRAVELLERS. Luther C. Tebbetts, was arraigned in the Boston, Police Court, Thursday, on a charge of evading the payment of railroad fare on his passage from Rollinsford, N.H., to Boston. It appeared that Tebbetts bought a ticket at Bangor for Boston, and after receiving a check for his ticket, he stopped over night at Rollinsford, and took the morning train from Portland Thursday. The conductor refused the check, on the ground that it did not entitle him to come in this train, but only in the train of the day previous, as it was marked "good for this day only." and when he insisted upon payment of fare, or expulsion from the train, Tebbetts said he would shoot the first man who laid a hand upon him to put him out, and insisted that he had once paid his fare and should not pay it again. The conductor then telegraphed to the superintendent of the road in this city, to have an officer ready to arrest Mr. Tebbetts for an attempt to evade paying his fare. Judge Cushing decided that there was no evidence of fraud, because the defendant had once paid his passage and the corporation had received and acknowledged the receipt of the money, and were therefore bound to carry him to his destination. Under these circumstances he ordered Mr. Tebbetts to be discharged.—Boston Bee.

TRADE BETWEEN PORTLAND AND ILLINOIS. A merchant of western Illinois, who has recently visited Portland has made arrangements to forward his flour for a market to that city, where he can deliver it twenty cents cheaper than in Boston, The same gentleman purchased a bill of goods which he forwarded via the Grand Trunk to his place of business in Illinois.—Adv.

PLAIN ENGLISH FOR UNNECESSARY LATIN. "Did the defendant approach the plaintiffs seriatim?" inquired an attorney in a case of assault and battery the other day. "No sir-ee," was the reply, "he went at'em with a poker."

Relieve misfortune quickly.—A man is like an egg—the longer he is in hot water, the harder he is when taken out.

MARRIED.

U. S. steamer Mississippi, Com. Nicholson, from New York via Madeira, arrived at Table Bay, C. G. H. Oct. 21.

A letter received from U. S. frigate Minnesota, reports the death of a young man named John Davis, of Belfast, Me., aged 22. He fell from the main-yard to the deck, a distance of about seventy-five feet, injuring him so that he died in about four hours.

☞ In relation to the extraordinary developments in the Sage murder case, the Norwalk Gazette learns from Judge Butler, before whom the examination was held, that the sailor has confessed that he picked up the facts about the town, and then concocted the whole story for the sole purpose of obtaining the $200 reward offered.

☞ Six pure Arabian blood stallions have been brought to New York city by Capt. Lane, late of the combined American and English companies engaged in raising the sunken vessels of war in the harbor of Sebastopol. They are direct from the Czar's cavalry stables, and cost eighteen thousand dollars.

☞ The following item shows the danger of giving medicines, without competent medical advice. A child, in this city, on Saturday last, four or five years old, had given to it by its parents, a large quantity of a strong decoction of pinkroot; and in a short time the narcotic properties of the medicine produced sleep, and in two hours convulsions and death, before a physician could be obtained.

DESECRATION OF A TOMB AT NASHUA, N. H.—On Tuesday evening last, the Cemetery at Nashua, was broken into by some despicable villains, who proceeded deliberately to efface, with a chisel, the lettering and ornaments of the elegant and costly tomb recently erected for the Masonic order of that city, by a munificent provision in the will of the late Hon. Charles F. Gove.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Kansas advices here seem to indicate that the free State men will participate in and control the State election on the 4th of January, under the Lecompton Constitution.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known and long established Lotteries, of which R. FRANCK & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after their receipt, if they come to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. THE GREAT BEAUTIFIER

So long unsuccessfully sought, FOUND AT LAST.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY GRAY HAIR to its original color; covers luxuriant by the bald head; removes all dandruff, itching, and all scrofula, scald head and all eruptions;—makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy; and will preserve it to any imaginable age; removes, as if by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache. See circular and the following:

DOVER, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls at Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of half size, by express, or, if you will prepay the freight, we will be much obliged.

DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer I was induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and healthy cultivated crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

GEORGE W. BURNS, JOHN MCCORMAN,
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color, and I can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,
O. J. WOOD & CO., 312 Broadway, N. Y., (in great N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment) and 114 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,

SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood stove, by drawing, pushing, or current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce a stove which will do much Pure Warm Air to be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized room for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed, without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent. in fuel expense.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH

THE ENTIRE SEASON,

THE MAJOR'S STORY.

Three years ago, said the Major, puffing sowly at his Havana, we had a likely mulatto girl named Sarah, who was so headstrong and passionate, that my mother found it impossible to keep her about the house, and after punishing her two or three times, she was put to work with the field hands. She was a very finely formed, active, handsome wench, and was much attached to all of us, particularly to my mother, but her white blood spoilt her, and she had been so petted when young that she came to think at last, nothing too good for her, and behaved herself in a way very reprehensible in a servant; so, as I said before, we put her to field work. This seemed to break her down a little, at first, but Jim Brown, the overseer, told me after a day or two, that she was doing very well. We were hoeing corn at the time, and, as that is not very heavy work, I thought that we should probably have no more trouble with her, but I was mistaken, for one morning, as I sat after breakfast, reading the paper, Jim came in with a bloody nose, and told me, in excited way, that that 'devil of a new hand," Sarah, had attacked him in the field, and knocked him down with a hoe-handle. He stoutly protested that she had rushed upon him without provocation, and beaten him outrageously. My mother heard afterwards, through the servants, that Jim had provoked her scandalously, but niggers will lie always, and in farm affairs, I never pay any attention to what they say.

This was an affair which needed immediate attention and punishment, for such insubordination, if left unrebuked, would be of fatal consequences among the servants, so I told the overseer to punish her as he saw fit. He seemed, however, a little afraid of the girl, and begged me to punish her myself. "Jim Brown," said I, "I hire you to do my dirty work, and you must do it, or leave my service." He saw that there was no appeal, but begged me to give him some brandy, to steady his nerves, and then to accompany him, at least into the yard. I complied with both his requests, and found quite a crowd of frightened negroes, grouped around Sarah, who, in a rage of weeping, was delivering herself of a loud and excited harangue to the motley assembly. As soon as she saw me, she forced her way through the ring, and threw herself at my feet.—"Massa John," said she, the tears streaming down her cheeks, "I done wrong, I know I done wrong, but don't let that Satan whip me! Whip me yourself, Massa John, an' I won't never move a finger; but I'd rather die'n have that man put his hand on me! Oh Massa John," she continued, as Jim Brown approached from the house with a cord and a heavy whip, "don't for God's sake, don't let him do it! Oh Massa John, let me back in the house to Missus. I'll never do so again, never!"

I really felt sorry for the poor creature, but what could I do? Whip any of them I could not, but it would not do to let such an example go unpunished, so I said to her, "Sarah, you have done very wrong. I could send you to jail for this. You know that I would not strike you myself, but you must be punished. Mr. Brown is master in the field, and he must be obeyed?" I turned towards the house, and the girl rose up, with a sullen rage and despair upon her brow, and as I turned back a moment at the door, I saw her quietly following the overseer.

I paused on the steps for a moment, and saw him unlock the corn house, and driving her in before him, enter, and close the door, which I then heard locked inside.—I retired to my own room and shut myself in, for I could not bear to hear the poor girl's screams when Jim should come to flog her. In spite of this, however, I presently heard loud outcries, rather of passion than pain, mingled with oaths in the gruff tones of Brown's voice, succeeded by heavy and continued blows, which reached me even in my room.

Sick at heart, I counted them—thirty—forty—fifty. Why—good God! the man will kill her, thought I, when they suddenly ceased, and a dull silence ensued. In a few minutes more, my mother entered the room as pale as a ghost. "John," cried she, "hurry out, you're wanted." "Has he killed her?" "No, thank God!" said my mother, "but I fear that she has killed him! They can't get into the corn house, for its locked!" I hurried into the yard, where I found a large crowd of negroes gathered about the corn house. Within, all was still as death. I went to the door, which I found fastened. "Sarah!" I cried, shaking it, but there was no answer.

"Massa John," said old Tom, "she's gone an' took the key with her!" "Gone!" I cried. "Yes, Massa John. The devil give her strength, an' she tied up Jim Brown an' whaled him orful! We heard him groan in thar, but we couldn't get in no ways to stop it!" Here was a go. One of the likeliest overseers I ever knew whipped to death, perhaps, by a girl! I burst open the door, and a sight met me that I hope I may never see again. I have heard of slave whippings, attended with barbarities that would shame the devil, but I think they are very rare, at least I never saw one. The most horrible details that I ever heard could not surpass what I now beheld. The senseless body of Jim Brown hung suspended by the wrists, from a peg in one of the beams, the feet just resting upon the floor, while his back was one horrid mass of hanging strips of flesh and clotted blood. We cut him down, and he was well cared for and eventually recovered; but he, immediately that he was well enough to bear the journey, threw up his employment and returned to his home in the eastern states, which furnish many of our best drivers, traders and overseers.

In the meantime Sarah disappeared, and no one knew of her whereabouts. Of course, the circumstances created an immense excitement in the neighborhood, and we hunted night and day for nearly two weeks, but without avail. I have no doubt that if she had been caught that so great was the indignation, she would have been hanged on the spot. Well, we had nearly forgotton the circumstances, when, a few evenings since, Sarah came back, bringing a child with her. No threat can induce her to tell where she has been hidden, and the only reason she gives for returning is that "her heart would not let her stay away from Missus any longer!" From the fact that she has been gone three years, and this child of hers is nearly white, and less than two years old, I conclude that she has been harbored by some of those poor whites who are a curse to the country.

I dare not tell my neighbors of her return, for they would insist upon a trial, and she could hardly escape with less than death for her offense, and I do not wish to punish her, for I really think she did what was only right in defending herself as she did, so I shall sell her South. The child, which is a very likely brat, I shall keep, as a playmate for little Alice, who is about her age, and she will be a fine body servant, when little Ally arrives at womanhood, and is married.

"But surely, Major," said I, "you will not separate this mother and child. With such a passionate nature, she must love the child of her sorrow deeply."

"I shall keep the child," said the Major, adding coldly, "It is her own fault. If she chooses to take up with poor whites, she must bear the consequences; she has no one but herself to blame."

I said nothing more, for though I pitied the poor, ignorant creature, from the bottom of my soul, I could do nothing, 'twas none of my business, but I thought, as we walked home through the night, that a system which tolerated, nay exacted, such abuses, must be radically wrong, and I have never seen anything since to change that opinion.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a needle dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

MYER'S EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE, is peculiarly applicable, and if freely used will not fail to protect the constitution against the sudden and extreme changes of our variable climate. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and invigorates the whole system, thus fortifying against the insidious attacks of ungenial frosts and debilitating heats. See Circulars.

MORMON MOVEMENTS.

The War Department at Washington has news from the Utah army down to Nov. 4. Col. Johnston writes from Ham's Fork, that Col. Smith, with his command and trains, reached there on the 3d of November, and he reports the troops in good spirits. He gives a full account of the Mormons.

The communications from Brigham Young to Col. Alexander, and Eldors —— and Taylor to Capt. Marcy; and the orders of D. Wells, commander of the Mormons, which Col. Johnston encloses; and the acts of the Legislative Assembly at the last session, show a manifest and settled design on the part of the Mormons to hold and occupy the Territory, independent, and in open defiance of the government, connected with numerous overt acts of treason.

Among the documents transmitted is a letter from Brigham Young, dated Oct. 16, in which, replying to Col. Alexander, he says:—

If you persist in your attempts to permanently locate an army in this Territory, contrary to the wish and constitutional rights of the people therein, aiding the administration in their unhallowed efforts to palm their corrupt officials upon us, and protect them — blacklegs, black-hearted scoundrels, whoremasters and murderers—as was the sole intention in sending you and your troops here, you will have to meet a mode of warfare against which your tactics furnish you no information. We, of all people, are endeavoring to preserve and perpetuate the genius of the Constitution and constitutional law—while the administration, and the troops they have ordered to Utah, are in fact themselves the rebels, and in hostility to the general government. And if George Washington was now living, and at the head of our government, he would hang the administration as high as he did Andre, and that, too, with a far better grace, and to a much greater subserving of the best interests of the country.

If our real enemies—the mobocrats, priests, editors and politicians—at whose instigation the present storm has been gathered, had come against us, instead of you and your command, I would not have addressed them thus. They never would have been allowed to reach the South Pass.

John Taylor, in writing a letter to Capt. Marcy, says: "I know from your personal intercourse with members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, that there have been various plans concocted at head-quarters, for some time past, for the overthrow of the Mormons.—Mr. Fuller of New York, who sent you an introductory letter to me, informs me that you are a politician. If so you must know that in the last Presidential campaign the Republican party had opposition to slavery and polygamy as two of the principal planks in their platform. You may know that Utah was picked out and the only Territory excluded from a participation, in the preemption rights to land.—I might enumerate injuries by scores; and if these things are not so, why is it that Utah is so knotty a question? Why could Drummond and a host of other mean scribblers palm their barefaced lies with such impunity, and have their infamous slanders swallowed with such gusto? Was it not that the Administration, as their satellites had planned our destruction, were eager to catch at anything to render specious their contemplations of blood? Or, in plain terms, the Democrats advocated strongly popular sovereignty.

The Republicans tell them if they join in maintaining inviolately the Democratic institution of the South, they must also swallow polygamy. The Democrats thought this would not do, as it would interfere with the religious scruples of many of their supporters; and they looked about for some means to dispose of the knotty questions. Mr. Buchanan, with Messrs. Douglas, Cass, Thompson and others, after failing to devise measures, hit upon the expedient of an armed force against Utah, and thus thought, by a sacrifice of the Mormons, to untie the knotty question. Yes, by destroying or killing a hundred thousand innocent American citizens, to satisfy the pious, humane, patriotic feeling of their constituents, they would take the wind out of the sails of the Republicans, and gain to themselves immortal honors."

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—A special correspondent of the Times telegraphs from Washington to-day that Secretary Cass denounces the arrest of Walker, as illegal and unauthorized. Commodore Paulding's instructions were only to prevent the landing of Walker. The Commodore will doubtless be court-martialed immediately.

Court-martialed for doing his duty? for fulfilling his instructions? We hope not; but we remember Walker of Kansas, and Stanton; and so it may be that it was intended that Com. Paulding should make considerable ado, parade his instructions in the wrong time and place, and let Walker go, as the other well-instructed officials have done. But the blunt naval commander, supposing, very likely, that government orders were like his own, to be executed and "nothing else," went to work in the shortest and most effectual manner.

☞ On Monday 20,000 bushels of potatoes were landed in Boston from New Brunswick.

☞ Senator Douglas was in Philadelphia on Christmas Eve, accompanied by his wife. He stopped at the Girard House, and as soon as the people found out the fact, they gathered in front of the hotel, and called out the "little giant." The giant came—and made them a speech. A compliment having been paid to him as the "author of the Nebraska bill," he declared that he was not the author of the great principle upon which that measure was founded—that principle was coeval with, and was part of the Constitution of the United States. Col. Forney of the Press also spoke.

☞ By advices from Kansas to the 22d instant, it is reported that the pro-slavery Constitution put forth by the Lecompton Convention has been adopted, by a large majority, but by a very small vote.—The free state men seem to have treated the bogus instruments with neglect and contempt. Gen. Denver has assumed the office of Secretary and Acting Governor of the Territory.

VIOLENCE IN PHILADELPHIA.—On Christmas Eve, Mr. Richard Thomas, keeper of a public house on Dock street, Philadelphia, was called out by a party of rowdies whom he had ejected from his premises, and one of them stabbed him twice in the side, inflicting wounds which will probably prove fatal. On the same night a difficulty occurred between two colored men named Harris and Durham, which resulted in the first named being shot through the head, so that he died in a few hours. Another man was badly stabbed the same evening. On Christmas morning, John Lee and George Heckford got into a quarrel in a bar-room, when Heckford knocked Lee down and then kicked him about the head so that he died in about half an hour. On Christmas afternoon, during a quarrel between John Collins and his wife, about a bottle of rum, the woman plunged a knife into the head of her husband, the weapon entering at the ear and coming out under the chin, causing probably a fatal wound. New York could hardly surpass this record of one twenty-four hours.

INTERESTING TO GAMBLERS.—A bill to punish professional gamblers by whipping, has passed the lower house of the South Carolina legislature. It provides that the guilty party shall receive not to exceed thirty-nine lashes. The papers do not state whether stock and produce gamblers, &c., are included in the beneficent provisions of this bill.

☞ The hotels of Paris are said to be eloquent of the hard times. Even the Louvre—the leviathan—which makes up from 800 to 1000 beds every night, has only 200 strangers within its walls; and many of the first class hotels have absolutly nothing for their employees to do.

A correspondent of the New York Herald says that there have been some cases of such terrible distress among the Americans at Paris, caused by the failure of remittances, that but for the charity of well disposed individuals the parties must have starved.

SYLLOGISTIC REASONING.—A writer in the Westminster Review, takes the position that alcohol is food, and offers the following logic in proof of it:

"Food is force—
Alcohol is force—
Therefore alcohol is food."

Mr. Mussey in replying to this, gives another syllogism of about the same length, as follows:

"Horse feed is force—
Whipping a horse is force—
Therefore whipping a horse is horse feed."

☞ The amount of Fishing Bounty to be paid in Gloucester January 1st, is $70,000. Most of the fishing vessels of that port are now in, but in a few weeks will be fitting away for Georges. The fleet will be largely increased next season.

☞ At the recent session of the Supreme Court at Salem, Mass., Mrs. Sawyer received a decree of divorce from her husband, Dr. Benj. E. Sawyer of Haverhill, Mass. The court ordered a decree that the doctor should pay as alimony $1225 down, and $300 per annum from the date of the decree.

HEAVY ROBBERY.—W. H. Emerson, a merchant of Newport, Canada West, while on his passage to New York, was robbed in the cars of a satchel containing $14,700.

IMPORTANT FROM KANSAS.—St. Louis, Dec. 23.—Advices from Kansas of the 22d, say the Constitution with Slavery, had been carried by a large majority. The Pro-Slavery vote at Shawnee was 765. It was reported at Lawrence, that a body of Free State men had gone to Lecompton to seize the Territorial arms; but a private letter from Lawrence says they have gone to Fort Scott, with the avowed intention of destroying that place, and of exterminating the Pro-Slovery settlers at Shawnee, and carrying the war into Missouri.

Mr. Denver had assumed Governorship of the Territory, and issued an address, in which he exhorts the citizens to appeal to the ballot box for the settlement of difficulties. He made copious extracts from the President's instructions to him, to indicate the line of policy he designs to pursue. He also states that Gen. Calhoun had invited himself, together with the presiding officers of both Houses of the Territorial Legislature, to be present at the counting of the returns of the election of the 21st.

There is nothing authentic from Fort Scott.

Gentlemen from Kansas report the whole vote of Lecompton as 132, and the majority for Slavery, 59.

No votes were received at Lawrence and the poll books were not opened at Topeka.

The Slavery majority in Lexington was 30.

Nothing had been heard from Leavenworth.

A letter to the Republican says that the Lawrence Convention of the 23d inst., will decide whether or not to go into the January election for State officers. Many favor such a course, with a view of crushing out the State Government. Ex-Secretary Stanton's name was mentioned for Governor.

KANSAS AND WALKER.—The late news from Kansas looks only too much towards some suspicion of double-dealing, on the part of Gov. Walker, since now, we learn, that the people there anticipated his removal from office—why? we ask, if he only did his duty.—Boston Courier.

For that very reason, because he did his duty. The government had before sent Reeder, Geary, and Shannon, all high national, pro-slavery men, but all obliged in justice and in the faithful performance of their duties to act with the free state men, and for so doing they had been removed before him. Next followed Walker, more pro-slavery than either of them, and hoping by what he might do there to reach the Presidency, and he, too, in disgust with ruffianism, became a free state man; and after him Stanton, almost a southern firecater, who upon his first entrance into the territory threatened to hang or shoot every man who did not pay the taxes levied by the bogus legislature; and he also, as soon as he had time to look about him, joined the side of the free. Each in his turn has gone to the political block that the executive axe might take his head off. Here is the array of martyrs—Reeder, Geary, Shannon, Walker and Stanton; and no decent man can go to the same position but he will be forced to the same action and share the same fate.—Newburyport Herald.

A CHILD KILLED.—Last evening, Coroner E. L. Shed was called upon to visit the house of John Barry. On reaching the house, he found Barry lying upon the floor, and his wife upon the bed, with a dead child lying near her. The parents were drunk, and could give no information regarding the child, and Mr. Shed ordered them to be removed to the lobby. When questioned this morning, they pretended that they did not know that the child was dead. We understand that they had a drunken row during the afternoon, and the presumption is that the child was stifled in bed.—Lowell Courier, 26th.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The Democrats held a large but not an enthusiastic meeting to-night. Ex-Chief Justice Ellis Lewis presided. Speeches were made and resolutions adopted, endorsing the Administration, more particularly on the Kansas question. During the meeting cheers were given for Buchanan and Douglas, respectively.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.—In Fall River, 1200 loaves of bread and 300 pounds of cheese were given to the poor, through contributions of generous citizens.

☞ Recent advices from St. Domingo, state that that city was still besieged by Santa Anna's army, and was on the point of surrendering.

THE OLD YEAR.

I lament the Old Year, whose departure is near,
Whose shattered frame trembles with age:
His eyelids hang heavy o'er orbs dim and blear;
So rigid and sharp do his features appear,
So woful and wan is his aspect, 'tis clear
That his life-records fill their last page.

The Patriarch old had twelve children, all told,—
Their names fill the Calendar still;
And now, when his limbs are grown palsied and cold,
Like a shepherd he gathers his flock to their fold,
While Justice sits near with her parchment unrolled,
For the old man is making his will.

Misses June and July, robed in azure, come nigh;
With August, March leads the young May;
In soft zephyrs they sigh—dewy tears fill each eye,
For they grieve that their father, the Old Year, must die;
And his sons, for their weeds, tear the clouds from the sky,
Which rebellious side winds sweep away.

But the hoary old sage calmly looks on their rage,
With bowed head is mustering his breath,
With the gathering foe a last conflict to wage,
Yet the odds are too great between youth and old age,
For his treacherous sons with their sire now engage,
And December's shaft dooms him to death.

Lay him out by the wall, shroud him o'er with a pall,
From his place in the ages he's passed;
On his white flowing beard let the frost-gems now fall,
And the snow's winding-sheet his dead body enthrall;
Shout we never so loudly, he'll heed not our call,
Though we cry with the tempest's strong blast.

Let us cover him o'er in the grave with his lore,
—Ring, ye time-bells, his funeral knell;
He has gone where his six thousand fathers before
Have fled, with the volumes of records they bore,
To blend with successors till time is no more,
And in silence eternal to dwell.

The Character of Washington.

HON. EDWARD EVERETT having accepted an invitation of the citizens of Portsmouth, will deliver his ADDRESS on the CHARACTER OF WASHINGTON,

At the Temple,

On MONDAY Evening, Jan. 11, 1858.

Doors to be opened at 6½ P. M., and the Address delivered at 7.

TICKETS of single admission at 50 cents; and Family Tickets, admitting three or more, at two shillings each person, may now be procured at the stores of Messrs. J. F. Shores, Jr., J. H. Foster, G. C. Harvey, W. R. Preston, and J. H. Thacher.

No Family Tickets will be disposed of after 6 P. M. on that day. Should any single tickets remain unsold, they can be procured at the door.

The subject is one to which every lover of his country delights to listen—the proceeds of the receipts will be a contribution by Mr. E. towards the purchase of Mount Vernon—the orator, the Demosthenes of his day, possesses great attractions aside from the subject and object. This fearful attraction will render the occasion one of great interest. Purchasers will therefore do well to secure their Tickets as early as possible, as the number to be sold has been limited.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CLOAKS AND CLOAK GOODS.

If any of our readers are about purchasing a Cloak, or the materials to make one, they will of course visit NUMBER FIFTEEN MARKET ST., before buying.—Allen & Paine having appropriated one room of their store to that business entirely, are opening to-day one of the largest stocks in this city, including Cloaks, Broadcloths, Black, Brown and Drab Plush for Trimming. To those of their customers who prefer making their own Cloaks, they will give a pattern of any Cloak in their store.

☞ The only place in this city where an Ambrotype can be obtained, is at Davis' Ambrotype Gallery, No. 8 Daniel Street, as they have the Patent, and all infringements will be prosecuted. sept9

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

WHO IS TO BLAME?—Messrs. Editors:—It is quite probable that the boys who committed the depredations on the St. John's Church, were the same who recently entered the Temple in a similar manner.—After stealing the lead from the belfry, they took all the brass lamps and chandeliers and sold them to the purchasers who bought the church lead. The chandeliers were cut in pieces for the convenience of packing. The appearance of the articles in the purchasers' stores, was sufficient to convince any person, except the unsuspecting purchasers, that they were stolen. All the satisfaction that the owners got of them, was that they would try to find out the boys' names; and would be careful in future not to purchase such suspicious-looking articles. They understand the boys, and the boys understand them, and the trade continues mutual. Had the gentlemen passed them, with the stolen goods, to the City Marshal, they would have taught the boys an important lesson, and would have done the public a general benefit by discountenancing such depredations on the community.

☞ The Promenade Concert, Monday evening, was a rich treat indeed. Jefferson Hall was well filled with a highly respectable company, who fully enjoyed the triple entertainment—the concerts by two bands, and the dance afterwards. Each Band played well, though ours has the best instruments, especially for in-door playing; and the performances of the two together, without more rehearsing, were certainly as remarkable as they were gratifying to all who heard.

This was the best and most successful entertainment the Band has yet given; and everybody expressed themselves in terms of the highest satisfaction. We hope to hear our Exeter friends again before the winter is out. Both those Bands merit encouragement, and we are glad they receive it. Success to them.

☞ the funeral of Col. Jefferson McIntire, at the Methodist Church on Tuesday afternoon, was largely attended—and the services very interesting and impressive.—The procession was long—the Masonic fraternity turuing out with full ranks, to do the last honors to a most worthy and beloved brother.

The Cornet Band accompanied the march with rich and appropriate music. We understand the body will be taken to York, and buried in the family cemetery.

☞ We understand that "the other bondsman" for the Custom House contractor—that is, Mr. Brooks' partner—about whom so many and so long promises have been made—arrived in town on Tuesday, from Washington. Now we shall see what we shall see.

☞ "If the red sleigh-er (or any other color) thinks he sleighs," this time, he is mistaken. We have various promises of sleighing, but "just before it does come, it does not." Wait a bit.

☞ Rev. T. W. Higginson, one of the most beautiful of orators, is to lecture on Spiritualism, at the Temple, on Monday evening next, Jan. 4.

☞ The Vallejo (California) Library and Reading Room Association, sends to renew their subscription to the Weekly Chronicle: and the Librarian, Mr. Jas. Topley, improves the occasion to state that the Association is flourishing—having gathered in one year upwards of three hundred volumes of valuable standard Books, and being supplied with the principal Magazines and Papers published in the United States and Europe.

"Among the members, (who nearly represent every State in the Union,) we have a few gentlemen from your part of the country: our worthy Naval Constructor, (at Mare Island,) Isaiah Hanscom, Esq.; and his son, Mr. Wallace Hanscom; and Mr. J. H. Mudgridge, and Mr. J. H. Green—all worthy associate and active members of our Association. With such men as these for our members, and "Excelsior", for our motto, failure in our enterprise is out of the question."

WOOD THIEVES.—Messrs. Editors:—I notice in your last paper, that the henroosts, &c., about Exeter are being robbed. Well, these are not the only depredations committed on farmers. The woodland in Great Neck Woods, North Hampton, has been frequently visited by a couple of suspicous-looking chaps, who have growing wood enough of their own—but who prefer to rob their neighbors. As we can show no legal proof, we take this mode of naming them; and would recommend that they call and settle for what they have already taken, without further notice. YOUR SUBSCRIBERS.

U. S. STEAMER SARANAC. — The Portsmouth (Virginia) Transcript learns from a letter written on board the United States steamer Saranac, at Barbadoes, West Indies, Dec. 8th, that she already has had ample opportunity to test her sea-qualities. She left Norfolk Nov. 22, on a cruise to the Pacific, and put into Barbadoes for repairs and coal. The officers and crew are in excellent health, except Capt. Kelly, whose health has been bad for some time past, owing to being thrown from a carriage.

On the passage the Saranac experienced a very severe hurricane, which lasted for twelve hours. It continued to blow a gale for six days thereafter, during which she carried away a large portion of both of her wheel-houses, her guards, the port life buoy, a large portion of the head, filled all the quarter and stern boats, and rolled the wheel-house boat under and stove her.—The pipes under the yards were also stove, but fortunately there were no spars carried away.

She will remain at Barbadoes some two weeks to repair engines and hull, and to coal, and then leave direct for Rio.

The engines worked well during the gale—excellently. Had they failed during the prevalence of the storm, all would have gone to "Bob Butt's Locker." She was battened down fore and aft, even to the cabin, and as there were then no "wind sails," there was no draft, and all below were nearly suffocated. At this critical moment the engines stopped for want of steam, but by the extra exertions of the engineers, it was again raised.

The Saranac was built at Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remmitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than my subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUNDBURKE,
Late Commissione of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R.H.Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed by superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a safe opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that parties have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year; all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the numbers drawn, a ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes payable in full (no 00); every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, and sent to the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCK & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. Every day of the month, if no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $80. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket; after the drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket; after the drawing, and Tuesday, is a combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawings sent to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

DOVER, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of the $2 size, by express.

DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

My little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised me to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do cheerfully, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the most wonderful discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can (if you think it worth the trouble) publish the last fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pots used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with. When this Stove is properly managed, without once going out. Added to all these qualities, it is exceedingly economical, scarcely expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

THE FRENCH SLAVE TRADE.

In the British House of Lords, on the 11th inst., the Earl of Shaftesbury asked the Earl of Clarendon, Foreign Secretary, if there existed a contract between a house in Marseilles and some African chiefs, for the supply of free emigrants to the French colonies; and whether the decree had been ratified by a decree of the Imperial Government; and generally, what was the position of the whole matter?

The Earl of Clarendon replied, that he had no reason to believe that a decree had been issued, but he had no doubt the French Government had entered into a contract with a certain house to supply negroes, on condition that it was to be bona fide a free emigration. But he asserted that there could be no such thing as free emigration from Africa. It had been tried under the English Government sixteen years ago, and utterly failed. Slave dealers offered $90 a head, while the French contractors had only power to give $50, and there had been a failure of the contract to supply a given number. The negroes could only be procured by purchase, after they had been obtained by the chiefs in wars upon their neighbors. These wars were of the most barbarous character.—Whether the negroes, after being placed on board ship, understood the question, whether they were willing to work in the French colonies, at stated wages, or not, it was manifest they had no choice. The effect of these wars for the purpose of capturing slaves for sale, had been very injurious to regular trade. For instance, the Chief of Abbeskuta had issued a proclamation, that as he was about to raise a large army, trade must be stopped. The Earl read the proclamation, which had been sent home by Mr. Campbell, Consul at Lagos, who attributes the warlike preparations in various parts of the country to the stimulus created by the operation of the French contractor, M. Regis. This resulted was to be regretted, as a legitimate trade had sprung up in those very regions. The trade in palm oil had increased fifty per cent., within a few years, and now amounted to £2,000,000 a year. In 1815, the eight powers at the Congress declared against the slave trade, and the French Government, though not a party, expressed an emphatic determination of adherence to the principle of the agreement.

The Earl of Derby said that the French government were deceiving themselves and neglecting the experience required by England, if they did not perceive that the maintenance of the system as it now stood, was identical in substance, if not in form, with the slave trade itself.

The Earl of Clarendon made as full a disclosure of the relations of the French government to the subject, as diplomatic usages admitted of.

Earl Grey relied fully upon Her Majesty's government not to allow the matter to sleep. It was one of the deepest importance, not only to England, but to the cause of civilization throughout the world, and he hoped that many days might not elapse before the government of France repudiated all connection with the movement upon which it was reported to have embarked.

A SUDDEN CONVERSION.

BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

The simple story I am about to relate possesses much interest for those who were ever acquainted with the parties concerned, and to others its interest will not only be in its truth, but also in the peculiar soul-touch it developes.

In one of the northern towns of Vermont lived a young man whom I shall call Daniel Bryam. He was a lawyer by profession, and one of the most intellectual men in that section of the country. No one possessed the confidence of his friends more than he did, and no one was better calculated to secure the good will and friendship of all with whom he came in contact. Business poured in upon him, and he failed not to give the utmost satisfaction.

At the age of twenty-seven, Bryam took to himself a wife from among the most favored ones of the country. Mary Felton experienced a strange pride when she gave her hand to the young lawyer, and if none envied her, many at least prayed that they might be as fortunate.

But ere long a cloud came over the scene. Conviviality ran high among the members of the bar, and young Bryam possessed one of those peculiar temperaments which at length give the whole body and soul up to the demon of appetite. For three years he followed the social custom of the times without neglecting much of his business, but finally he sank to the lowest pit of degradation—when at the age of five and thirty, he became a confirmed drunkard. He now neglected his clients altogether, for he could not remain sober long enough at any one time to carry any case through court. The only business he had now upon his hands, was the collecting of some few small debts.

On the evening of his thirty-fifth birthday, he joined the Washingtonians, and once more his bright genius shone out upon the world. But it could not last long; and amid the examples of those who were his companions, he went back to his cups, and down he sank, as rapidly as he had risen. In one short year from that time he was a miserable, degraded thing. People who had left notes and accounts with him to collect called at his house, and upon inquiring of his wife where he was, she would tell them he was away. Poor woman! they could not bear to dispute her, and they would go their way, though they knew full well that the remains of Daniel Bryam were prostrate upon his bed-room floor.

One day a Mr. Vinson called to see him. Vinson had left notes and accounts to the amount of several thousand dollars with Bryam to collect, and he was anxious about them. His poor wife answered him as usual—that her husband gone away.

"My dear Madam," returned Mr. Vinson, "I know your misfortune, and I appreciate your feelings, but I must see your husband. If I can see him even for one minute, I can learn all I wish to know."

Mary Bryam spoke not a word, but with a tearful eye, she turned away, and Mr. Vinson followed her. He found Bryam in a back-room, stretched at full length upon the floor, with a jug of Medford rum by his side! With much effort, Vinson aroused the poor man to a state of semi-consciousness, and asked if he had done anything about the notes and accounts he had left with him.

"Yes," returned the lawyer, in a weak, husky voice—"I have had the money for you over a month. I've deducted my percentage, and you'll find the rest in that trunk. Mary's got the key."

Mrs. Bryant was called in, the key was produced, and Mr. Vinson found his money—four thousand and some odd hundreds of dollars—all right and safe.

In his worst moments, Bryam never used for himself a single penny he had in trust. Hundreds there were who labored hard to reclaim the wanderer, but without effect. Year after year went by, and he sank lower and lower—yet his wife left him not. Her brother, a young lawyer named Moses Felton, often urged her to forsake her husband, at the same time offering her a comfortable home beneath his own roof, but she would not listen.

At length all hope was given up. Week after week would the fallen man lie down on the floor, and not a day of real sobriety marked his course. I doubt if such another case was ever known. He was too low for conviviality, for those with whom he would have associated would not drink with him. All, all alone, in his own office and chamber, he drank the accursed poison, and even his very life seemed the offspring of the jug.

In early spring, Moses Felton had a call to go to Ohio. Before he set out he visited his sister. He offered to take her with him, but she would not go.

"But why stay here?" urged the brother. "You are all faded away, and disease is upon you. Why should you live with such a brute?"

"Hush, Moses. Speak not so," answered the wife, keeping back the tears. "I will not leave him now. But he will soon leave me; he cannot last much longer."

At that moment Daniel Bryam entered the apartment. Even Moses Felton was startled by his appearance. He looked like a wanderer from the tomb. He had his hat on, and his jug was in his hand.

"Ah, Moses, how are ye?" he gasped, for he could not speak plainly.

The visitor looked at him a few moments in silence. Then, as his features assumed a cold, stern expression, he said, in a calm but strongly emphasized tone:

"Daniel Bryam, I have been your next best friend but one. My sister is an angel—but mated with a demon. I have loved you, Daniel, as I never loved man before, for you were noble, generous and kind; but I hate you, now, for you are a devil incarnate. Look at that woman.—She is my sister—the only sister God ever gave me. I wish her to live with me, but she will not while you live; yet when you die she will come to me. Thus do I pray that God will soon give her joys to my keeping. Now, Daniel, I do sincerely pray that the first intelligence that reaches me from my native place, after I reach my new home,—may—be—that—you—are—dead."

Bryam gazed upon the speaker some moments without speaking.

"Moses," at length he said, "you are not in earnest."

"As true as heaven, Daniel, I am.—When I know that you are dead I shall be happy, and not until then—so go on. Fill your jug, and—"

"Stop, stop, Moses, I can reform."

"You cannot. It is beyond your power. You have had inducements enough—enough to have reformed half the sinners in creation—and yet you are now lower than ever before. Go, and die, sir, as soon as you like, for the moment that sees you thus will set the mourners free."

Bryam's eyes flashed, and he drew himself proudly up.

"Go," said he, with a tinge of the old sarcasm that had so often electrified a jury, "go to Ohio, and I'll send you news. Go, sir, and watch the post."

With these words, Daniel Bryam hurled the jug into the fire-place, and while yet its thousand peices were flying over the floor, he strode from the house. Mary sank fainting to the floor—Moses bore her to the bed, and then having called in a neighbor, he hurried away, for the stage was waiting.

For a month Daniel Bryam hovered on the brink of the grave, but he did not die.

"One gill of brandy will save you," said the doctor, who saw that the abrupt removal of all stimulants from a system that had for long years subsisted on almost nothing else was nearly sure to prove fatal. "You can surely take a gill and not take any more?"

"Ay," gasped the poor man, "take a gill and break my oath! Moses Felton shall never learn that brandy or rum killed me! If the want of it can kill me, then let me die! But I won't die! I'll live—live till Moses Felton shall eat his own words!"

He did live; an iron will conquered the messenger death had sent, and Daniel Bryam lived. For one month he could not walk without help. But he had help—joyful, powerful help. Mary helped him.

A year passed away, and Moses Felton returned to Vermont. He entered the court house at Burlington, and Daniel Bryam was upon the floor pleading for a young man indicted for forgery. Felton started with surprise. Never before had Bryam looked so noble and commanding, and never had such torrents of eloquence poured from his lips. The case was given to the jury and the youth was acquitted. The successful counsel turned from the court room and met Moses Felton.

They shook hands, but did not speak.—When they had reached a spot where none could hear them, Bryam stopped.

"Moses," he said, "do you remember the words you spoke to me a year ago?"

"I do, Daniel."

"Will you now take them back? Unsay them now and forever?"

"Yes, with all my heart."

"Then I am in part repaid."

"And what must be the remainder of the payment?" asked Moses.

"I must die an honest, unperjured man! The oath that has bound me thus far was made for life."

That evening, Mary Bryam was among the happiest of the happy. No allusion was made in word to that strange scene of one year before, but Moses could read in both the countenances of his sister and her husband the deep gratitude they did not speak.

And Daniel Bryam yet lives, one of the most honored men of Vermont. Five times has he sat in the State legislature; thrice in the Senate, and once in the National Congress, and he is yet a noble man and an ornament to society; declining all offers of public office, from the fact that his profession is more lucrative, while plenty of others want the offices that he cares not for.

Many who read this will know the characters whom I have thus used, and will at once recognize the true individuals beneath the fictitious names I have borrowed.

Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1857.

☞ The close of the Old Year, is a fit occasion for sober thought.—How does our action for the past year, tell on the circle in which we move, and so upon the world? Have we done or said anything in favor of purity and peace? of humanity, temperance and piety? or has our influence or example been thrown into the opposite scale? Above all, what is our course and what is our purpose now?—From evil to good, or from good to better, let this changing date be the turning point. Let the year 1858 be to us, and for us, a better year than '57. By all means let our life make somebody the wiser, the better and the happier.

We offer to our numerous friends our cheerful acknowledgent of fair business and prompt pay. And instead of a mere verbal thank offering, we present them this article and other reading matter, in a clear and beautiful new type.

☞ We are to be supplied, presently, with twenty millions of first class paper money, by the Federal Government of the United States. This is not only a convenience to the government but a benefit to the people. The Boston Courier asks,

"With what circulating medium will the vast payments for Western produce be made, which must be made during the coming spring? May we not rejoice that this important want will now be supplied in the most perfect manner by the general government, to which alone we have a right to look for a truly national currency?"

To be sure this movement does not agree very well with the sub-treasury and hard money humbugs, but it does agree with commercial convenience and common sense. As the Courier remarks, we need not trouble ourselves to reconcile this most timely provision with domestic doctrines, but accept the boon and be thankful, from whatever quarter it may come. If a free-trade tariff is allowed to furnish incidental protection, why may not a specie loan be permitted incidentally to supply at least a temporary currency?

As regards the question of interest, it is plain that whatever rate should lead to hoarding the notes, would be as injurious in kind, though not in degree, as would a funded loan. It is probable indeed that notes payable on demand in specie, and bearing no interest at all, would be readily taken at par in payment of all government debts, and at 3 per cent. they cannot fail to command a premium. To make them as available as possible in the only way in which they can do much good and no harm, that is, as a circulating medium, the English plan of a rate per diem would have been preferable. A cent a day on each $100 would ensure a handsome premium on the first issue, and probably subsequent issues might be made at 1-2, 1-3, 1-4 cent, or possibly without interest.

So long as they retain their par value (and on this score there need be little fear), the less interest the government pays the better. We will even venture to predict that, long after all interest upon them shall cease, a large number will remain in circulation, as the best and safest paper currency the country has known, and will be absorbed only gradually and incidentally in the regular course of payment into the Sub-Treasury.

Political Prophecy.—We have already copied a scrap from the Bath Organ, classing the New Hampshire Democratic party with the advocates of Douglas; and now we copy another item on the same subject from the Concord correspondence of the Manchester American:

The N. H. Patriot and Democratic Standard at Concord, and most of the other Democratic papers in the State, are playing fast and loose between the President and his supporters on the one side, and Messrs. Douglas, Walker, Forney and their Democratic backers, on the other side. In four weeks they will be compelled to step into line, and even the Union Democrat and the Dover Gazette will back up Senator Douglas and his friends, and be ranked among the "anti-Buchanan" Democratic papers of the country. Nineteen-twentieths of the voters in this State, who have been ranked as friends of the administration, are to-day opposed to the President's views, and approve Douglas's and Walker's position.

The secret of course of the Union Democrat and the Dover Gazette is the fact that the three papers to print the laws and do the advertising for the departments at Washington, for this State, have not been selected, and this same fact holds the other Democratic papers non-committal until such appointments shall be made.

☞ The Postmaster General has declared the streets of Philadelphia, New York and Boston, to be post routes. This decision is to abolish the various private letter express routes which have heretofore existed in those cities.

The Postmaster General, if he has done so, has performed an illegal act,—and, if there is any sound law left in our courts, it will be so decided when it is brought to trial.

PAULDING AND WALKER.

Washington city dispatches of Dec. 29 give us Commodore Paulding's letter to the Secretary of the Navy, detailing an account of the arrest of Gen. Walker. The Commodore justifies the breaking up of the Walker camp on the ground that he and his followers were outlaws. Com. P. says:

Besides the sufferings that must necessarily be inflicted upon an innocent and unoffending people, these lawless followers of Gen. Walker, misguided and deceived into a course of crime, would doubtless have perished in Central America, or their mutilated and festered bodies would have been brought back to their friends at the expense of their country.

For the above reasons, which appear to my mind quite sufficient, I have disarmed and sent to the United States General William Walker and his outlawed and piratical followers, for trial or for whatever action the Government in its wisdom may think proper to pursue.

Much excitement exists in Washington. The dispatch says:

The Cabinet had the matter before them to-day. Although the arrest of Gen. Walker is not strictly justified by the instructions to Commodore Paulding, it is conceived that the case is very much palliated by the circumstances under which, as explained by him, it was effected.

Walker will be released from his present arrest, and it is possible that a process will be commenced to bring him to trial for violation of the neutrality laws.

Capt. Engle had a long interview with the President to-day, and detailed to him all the circumstances connected with the arrest of Walker.

Gen. Walker arrived this evening, accompanied by Marshal Rynders, T. F. Meagher and Malcolm Campbell. He was received with cheers by a large concourse of people as he entered his quarters at Brown's Hotel.

Walker and Rynders called at the State Department this evening.

Gen. Cass said that the Executive Department of the Government did not recognize Walker as a prisoner, and that it was only through the action of the judiciary that he could be lawfully held to answer any charge against him. Marshal Rynders then informed Walker that he had no authority to detain him further, and they both withdrew.

From all this it looks as if Commodore Paulding is to be sacrificed by the federal administration for obeying instructions, while fillibuster Walker walks at large and may go to sea again if he likes! What becomes of the pretence that our federal executive disapproved of fillibustering, and ordered our navy to apprehend Walker?—There seems to be the same kind of ambiguity and shamming about this, that we have seen in executive instruments about Kansas. We dare say some quibble may be found by which a good sailor and officer may be held guilty of executing his orders, though he really obeyed what any honest man would take to be their true intent. Is there any trick too base for the advocates and tools of slavery extension and aggression?

☞ Great fillibuster indignation meetings are called at New Orleans and Mobile, to denounce Com. Paulding's capture of Walker. The instructions, signed by Gen. Cass, fully justify the Commodore,—but the quibble is, that Commodore Paulding, in his prompt and decisive measures to enforce the neutrality laws, invaded the soil of a friendly nation in making the arrest.

In the British army, Paulding would be promoted, and praised. In ours, he is likely to be court-martialed and censured.

☞ A man was tried in Vienna on the 14th ult., for murdering his mistress, and during his examination the following facts came to light:—He had served 32 years in the army, and during that period had been guilty of theft, fraud and robbery. He had made two attempts to commit murder, and had deserted seven times. During the 32 years he had received 260 blows with a stick, had 25 times run the gauntlet through 300 men, and had been kept for 14 years and 7 months at hard labor with heavy irons on his legs and body.

☞ The Ohio Democracy are all on the side of the Little Giant—in the fight against Lecompton. Resolutions are pending in the Democratic Legislature, calling upon Senator Pugh to take a more decided stand, and the Columbus Statesman (Sam Medary's paper) warns the President that if he does not sound a retreat, the Democracy will, at the next election, be defeated by over 80,000 majority—will lose eight Democratic members of Congress, and that Mr. Chase will be returned to his old seat in the U. S. Senate, in place of Mr. Pugh.

☞ Michael Costello, an old offender against the liquor law in Milford, Mass., sold, a few days ago, what purported to be a cask of rum, to Madame Kelley, of "Whistle Bear," for the consideration of eleven dollars, which he received. Upon opening it, the rum appeared to have been "inundated," for nothing but pure cold water was left in the cask.

The Army of Utah.—The St. Louis Republican states that Fort Bridger, for which the troops for Utah were making and had nearly reached at last accounts, is 113 miles from Salt Lake City, but between that fort and the city, all the great obstacles to the march of the army are interposed. The drifting snow fills up the kanons and passes, and an impassable barrier is presented to the march of the troops until next spring. The troops, however, will be located where they can bid defiance to the Mormons and the elements.

Washington Matters.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post says:—

"There is a report, by the way, current here, that Buchanan himself supervised the original draft of the Lecompton constitution in Washington, whence it was sent to Kansas. I cannot vouch for this, but, if true, it explains his anxiety to force it down our throats nolens volens. I am really sorry for the old man's fatuity in taking his position, for he and the whole South, Jeff. Davis and all that go with him, will have to back down, and their humiliation will only be the more galling.

Davis is determined to drive Douglas off from his popular sovereignty position, and make the contest a nigger question.—He hopes thus to turn events in a way to promote his scheme of secession and a southern republic. Douglas is inclined to fight shy. He will not accommodate his enemies, nor accept any issue except the one he has himself tendered."

☞ The removal of McKeon, the District Attorney of New York, is only half accomplished. The nomination of Mr. Sedgwick to succeed him has not been confirmed by the Senate, and Mr. McKeon consequently retains his office. The nomination of Mr. Clifford as Judge of the Supreme Court has also not been confirmed. The Washington correspondent of the New York Express says:

"Within a few days I expressed a hope to a leading and very influential Senator, that there would be sufficient independence in the Senate to reject unworthy appointments, and his reply was, 'we are fast coming to it, and if the ice is once broken by the rejection of two or three, there will then be no further difficulty.'"

Died.—In Beverly, Dec. 22, Inez Maria Fuget, 17 years. She was a native of Mansanilla, Cuba, and one of the several slaves freed through the liberality of the late Capt. Josiah Raymond of Beverly.—She was brought from Cuba by him about ten years since, and continued in the service of his family. His will provided that after the death of his widow, $3000 should be set apart and the income paid to 'Inez' and her posterity. But if she died without posterity and before his widow (as is now the case), the will provided that the said sum should, at the death of the widow, be given direct to the town of Beverly, for the support of common schools where colored children should have equal privileges with the whites.

☞ The American Insurance Co. of Providence, has declared a dividend of two per cent. to the stockholders, payable on the 24th inst., making twenty per cent. for the year which is now closing.

The Washington Insurance Co. of Providence has declared a dividend payable Jan. 1, of nine per cent., out of the profits of the last six months,

Mr. Thomas Neil is the Agent for the above named companies in this city, at the Chronicle Counting Room.

California Wines and Brandy.—Speaking of native wines and brandy, the Los Angelos Star states that a single vineyard—one of the smallest there, by the way—has forty-five thousand standing vines, which produced this year twelve thousand gallons of wine, two thousand gallons of Angelica, three hundred gallons of brandy, and fifteen thousand pounds of grapes.

Factory Agency.—Mr. Robinson, agent of the Salisbury mills, has resigned, and the vacancy is not filled. This is a very important and desirable position, this establishment being one of the largest in the country, and the mills and machinery generally new and of the most approved description; and an exception to many others, being now in operation.

Naval.—The U. S. sloop-of-war Jamestown, Commander Kennedy, from Philadelphia, bound to Nicaragua, went to sea from Delaware Breakwater, 27th inst.

The U. S. revenue cutter Taney was sold at Savannah, 18th inst., and brought the small sum of $104.

A Paying Road.—The Worcester & Nashua Railroad has declared a semi-annual dividend of ten per cent.

☞ We are indebted to our unknown but valued New York correspondent, "Islington," for California papers.

Oregon.—Late advices fully confirm the former statement, that the new constitution had been adopted, together with the anti-slavery and anti-free-negro clauses.

☞ Hoffman & Burns, the makers and venders of horsemeat sausages at Philadelphia, have been tried, convicted, and sentenced to 18 months imprisonment.

Quebec, Dec. 29.—There were serious riots at the polls yesterday, during which three Irishmen were killed, and many others injured. The military were called out.

The Ministerialists have over 2000 majority.

Fruits of Liberal Advertising.—The energetic proprietor of the Antiphlogistic Salt, the past year, has advertised in 1250 papers, (one-fourth of all published in the U. S.,) and sold 40,000 packages of the medicine. Dr. Coggeswell appreciates the press, and avails himself of its power. Let others profit by his extraordinary success. Boston Ledger.

'I say, Bob, wouldn't I look better with hair on my face?'

'Decidedly! the more you can hide your face the better you look!'

Why cannot a deaf man be legally condemned for murder? Because the law says no man can be condemned without a hearing.

EVERETT'S ADDRESS
—ON—
The Character of Washington.

HON. EDWARD EVERTT having accepted an invitation of the citizens of Portsmouth, will deliver his ADDRESS on the CHARACTER OF WASHINGTON,
At the Temple,
On MONDAY Evening, Jan. 11, 1858.
Doors to be opened at 6½ P. M., and the Address delivered at 7.
TICKETS of single admission at 50 cents; and Family Tickets, admitting three or more, at two shillings each person, may now be procured at the stores of Messrs. J. F. Shores, Jr., J. H. Foster, C. C. Harvey, W. R. Preston, and J. H. Thacher.
No Family Tickets will be disposed of after 6 P. M. on that day. Should any single tickets remain unsold, they can be procured at the door.
The subject is one to which every lover of his country delights to listen—the proceeds of the receipts will be a contribution by Mr. E. towards the purchase of Mount Vernon—the orator, the Demosthenes of his day, possesses great attractions aside from the subject and object. This threefold attraction will render the occasion one of great interest. Purchasers will therefore do well to secure their Tickets as early as possible, as the number to be sold has been limited.
Portsmouth, Dec. 30, 1857.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diarrhea.

Dr. D. A. Tyler of New Haven, in his Dissertation on Rock Rose, says, "Several practitioners in this city have used it much for the cure of Diarrhea, and willingly bear testimony to its efficacy. In many cases of Cholera Infantum it has been used with entire success, often after other remedies had failed." That he has used it in the fall and summer months, and has seldom been disappointed in its use. Beyond a doubt Myers' Extract Rock Rose is a specific in Diarrhea. See Circulars.

CLOAKS AND CLOAK GOODS.

If any of our readers are about purchasing a Cloak, or the materials to make one, they will of course visit Number Fifteen Market St., before buying.—Allen & Paine having appropriated one room of their store to that business entirely, are opening to-day one of the largest stocks in this city, including Cloaks, Broadcloths, Black, Brown and Drab Plush for Trimming. To those of their customers who prefer making their own Cloaks, they will give a pattern of any Cloak in their store.

☞ The only place in this city where an Ambrotype can be obtained, is at Davis' Ambrotype Gallery, No. 8 Daniel Street, as they have the Patent, and all infringements will be prosecuted. sept9

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LATER FROM KANSAS.—St Louis, Dec. 29.—Leavenworth, Kansas, advices of the 25th inst., give the vote of that city as 238 for slavery and 9 against it. Much excitement prevailed, there being many Missourians present, some of whom voted after swearing in their votes. The form of oath administered was, "Are you at this instant an inhabitant of this Territory?"

Several of the Missourians had been arrested, and Judge Lecompt had issued writs of habeas corpus for their release.

Gen. Calhoun had been burned in effigy.

Eli Moore had been shot in the leg by a German.

It was rumored that Gen. Denver had issued an order for the arrest of Gen. Lane.

UTAH AND THE MORMONS.—Washington, Dec. 29.—The Indian Bureau have received official information denying the truth of the reports that disaffection of the Indians in Utah Territory, created by the Mormons, had extended to the Indians on the borders of California, and especially those in the southern portion of that State. All remained quiet, and so far as appearances are concerned there is no reason to anticipate a different state of things.—Private letters from California state that two regiments of Volunteers were ready at the tap of the drum to advance against the Mormons, and that ten regiments could be mustered in less than sixty days for the same service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(Tribune correspondence.) — Intelligence from Utah, subsequent to Nov. 6, states that the Mormons had destroyed Fort Bridger, burning all the buildings, on the approach of Col. Johnston.

If the Lecompton Constitution had come here without slavery, Mr. Stephens of Ga. was to have moved its reference back to the people.

MASSACHUSETTS ITEMS.—The liquor seizure in Milford, has made considerable stir in that town, and there seems to be a determination on the part of the officials to make a clean sweep of the business, if possible. Since the seizure of three hundred and fifty gallons was made, and the liquor deposited in the Town House, Sheriff Hunt has made another seizure. He overtook a man with a wagon in which was a considerable quantity of liquor, and very unceremoniously drove to the Town House and placed the liquor in the cellar. At the Police Court in Milford a few days since, Mrs. Mackin was fined, for keeping liquors, with intent to sell, $10 and costs, and committed to the House of Correction for twenty days. Ellen Dillon was also convicted of the same offense, and received the same sentence.

At the Court of Common Pleas in Plymouth County, the following liquor cases were disposed of a few days ago: John McGowen of North Bridgewater was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs, with imprisonment in the House of Correction for three months. Elbridge G. Cobb and Tyler Cobb of North Bridgewater both plead guilty, the former to four complaints and the latter to three, for selling liquor. John Gallagher was convicted on one indictment. Edward Gillespie was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs, with three months in the House of Correction. John Farwell received the same sentence, and Mary Burke was convicted in one case.

In Hampden County, in addition to the cases already reported, William Wilson of Westfield was convicted of being a common seller of liquors, fined $50 and costs, with three months in the House of Correction. John Murphy of Springfield, and William Waters of the same place were both convicted.—Boston Journal.

THE EFFECTS.—The inquest in the case of the Barry child, smothered to death on Christmas day, in Lowell, Mass., by its drunken parents, revealed a sickening tale of wretched degradation and misery. Barry commenced drinking as soon as he arose, and was drunk the entire day. A witness named Cummings carried a bottle of rum to them at eleven o'clock, made some "Jerry," drinking with Barry and his wife. He went to the house again at three o'clock in the afternoon, drunk. Mrs. Barry was on the bed, drunk, with a little girl, and the infant child. There was no fire, and the room was cold. Cummings built a fire, got Mrs. Barry up and to it, and returned to the bed for the children, and found the infant had been smothered to death by the drunken mother! When he returned to the fire, Barry and his wife had both rolled off their seats to the floor. It was shown that the two had been fighting, of which they bore evident marks.—They acknowledged to drinking and fighting, but knew nothing concerning the manner of the child's death. The jury gave a verdict that the child was smothered by the mother while drunk.—Citizen.

EFFECTS OF A LONG SERMON.—A clergyman on Sunday last preached a sermon of unusual length, detaining his congregation for a half hour beyond the accustomed time of dismissal. That the thoughts of all his hearers were not fixed on heavenly things during the last thirty minutes may be inferred from the remark of a lady listener as she passed out of the church:—"Well, I guess my turkey is spoilt by this time!"—Portland Advertiser.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, at the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent directed to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remmitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were many persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being placed in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and results drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Dispatch. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & CO., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCIS & CO are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If any ticket or class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent out, nor money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore, Sun, Patriot, National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to pay we have concluded to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold has proved satisfactory for our customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $2 size; yours very truly,

DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, which with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair sprouted out, and we have no doubt that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for disease of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the native, as a perfect remedy for the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING PARLORS, CHAMBERS, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire of fresh air, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

Any amount of Heat required,

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary room for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed, without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the provision is remarkably simple, to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,
